Rev. Dr. R. M. Stevenson Tells of South Sea Islands

Cannibals and Head Hunters-Cousin of Famed Author Gives Address Here

A large audience which filled St. Matthew's hall to capacity last night was held in fascinated attention by a wonderful account of life in the South Sea islands which was given by Rev. R. M. Stevenson, Ph. D., F. R. G. S. of Moncton, missionary, and explorer, and cousin of the late Robert Louis Stevenson, eminent author. Rev. Dr. J. A. Morison was chairman and the very hearty appreciation and thanks of the audience was extended on the motion of J. Fraser Gregory, seconded by John Thornton

Dr. Stevenson pictured for his hearers the marvelous beauty of the islands, spoke of their great fertility and the abundance fish and fruit, and rethe abundance fish and fruit, and related the history of John Smith the last member of a mutinous British crew who had become a leader among the natives of Tahiti. In speaking of native customs he told of the cannibal-sionaries. As the result of the influence and the natives of Tahiti. In speaking of native customs he told of the cannibalism associated with New Guinea and pointed out the difference between cannibalism and head-hunting, the former being a religious rite and the laticities.

As the result of the innusionaries it was now as safe to be in these former cannibal william F. Pepper, S. A. McKendy, F. O. Landry and R. A. Sutton. Interment took place at the new cemetery.

The practise of building houses in treetops the lecturer explained, served a double purpose, as plained, served a double purpose, as it was a protection both from the variation when he was called upon to care for a sick boy. Because he administered chloroform, set a broken limb and watched the boy revive again the name and president of the Benchers of the Alberta Law Society.

David Hipwell, the organizer, extended greetings from the L. O. L., and gave a brief address on the work of the order. A very interesting programme was carried out, as follows: Selection by an orchestra, composed of E. Brigden, Mr. Jacobson, Miss Selection by an orchestra, composed of E. This is a pleasant, inexpensive test that seldom falls to relieve stomach distress, Gas, Sourness and Bloating—almost instantly, and a single trial proves its value! Be sure and ask Bisurated Magnesia, not a laxative.

LONDON, Feb. 24—The sandwich mean, with his shaggy hair, ragged clothing and disreputable shoes, is doomed. Several London advertisers recently have hired smart-looking girls used to carry their sandwich advertisers ments. The silk stockings, smart pumps and chic hats of the walking advertisements have attracted much more attention than any man ever has.
