DEATH OF FRANK T. HILYARD. The death occurred early Saturday morning of Frank T. Hilyard, only son of Ald. and Mrs. Thomas R. Hilyard, after an illness of a few months. Though death was expected, the news was a shock to a large circle of friends, for the young man was widely known and generally beloved. Perfectly sound and robust in health, he contracted a heavy cold last winter, which developed into bronchitis and afterwards to tuberculosis. Mr. Hilyard was active and popular in society and in various organizations. He was a member of the Mohawk Club and was a brilliant hockey player. He also played on the St. John A. The bookstore of Douglas McArthur King street was entered from the rear Sunday night or yesterday morning and a large quantity of goods and some $8 or $10 in cash removed. The burglars were clever men at their business, judging from the way they did the job. They cut the glass out of one of the large sashes and having removed it, entered the pemises. Eveything of value in the cash drawer was taken and then the burglars appropriated a lot of fountain pens, purses and other valuable articles. Mr. Mc-Arthur estimates his loss at $75. I was taken ill with a serious stomach trouble, so ill that the slightest movement caused me pain and could take nothing in to my stomach or retain even medicine or water. I had been two days without nurishment when my usband suggested trying Grape-Nuts. The nurse prepared some with warm water, sugar and cream and I took it nesitatingly, at first until I found it caused me no pain and for ten days I took no other nourishment. The doctor was surprised at my improvement and did not resent my attributing the speedy cure to the virtue of Grape-Nute. He said he had a case on record of a teething baby who grew rosy and

A place of business that is well worth visiting when in St. John is J. N. Harvey's clothing store on Union street This firm has only been doing business here for about a year and a half, and in his short time has worked up one of the best clothing businesses in St. John. When asked by a reporter how he accounted for the rapid growth of stand, one would naturally think it would take years to get a business such as he had at present. Mr. Harvey replied that his long experience in the clothing business gave him the know-ledge of where to buy to the best advantage. This, coupled with judicion newspaper advertising, a strict attention to business, proper treatment of customers and giving them values that make them talk in his favor all count toward a rapidly increasing business.

GRAND MANAN NEWS.

GRAND MANAN, N. B., Aug. 22.— Herrings are reported plentiful off Long Island and Duck Island, and the weirs in that vicinity and above White Head and Cheney's Island Passages are getting good catches. The fish are mixed in size, but of a good quality. Herrings are scarce at South Hea and in Seal Cove Sound and around Two Islands. Pollock are reported plentiful, and so are the dogfish, that scourge of the sea and enemy of fish and fishermen. Most of the fish weirs are ready for business, and the fisher-men are regularly tending them. A few new weirs have been built about the island this season.

The islanders have about harvested their crop of hay, which is a good average crop this season and got in in good condition, despite some unfavorable weather.

APPARENTLY A FIXTURE.

Str. Lake Superior Will Be One of the Exhibition Attractions Next Week.

The attempt made on Saturday to float the str. Lake Superior, ashore on the reef near the exhibition building. was a failure, the pumps being unable to keep her clear of water. It might have been different if all the pumps had worked satisfactorily, but one of them in one of the forward compartments could not be operated at all, and another in the same part of the ship failed to do what it should have performed. The pumps in the after end of the steamer did good work and kept that portion of the ship almost free from water till the tide was neary at its height. At 11 o'clock it looked as if the Superior would be floated, but the water flowed in to such an etxent forward that there was no chance of raising her. It was a lively scene on the vessel from 11 o'clock till after 1 in the afternoon. The pumps were worked to their full capacity, and one of them was capable of lifting 2,500 gallons a minute. A big gang of men hurried from one place to another carrying out the instructions of Messrs. and Mr. Betts, also of Boston, who is assisting them in their efforts to raise the great British colonial statesman of he vessel. There were a number of French origin and all proudly referred to him. When the same statesman the vessel. There were a number of tugs alongside with lines atached ready to pull her off into deep water in the event of her floating. They were the Flushing, Dirigo, Neptune, Lord Rob-erts, G. D. Hunter, W. His death came this morning very suddenly, as a result of pneumonia Mr. Cahill leaves a widow, four son and three daughters, most of whom re side in this city. The late Hector Linn of this city was thority for the statement that Cahill told him that he (Cahill) fired the shot that killed Sergt. Brett. This was told to one of the deceased's sons, this evening, and the latter emphatically denied such a statement "Do you know who did fire it?" was asked, and he replied that he did, but that the name would never be divulged until all of the members of the famous detail were dead. "The man who fired at and killed Brett," he said, "has been dead several years. He died in a hospital at Dublin, but his name will be kept secret until all are dead. I know he fired it, and I know that my father did not. I am also sure that my father never told any one that he did the deed.

"Today there are ten members of that band living. Thomas O'Bolger of Rochester is one, Col. Richie Burke of Washington is another, and there are others living in this country. Some of the band are living in England, but they are not known, nor will their names be told until after they have
