PINE KNOTS MACERATED IN WHISKY.

The shavings of a pine knot macerated or soaked in Whisky is the remedy of the old mountaineer and backwoodsman for rheumatism and pain in the joints and limbs. From time immemorial the medicinal properties of Pine have been valued highly. Whenever possible, physicians recommend that consumptive patients camp out in the Pine forests, where, asleep or awake, they must constantly inhale the pine-laden atmosphere, bathing the lungs with the healing, health-giving and invigorating air.

Unfortunately, there are but few whose circumstances will permit them to leave home and work to live in the open. Those who must stay at home will find in the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine that therapeutic virtue for which the Pine are famous. It is a combination of the active principles of the Pine and Sandalwood, carefully compounded and refined, bathing the lungs with the healing, health-giving and invigorating air.

A half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine mixed with two ounces of Glycerine and a half-pint of good Whisky will break up a cold in twenty-four hours, and cure any cough that is cured by the use of this mixture. It is better to purchase the ingredients separately and prepare the mixture at home. Be sure to use only the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine, prepared by the Leach Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

Harry Thaw Saved His Life by a "Brainstorm" Defence—Hain's Pins His Faith to "Impulsive Insanity"

Flushing, N. Y., Jan. 7.—The trial of Thornton Jenkins Hains reached that stage today frequent in homicide cases, where testimony is had from medical experts and alienists. Hains' counsel pleaded on the stand, Dr. L. Samuel Manson, an alienist, who, after listening to a hypothetical question, concerning the lay facts regarding Captain Hains' sanity, declared that on Aug. 15, when Captain Hains shot William E. Pine, he was suffering from "impulsive insanity."

Dr. Manson said that Captain Hains suffered from melancholia after the shooting, but that this mental condition showed improvement. Before an objection could be entered to an interrogation, the alienist said that Captain Hains was sane when he last saw him.

The cross-examination of Dr. Manson was under way when the court adjourned until tomorrow.

Up till 9 o'clock tonight his body had not been recovered. Much sympathy is being expressed for the bereaved parents.

HAMPTON LIBERALS HONOR M. P. FOR KINGS AT BANQUET

Dr. McAlister Tendered a Reception and Supper Last Night—Large Number of Prominent Men and Their Wives at the Function—Ringing Speeches by the Guest of the Evening and Messrs. McKeown, King, McAlpine and Others.

Hampton, N. B., Jan. 7.—The reception and supper in honor of Dr. McAlister, M. P. for Kings, was held this evening under the auspices of the Hampton Liberal Club in the Agricultural hall, was splendidly successful and remarkable not only in point of attendance but in the perfection of the arrangements and for the happy and eloquent speeches of the guests of the evening and other visitors.

The decorations of the hall were ample and beautiful, and the provisions were beautifully lettered by Miss Laidlaw, Miss Grace Flewelling, Miss Margaret Evans, and Mrs. F. M. Humphrey. Union Jack and bunting, carriages and red wax candles in numerous brass candlesticks and other decorations such as hanging bells, emblematic of the Liberal party, assisted with an abundance of evergreen to make the hall beautiful.

Forty young ladies dressed in white, with red sashes or bows, waited upon the tables, of which there were four, seating more than 140 persons. The reception committee, consisting of Messrs. J. M. Scovill, Mr. and Mrs. H. Flewelling, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Flewelling, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schenck, Mrs. Hammond, Mrs. N. M. Barnes, Mrs. John Crawford and Mrs. F. M. Humphrey, assembled upon the spacious platform, and Dr. McAlister, while many of the electors of the parish of Hampton, their wives and daughters, were presented to the member for Kings-Albert.

Tending upon local politics, amid much laughter, he intimated that Premier Hazen and his party were getting all that was coming to them. He was sorry about the freshet, and his heart went out in sympathy to them in their troubles. But they had one consolation when they surveyed the broken and ruined bridges, and that is that they could build them without money. The same Providence which made it so uncomfortable for the old government, that they had to spend much money in repairing the damage, was now paying the attention to the country under Mr. Hazen's administration. Just now the Provisional Fund seems to be a little heavy and severe, but he and his colleagues now had an opportunity to practice what they preached and make all these renewals and repairs out of current revenue.

Then, in eloquent terms, he described the failure of the Hazen administration and said no leader of a government had ever fallen so flat in so short a time as the Hon. J. D. Hazen and his associates. He did not believe they could elect a man outside of York county, and only there because of peculiar conditions. In St. John he was convinced public feeling was against the government; in Carleton county, the home of the provincial secretary, a majority of 500 for Hazen and Flemming in March, was converted into a majority of more than 100 for the opposition in December.

Did they ever hear of the old highway act—the atrocious act that Hazen and his colleagues swept over and pledged to wipe off the statute book, the very first thing they came in power? They came in power, they passed a highway act and they did not have the courage to put their act in force and the old act, the condemned measure, is still in force and is likely to be.

In Carleton county the people had shown Mr. Flemming what they thought of this do-nothing policy, what they thought of these kindergarten politicians who were so eager and willing to Norway measures but could not make them.

In conclusion he referred in scathing terms to the situation in Northumberland to Hazen, the leader, who could not and dare not lead, and to Hon. Mr. Morrissey, who would not and did not follow. He said that the result of the election, John P. Burchill, a gentleman acceptable to the opposition leader and party, was elected to the situation where the present government was supported by nearly 1,500 majority in March. With closing words of encouragement and urging the county to see that its organization was kept thorough and complete, Mr. McKeown was heartily applauded.

E. H. McAlpine made one of the happiest speeches of his life. He was in splendid form and his eloquent address was at the same time replete with address.

WAS IN BED FOR THREE MONTHS.

PEOPLE SAID SHE HAD CONSUMPTION.

Read how Mrs. T. G. Buck, Bracebridge, Ont., was cured (and also her little boy) by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

She writes: "I thought I would write and let you know the benefit I have received through the use of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. A few years ago I was so badly troubled with my lungs people said I had Consumption and that I would not live through the Fall. I had two doctors attending me and they were very much alarmed about me. I was in bed three months and when I got up I could not walk, so had to go on my hands and knees for three weeks, and my limbs seemed of no use to me. I gave up all hopes of ever getting better when I happened to see in B.B.S. Almanac that Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup was a complete cure. I thought I would try a bottle and by the time I had used it I was a lot better, so I kept on and in a complete cure. My little boy was also troubled with weak lungs and he cured him. I keep it in the house all the time and would not be without it for anything."

Price 25 cents at all dealers. Beware of imitations of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Ask for it and insist on getting the original. Put up in a yellow wrapper and three pine trees the trade mark.

DOCTORS TAKE THE PLATFORM IN WHITE PLAGUE CAMPAIGN

Addresses on Tuberculosis by Medical Men Contain Many Valuable Suggestions Including Education, Sanitarium Health Officer and Organization of Anti-Tuberculosis Society.

At an interesting meeting in German street Baptist church last night a campaign against the great white plague, tuberculosis, was forwarded. Addresses were delivered by Dr. J. R. McIntosh, president of the St. John Medical Society; Dr. J. W. Daniel, M. P.; Dr. G. A. B. Addy and Dr. T. D. Walker. Dr. McIntosh suggested that all cases of tuberculosis should be reported to the board of health so that the patients might be visited and helped. Dr. Daniel made a plea for the formation of an anti-tuberculosis society in this city in affiliation with the central society in Ottawa. Dr. Addy read a part of the scheme for a provincial sanatorium submitted by the medical society to the government in Fredericton, and Dr. Walker said that the best way to eradicate tuberculosis was to take greater care of the young. He said that the problem should be eternal when a medical officer should be appointed in connection with the board of health who might inspect the schools and also the premises about the city.

Rev. Hugh Pedley, of Montreal, first delivered a very eloquent address on the four giants—ignorance, sin, disease and poverty. He contended that it was the duty of the church, if it would win the approval of the twentieth century, to grapple with the problems of the twentieth century. There was a movement in many Christian churches to teach people how to take care of their bodies. The speaker was glad of this, and glad that disease had been cured. The men who had started this movement were profound thinkers, who recognized the fact that many diseases had their origin in mental and spiritual causes. He spoke of the anti-tuberculosis movement in Montreal, and said that Emmanuel church, of which he is pastor, had been the first church to start the particular form of work known as the tuberculosis class. T

They had formed a class of incipient cases of consumption and by education and the supply of other means where necessary they were trying to win these people back to health.

The problem of poverty, he went on, was one which should not exist at all in this land, so vast, so rich and so young. Many were fond of quoting the saying of Jesus, "the poor ye have always with you," as evidence that the poor must always be poor. But Jesus did not mean that the poor should be eternal when He said this. All that He meant to show was that He Himself could not always be with His disciples. The heart of Jesus was ever touched by the miseries of the poor and He was always ready to help them. In conclusion, the speaker said that if church union was ever brought about it would not be because of meetings of committees or compromise as between this system and that, but because of those four grim giants of modern civilization.

Archdeacon Raymond presided at the meeting and the quartette of Emmanuel street church sang a selection. The church was filled to its capacity and near (Continued on page 7.)
