We observe that the enthusiasm of the Conservative press has, for no apparent reason, subsided perceptibly. A few weeks ago the whole party was represented as bubbling over with anticipation of victory in a general leection. Now the pot is merely simmering. This we regard as an ominous sign. Is it the result of the failure of Gamey in Ontario? We can tell the Conservative organizers in the East that we have great campaigners in British Columbia, and they are eager to go to the front and take part in the battle. They are so ardent in their devotion to the cause that they have spent days in our legislature here dilating upon the iniquities of Ross and defending the reputation of Gamey as a great political reformer. All of which was very interesting as well as very profitable to the people of British Columbia. We have made the suggestion before, but it will bear repetition. If McBride and Green and Wilson and Bowser as the head of the great Conservative party in British Columbia, and Hawthornthwaite as the tail—as the part that directs the movements of the whole body-could be of any use to Mr. Borden, they would not be missed for a moment from their seats cess of the Conservative party than they are about giving British Columbia clean, efficient and economical government, we think it would pay the province to let them all draw travelling expenses to get.
