

BALD JACK ROSE NOW PRESIDENT OF FILM COMPANY

Motors Back and Forth Between Boston and Medford, Where He Is Erecting an Extensive Plant:

EMPLOYS 275 WORKMEN PLENTY OF BACKING

Medford, Mass., July 18.—Jack Rose, whose testimony convicted Becker as instigator of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, is now at the head of a corporation here employing 275 workmen. It is the Humatology Film Producing Company. There is said to be plenty of capital backing him in the enterprise. Rose is the president of the company, which has already invested over $50,000 in Medford, and before the end of the summer season will invest $100,000 more.

From a New York gangster, sinking into hiding at the approach of the officials, a detainer of the Boston police, Jack Rose has now risen to a position of prominence, respected by those working under him, surrounded by lieutenants in one of the busiest business enterprises which has located in the Bay State.

To talk with the quiet, easy-speaking man in his present position, with his air of authority as he directs the work of his lieutenants, it is hard to believe that he is the man who, by his own testimony, was the go-between in a murder conspiracy.

Rose in his church lectures told his hearers that in their treatment of those on the downward path they lacked "humanology." It was a word he had coined himself, and he has now given it to the concern which is putting his lecture into a moving picture film a mile and a third in length.

In a way the film is to be a story of his own life. "It is to be a story with a powerful lesson for good," Rose says. Rose himself does not appear in the film. He has told his story, has written it out, they are making a moving picture of it to be shown in the fall. It is to be followed by other films of the same general character, presenting the underworld to the public in such a way that it will lose the glare and glitter and attraction for the young and teach a lesson—so Rose says.

Rose came to Medford a few weeks ago in an auto with a chauffeur and bought a tract of five acres of land from the estate of Gen. Samuel C. Lawrence, the city's greatest benefactor and most revered figure. At the time nobody recognized the tall, quiet stranger with the light gray suit and Panama hat as Jack Rose. His identity did not become generally known until carpenters started to work to build studios, laboratories, camps and bungalows for him. His reputation as a square man is established in Medford and he is popular and well liked.

Working under Rose's direction are five superintendents of the business, an executive staff of a score of trained workmen and a company of 250 actors and actresses. The carpenters are erecting the big studio building near the Middlesex Fells Park reservation. It is of stucco, cement and glass, 150 by 75 feet. There will be dressing rooms, property rooms, work-shops and bungalows for the workmen. Rose has an office at the plant and another office in Boston's largest office buildings. His motor car is frequently seen traveling over the boulevards about Boston and he is looked upon as a successful business man.

GRIEVING DOG IS A SUICIDE.
His Master Was Dead and He Howled and Jumped into the Sea.

BANGOR, Me., July 18.—From Manchester comes a story of dog suicide. A dog sent there from New Hampshire, after the death of his master, showed signs of grief and homesickness from the first, refusing to eat. Occasionally he would walk out to the sea wall and, looking out at sea, would howl dimly. One day, making his way to a rocky point, he stood looking seaward for a few minutes and then jumped into the breakers. He was never seen again.

GATERPILLARS STOP TRAIN.

SISSON, Col., July 18.—Between this city and Bartel, Siskiyou County, along the right-of-way of the McCloud River Railroad, there are millions of caterpillars about an inch long and as thick as a lead pencil, which sometimes appear on the track in such numbers as to hinder traffic.

HOGS GROW FAT ON RIVER MUSSELS

Razorbacks Come Out of the Woods for Food and Aid the Pearl Fishers.

COTTER, Ark., July 18.—Many hogs have come down out of the woods of White River and are getting fat by following the pearl fishers and eating the flesh of the mussels that have been torn from the shells by the hopeful ones engaged in the industry.

In some places this is reversed. Mussel shells are bringing a good price this year, and the low stage of the White River has uncovered many gravel bars and the hogs are rooting the mussels out of these. A few minutes in the hot sun causes them to open their shells, and the hog soon has a meal. Pearl fishers and shell gatherers watch these droves of hogs when they are working on a gravel bar, and when they are done they follow them, picking up the shells, which they sell.

The unusually dry summer has cut short much of the wild forage that hogs eat on the range, and they have turned to the river as a means of subsistence and are waxing fat on the foundal diet. They do not confine all their operations to the exposed gravel bars either, but like the pearl fishers do a little fishing themselves.

At the ferryboat landing at Sylamore, a little town in Iard County on the White River, is a drove of hogs that persistently fish in the shallow water in a mussel bed. It is no uncommon sight to see this drove up to their backs in water, diving down and rooting the mussels up from the bed of the river and carrying them to the bank, where they crack the shells and eat them.

They are as persistent in their efforts as the most hopeful pearl fisher on the river.

CONVICT HAD CLOTHES READY FOR ESCAPE

Special to The Sunday World.
KINGSTON, July 18.—A stoker at the penitentiary, while shoveling coal, found a suit of civilian's clothes tucked away in a small wooden box and hidden among coal, thereby showing up a plan one of the convicts had to make his escape by leaving. Or, to parole prisoner J. Cardinal who was brought to the penitentiary this week.

An investigation is now being made to ascertain if the clothing was not destroyed in the furnace, as is the custom. One or more convicts have made their escape at opportune times by changing their striped suits for civilian's suits, and Cardinal had seven more years to serve and would be given a new suit on leaving. Officers were given for his suit to be put in the furnace, but evidently one of the guards neglected his work. It is the duty of the guards to hand by and see that the clothing is destroyed.

STORM AT ST. JOHN, SCHOONER ASHORE

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 18.—A terrific thunderstorm, with a deluge of rain, struck the city early today, succeeding a milder one of some hours previous. Two houses in the city were struck by lightning.

The three-masted schooner Jennie A. Rickles, Capt. Richards, owned by F. W. Pickens & Co. of Annapolis, Royal, N.S., went ashore in a thick fog at Chance Harbor, in the Bay of Fundy, and it is feared will be a total wreck. The crew is safe ashore. The schooner was on her way here from Bermuda with 850 puncheons of molasses. The cargo is insured at Lloyd's, and it is thought the schooner also is covered.

Report Denied Regarding Excursion to Quebec and St. Anne De Beaupre.

Canadian Northern passenger officials have heard with concern that a report is being circulated through the country to the effect that their special excursion to Quebec and St. Anne de Beaupre, advertised for Tuesday, July 21, has been canceled, and desire to make an emphatic denial. This railway is bidding strongly for the business in question, and has gone to considerable expense in announcing its arrangements, particularly attention being drawn to the excellent special train service in each direction, including standard sleeping car equipment, and full particulars can be obtained from the committee or all C. N. R. agents.

BEGGAR MUST PAY ALIMONY.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—E. Morris, blind medicant, earns $7 a day begging on the streets of San Francisco and has a bank account of $800, his wife testified today in his suit for divorce in the superior court. The court ordered the beggar to pay his wife $20 a month temporary alimony pending the outcome of the suit.

SUGGESTION FOR COLONIALS WHO VISIT ENGLAND

Lord Denman Suggests That Australians Be Made Honorary Members of the English Clubs.

THIS COULD ALSO APPLY TO CANADIANS

LONDON, July 18.—From Lord Denman, ex-Governor-General of Australia, who has recently returned to England, comes a useful suggestion, which applies quite as strongly to Canadians visiting London as it does to Australians. He says:

"When I think of all the hospitality that is shown to Englishmen—either visitors to Australia or people who, like myself, held official positions in the country, I sometimes consider that we hardly do as much as we might in England to reciprocate the hospitality shown over there. For instance, I think it would be a good thing if members of recognized clubs in Australia could more often be made honorary members of our London clubs when visiting this country. And that is a suggestion which I think is practical, for no standards are required for club members, whereas here it is different. At meetings near London, like Sandown and Kempton, it would be difficult to take ladies in comfort unless one could take them into a club enclosure. In this and a number of minor ways I think a little more might be done for Australians when making a stay in the old country."

If one of Canada's ex-governors-general would make the same suggestion on behalf of Canadians it would, there is little doubt, be acted on, and he would earn a lasting gratitude from visiting Canadians.

HIS AGE 100 AND STILL GOING STRONG

Dean of French Authors Is Keeping Up His Fast First Pace.

PARIS, July 18.—One hundred years! That is the age of Francois Feraut, dean of the Society of Men and Letters, who is the oldest of all French authors.

Francois Feraut is a poet, a romancer, a literary critic and has compiled a dictionary of the words of the Middle or South of France. Yet the pen of this centenarian is still active.

Born in June, 1814, Feraut has been a witness of much of the history of modern France. He came into the world when Napoleon was defeated and exiled to the island of Elba and Louis XVIII. was put on the throne. He grew up under the 100 days when Napoleon escaped from the island of Elba, and marched in triumph to Paris and Louis XVIII. fled in dismay. He passed through the following reign of Louis XVIII. and Charles X., and almost perished in the attack of Fleisch against Louis Philippe, assisted at the coup d'etat of Louis Napoleon which gave him accession of the throne; saw the sombre days of the seventies, and the victory of the public representative, successively by Thiers, MacMahon, Grevy, Carnot, Perier, Faure, Loubet, Fallieres, and now Poincare.

SIX SNAKES EN BROCHETTE.

Indian Farmer Comes to Town With the Season's Record.

CONNEYSVILLE, Ind., July 18.—A half dozen of blacksnakes, transfixed with a four-pronged pitchfork, left Hosea Long of Orange Township in a class by himself among local snake killers for the season.

He sighted the writhing snakes when turning windows in an alfalfa field. Spurring the mass, he was put to flight by one bulsnake, which started to climb the pitchfork handle. He returned with another fork and killed it and others which, like it, had been plied by the prongs.

The largest snake was five feet three inches long. The combined length of the six reptiles was twenty-three feet.

BAD HABITS OF COLLEGIANS.

They Are Held Accountable for Failures as Employees in Business.

LANCASTER, Pa., July 18.—President Sparks of State College in an address delivered at the commencement of Franklin and Marshall Academy, stated that recently he had sent out 700 letters to business firms asking what proportion of college graduates failed in business and the reason for such failures. An analysis of the answers showed that such failures are not due to a lack of knowledge on the part of the college men, but to indifferent habits and an unwillingness to begin at the bottom of the ladder.

BARGAIN-COUNTER WEDDINGS.

KENDALVILLE, Ind., July 18.—Bargain rates of $1.98 each for license and ceremony are the latest side to Cupid at Albion, seat of Noble County. L. C. Favinger, clerk, and the Rev. C. L. Bream are trying to solve the marriage shortage, and they offer the bargain prices. Only half as many persons have been married during May months last year.

WITNESSES A SNAKE BATTLE.

PETERSBURG, Ind., July 18.—John Barker, living west of this city, witnessed a fight between snakes yesterday. He was walking through a woods when his attention was attracted by hissing. The snakes were about six feet long, and in their attacks on each other they would stand on their tails and in fury beat on the ground. When the snakes saw him they quit fighting and fled into a briar patch.

Sale of Slightly Scratched Buffets

For all practical purposes these buffets are just as good as new. In fact, they are new except that we've used them on our floors as samples to show customers, and they've become slightly scratched in being shifted about. While the slight marks can hardly be noticed, they prevent us from selling these buffets in the regular way, so to dispose of them quickly we have marked them extremely low for Monday and Tuesday only, and, in addition, placed terms on them that put them within reach of almost every home in the city.

The prices will prevail only on Monday and Tuesday until store closes at 9 p.m.

ANCIENT WINDMILL PUBLIC MONUMENT

"Radet" of Montmartre, Which Dates Back Five Centuries, Is to Be Removed.

PARIS, July 18.—Practical and picturesque Holland continues to use her old windmills for active service, but France is turning her either into public dance halls or raising them to the dignity of historical monuments to be admired by the curiosities in generations to come.

This glory has befallen the old "Radet," the patriarch of windmills, the oldest survivor of a group located on the heights of Montmartre, which dates from the 13th century, and has for years been known by the name of "Radet."

It is to be transferred from its present position in the very heart of the sensationally gay and risqué pleasure district that infest Montmartre to a quiet square not far from the towering cathedral, the Sacred Heart.

Its present proprietor, August Debray, has given it to the Society of Old Paris, and so it is to be transplanted like a huge tree to the "place" Jean-Baptiste Clement, where its weather stained, misshapen timbers will form as strange a spectacle as a colossal ship stranded on dry land.

This will be the second removal that the "Radet" has experienced. It was first located on the butte Saint-Roch and dates back to 1268. In 1834 when Montmartre was but a farming district and a suburb of the capital, when windmills dotted the horizon like giant pinwheels as seen from the city lying below, the "Radet" was transported from Saint-Roch to its present site.

The archives of the abbey of the Benedictines of Montmartre had kept a record of this veteran mill, and from it is learned that the ancestors of the present proprietor in the 14th century rented it from this religious order. Toward the year 1640, a descendant of the same family, who are said to be the oldest millers in France, bought the windmill, and from this epoch began the windmill dance halls of Montmartre that are today such an enticing magnet for tourists.

Thin Men and Women

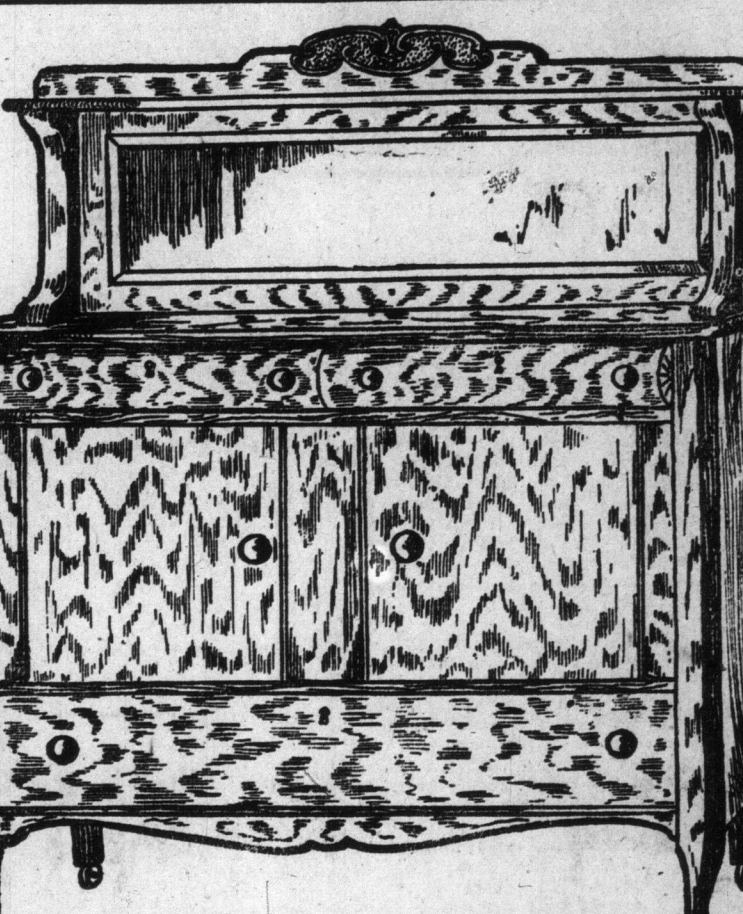

Here's a Safe Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 lbs. of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the bowels as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the old and fats and hand them over to the blood, and to stop the stomach from absorbing run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a factory materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. The best way to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to use Sargol, the recently discovered digestive force that is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad.

Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Good druggists have Sargol, or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

Caution—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken if you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh-builder.
