

Scott, Howe, U. M. & Co., had taken seats in the Government, with the understanding, they were, that the first vacancy should be filled by another liberal. A vacancy occurred; the five conservative members insisted on Almon's appointment; the three liberals objected; the Governor acted on the advice of his Council—that is, of the majority of them. Howe, U. M. & Co. resigned; and when the House met, the conservative portion of the Council, at the instigation of the people's House, carried on the Government four years.

The liberal party then abused the Governor, because he did not exercise his prerogative by appointing a liberal in spite of a majority of his Council, and then appealing to the people for support. Finally, and the so-called liberal, now about and lampoon our Governor, because he has exercised his prerogative and appealed to the people on the prohibitory law.

Yellow, Corruption of New Brunswick.—The Governor has manifestly, and generally, given you an opportunity of ridding your Statute Book of a Law ruinous to the vital interests of your country, and a disgrace to a free people.—The supporters of an inconsistent and truckling administration, of whose conduct in regard to this law, even they are ashamed, try to blind you by falsehood and calumny, as to the real question at issue.

But be not deceived as to this, from the mere fact that in adopting such a course the Governor must necessarily, at the same time, designate or otherwise, have given you an opportunity of deciding whether you will be longer governed by a set of political adventurers with whom principle is as dead in the balance, compared to office, and who, if we may take their own "Stew" and "Counter" as criterion of themselves, are destitute not only of truth, honor and consistency, but of all knowledge and appreciation of the ordinary laws of decency and decorum.

Yours, &c.

WILSON, GRAY, GODARD.

WILSON, GRAY, GODARD.
Conservatives be cautious. On shoulder to shoulder and record your names. The Governor has afforded us the glorious privilege of expressing our opinion, and these are the men that will not only sustain him in the many stand he has taken, but will well care for the interests of the County.
