

OFF TO EUROPE.

The LION'S order off to Europe Months ago.

We publish in this issue a letter from our resident buyer in Glasgow, by which it is seen that we have done a good stroke of business in placing our orders so early. We could not begin to get our goods at the same price now as we bought them at a month ago.

J. D. Williamson & Co.

Glasgow, May 15th, 1889.

Dear Sirs:—I write again from Glasgow, where I have returned after visiting the chief manufacturing centres of England and the continent, and am happy to say that I have been able to place your whole order without, in any case, paying the advance. In a number of cases—notably in Cashmere Wool Goods—the manufacturers are asking from 10 to 20, and in some cases, 25 per cent more than old prices; but your order being a large one I have been able, in every instance, to secure these goods at the old prices. The retail buyer who comes over in the months of July and August will get easily left; there is not the slightest doubt but that he could do better in Canada, as Canadian Wholesalers who were here early placed all their orders before the advance.

In Dress Goods I was specially fortunate in getting in with two of the largest manufacturers, one in Germany and one in France. These firms sell only to the Wholesale, but your order being a large one, equalling a good many of the wholesale orders, I was able to get an entrance. With these two manufacturers at your back you are in a position to buy your Dress Goods on an equality with the largest wholesale houses in Montreal and Toronto. If you don't do the Dress Goods trade of Guelph, it is not because you have not got the goods at the right price. I bought your Cashmere Henriettes and Bateaux from O. F. Schneider & Co., of Merano, Germany, and Cloth, Serge and Fancy Dress Goods from F. F. F. & Co., of Roubaix, France. I bought a magnificent line of Sealtie, Astrachan and other Cloths from one of the leading Berlin manufacturers, A. & A. Lehman, and Shaws from Lane & Co., Your Gloves and Hosiery I bought from a manufacturer in a town in Saxony. I visited Ireland and bought your Table Linens, Rough Browns, etc., from the County Down Flax Spinning and Milling Co., and the York Street Flax Spinning Co., of Belfast. I took a run up to Dundee and filled your order for Carpets, Hosiery, etc. In Hawick and Leeds I bought your Cloths and Tweeds and secured some excellent values. I bought your Oil Cloths from your namesake in Leicester. These goods have taken a considerable advance on account of the rise in June, but I was able to place your order at the old prices.

I shall expect to see one of the firm over next winter although I think you have done wisely in placing your order this season earlier than you could have done if you had come over yourself.

Trusting all are well in Guelph, yours faithfully,

D. WILLIAMSON,

64 Oswald Street, Glasgow.

A LANCASHIRE STORY

CHAPTER XX

SHAKING OUT THE WHOLE-WORM AGAIN, THAT

"THERE IS NO HAY IN THE CUP"

AND THE LOT.

On the second day following the call at Richard Buckley's cottage and the subsequent visit to Luke Booth in his hiding-place, Mr. Greenhalgh was over in Liverpool. The ostensible reason of the Lancashire merchant's journey to the great Lancashire seaport he doubt would have been put down by his friends as wanting to purchase cotton; but the truth was that Joshua was not at all anxious to buy unless he chanced to meet with a lot that was a decided bargain. Only a short while before, when there had been a sudden drop in the market, the shrewd Mr. Greenhalgh had bought largely, and now he had more stored away of that staple which has made his native country such a mine of wealth than he was likely to use for a considerable time to come.

In fact, his real business that day in Liverpool was to find out what was the state of the market for the goods he was looking at the different vessels engaged in the passenger trade as anxiously as if he were about to cross the ocean himself, and while down on "the ship" he had been away from the shipping to proceed to the railway station. And not to keep the reader in the dark, we may say that he had discovered a vessel which was to sail for New York in less than a week.

This necessitated a second and early visit to Blackstone Edge. Mr. Greenhalgh went no further than Richard Buckley's cottage, but he remained with the keeper for a couple of hours before returning to Liverpool, and at that interview the final arrangements were made for Luke Booth's transit from his hiding place, the cave to Joshua's residence. This, by the aid of Buckley, was to be effected during the day, and the vessel was to be on the watch to receive the hunted Chartist.

Once having entered into the conspiracy, Luke Booth took it with a zest. At the appointed hour he was waiting at the gates opening on to the drive leading up to his mansion. He was not kept long, for presently two men came quickly along the road, and they proved to be Richard Buckley and Joshua Greenhalgh. Luke, but kindly parting took place between the brother Chartist, and then the factory operative was hurried up to the house, where he was to be concealed until Mr. Greenhalgh could spirit him away to Liverpool. Good Mr. Greenhalgh had been taken into the secret, or Joshua would have been at his wits' end to know what he should do with Luke until he could get him away to Manchester in a covered conveyance. This latter was not such a difficult task; it was the railway from Manchester to Liverpool which Joshua Greenhalgh most dreaded.

How both these were successfully carried out, it would not interest the reader much to have particularized. To the man most concerned, and also to his friend and protector, the journey from Tottenham to Liverpool was quite an event in their lives. As to Joshua Greenhalgh, he could scarcely conceal his satisfaction when, on the morning appointed for the sailing of the ship in which Luke was to be a passenger, the two drove towards the docks from the public house where they had been lodging for a day and a night. Booth's belongings were in a chest on the top of the vehicle—a simple outfit for a man in his position—the money for which Joshua had been paid, but he had gone out himself to different shops in Liverpool to purchase. As the carriage rattled along through the streets, Luke sat well back in his seat for fear of recognition, but not a soul did they see that was known to either.

At length the dock quay was reached at which the ship was lying—and a fine craft she was, for those days—with her cargo and stores ready for sale. She was to go out into the river at high tide, but was not intended to leave the Mersey until the following day, or, it might be, not until the next morning. Joshua stepped out of the vehicle first, his face beaming with good nature, and with satisfaction at what he believed was the successful termination of his adventures, and then turned to speak to the driver. Luke Booth, sitting in the carriage, but as his feet touched the ground, two men, who had been loitering about, sprang suddenly upon him, and, to his utter dismay, the unfortunate Chartist realized that he was in the hands of the police, and once more was a prisoner.

Climate for Consumptives.
The several climates of Florida, Colorado and California have each been much prescribed for sufferers from lung diseases, yet thousands of the natives in those States die of this fatal malady. A few more reliable remedies to be had in every drug store in the land, and one that can be used at home; a remedy which is sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Watson's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the only remedy for this terrible disease, possessed of such superior curative properties as to warrant its manufacturers in selling it under a guarantee.

Don't hawk and blow and spit, but use Dr. Watson's Golden Medical Discovery. Of druggists.

The Cronin Murder.

CHICAGO, July 2.—The arrest of John Cronin, or "Coney," the German concerned in the murder of Cronin, is regarded with great delight by the police and the State Attorney. For months Cronin was the trusted friend of Dan Goughlin, and he is believed to know more about the conspiracy than any one else, except Goughlin. The police are very careful of Cronin. Last evening he was identified by Morris, the milkman, and by a Mr. James, who picked him out at once from among five prisoners as the man who drove the buggy which stopped before the Cronin cottage on the night of May 4—the buggy in which Cronin rode to the cottage to be butchered.

There are two men yet wanted by the police. One of them is the man who drove Cronin's white horse, and the other is the man "Gimmie," who purchased the furniture at Cronin's and rented the room at 117 Clark street.

Wednesday, July 2.—The Burke extradition case was continued here today, but no new developments were brought out. The prosecution asked for no adjournment till Friday, when the case will be closed.

CITY OF GUELPH City Treasurer's SALE OF LANDS for Taxes

By virtue of a warrant under the hand and seal of the Mayor of the City of Guelph, to me directed, and bearing date the twenty-eighth day of May, 1889, I am commanded, under the authority of an Act of Parliament of the Province of Ontario, passed in the third year of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, Chapter 38, and entitled, "The Assessment Act of 1880," to levy on the lands herein specified, together with the costs thereon, under the provisions contained in the said Act. Those are therefore to give notice that unless the said arrears be not sooner paid I will proceed to sell by public auction at the Court Chamber, in the City Buildings, in the City of Guelph, on MONDAY, THE SECOND DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1889, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, the said lands for the said taxes and lawful charges incurred in and about the same and authorized by said Act.
