British Advance a Thousand Yards

NO MORE BOY SOLDIERS; DRUM. MERS NOT EXEMPT

Bruges harbor was attacked by naval airplanes on February 2. Many heavy bombs were dropped on torpedo craft in the harbor, and buildings in the dock were set on fire. All pilots and machines returned.

A Berlin report says that a German naval seaplane, on February 3, bombed the harbor works at Dunkirk, causing a fire in the sheds.

The British advanced 1,000 yards on the Somme yesterday and in an air fight ten German machines were driven down in a damaged condition.

Important progress was made in clearing the Tigris bank at Kut-El-Amara.

Under instructions from headquarters, Ottawa, all buglers and drummers who are under seventeen years of age and who have enlisted in the C. E. F. are to be immediately discharged. Those over seventeen years of age, if physically well developed, may be retained, on the assumption that they will have attained the age of eighteen years by the time they arrive in England, or shortly after.

In future no boys under the age of the fact that all minors, on arrival in England are immediately returned to Canada as being under age.
