

6. I widen the rent in my wind-built tent. 7. I wield the flail of the lashing hail. 8. Something of sadness has wrapt the spot. 9. The cheering smile on the mother's face lightened the hard work of the weary children. 10. Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?

9. Many adjective phrases may be turned into single words, and vice versa: 1. She is an imprudent girl, or a girl without prudence. 2. Death's powers, or the powers of death, have done their worst. 3. These coins are perfectly useless, or are of no use whatever, or are of not the slightest use. 4. The sailor carried an ivory-handled knife, or a knife with an ivory handle.

EXERCISE 6.

Change adjectives into adjective phrases, and vice versa :—

1. Speak kind words. 2. Do not speak angry words. 3. The bough on the very top was broken. 4. The seat at the corner is the best. 5. These old books are valuable. 6. Our soldiers are very brave men. 7. Italy is a maritime country. 8. A boy given to thought is a better scholar than one given to talk. 9. A lofty steeple. 10. The train to Quebec. 11. A very sad look. 12. The trunks of the trees were unusually thick. 13. Beasts of great fierceness. 14. Men of great age and of great wisdom. 15. A girl with bare feet. 16. Immense lakes.

EXERCISE 7.

Add adjective phrases as attributive adjuncts to these subjects, objects and noun complements, or as adjective complements :—