JUDGMENT FOR THE BANK. Mrs. May of Weston Liable for Debt Under Guarantee Bond.

In the non-jury assize court yester-sidered his wife a truthful woman, and if what she had told him was true. His lordship directed the witness not to answer the question and ruled it out, bringing an objection from the lawyer that he had never heard of a case where a judge refused counsel permission to attempt to break down a witness' testimony. The judge answered him by the assertion that never in his experience, either at the bar, or on the bench, had he heard counsel ask a man whether he believed his wife.
