QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Veterinary.

FOUL IN FEET.

Three of my cows have sore feet. They go lame. The legs swell, and the feet break out between the clouts, and discharge a fetid matter. T. R. H.

Ans.—This is foul in the feet, caused by standing in or walking through irritating substances, as liquid manure, swampy land, rushes, etc., etc. Place in dry, comfortable quarters; cleanse between the clouts by bathing with warm water. Do not practice the barbarous habit of drawing a rope back and forth between the clouts to cleanse the parts. Apply hot linseed poultices until the acute soreness subsides, and then apply, three times daily, a five-per-cent. solution of carbolic acid in raw linseed oil. If proud flesh forms, apply butter of antimony, once daily, with a feather for two or three days. V.

SCIRRHUS CORD.

After castration, a growth formed in the scrotum of my gelding, now four years old. The growth feels like a testicle, but never caused trouble. Now the scrotum is considerably swollen. W. F.

Ans.—Apply heat in the form of bathing long and often with hot water, or applying hot poultices, and apply, three or four times daily, a liniment made of two drams solid extract of belladonna, one ounce chloroform, one dram camphor, four ounces alcohol and water to make a pint. If an abscess forms, open it, and flush the cavity out, three times daily, with a five-per-cent. solution of carbolic acid. If no abscess forms, the treatment will allay the inflammation. When all inflammation has subsided, the growth can be removed by an operation similar to castration. It would be wise to get a veterinarian to operate. V.

CARBUNCLE OF CORONARY BAND.

Horse went lame in July. The trouble was in the quarter. It broke, and has been discharging a whitish matter ever since, and the disease is working around the hoof. W. J. U.

Ans.—This disease is called carbuncle of the coronary band, and is very hard to treat. If there be symptoms of eruptions in fresh places, lance and allow escape of matter. Take equal parts of butter of antimony and tincture of myrrh. Dress the raw surfaces twice daily with this, applied with a feather, for four or five days. Then apply warm linseed-meal poultices for four or five days, and after this dress, three times daily, with corrosive sublimate, fifteen grains to a pint of water. Purge him with eight drams aloes and two drams ginger, and follow up with one dram calcium sulphide four times daily. V.

WEAK TENDONS.

1. Horse goes lame in hind ankles when driven on hard roads. If allowed to stand a few hours, the outside of limbs swell from fetlock upwards to near the hock. When first taken out, he goes quite lame for about a mile, when swelling and lameness disappear. Pressure upon the cords causes pain. Bathing with cold water and bandaging prevents swelling, but as soon as treatment is discontinued it returns.

2. Will blistering reduce an enlargement from barbed-wire wound between fetlock and hoof? J. F. J.

Ans.—1. There is a weakness of the flexor tendons. Give him rest. Get a blister made of two drams each of biniodide of mercury and cantharides, mixed with two ounces vaseline. Clip the hair off from fetlock up four to six inches on both sides of limb. Rub well with the blister. Tie so that he cannot bite the parts. In twenty-four hours rub well again with the blister, and in twenty-four hours longer wash off and apply sweet oil. Let loose in box stall now, and oil every day until the scale comes off, when you will tie him up and blister as at first. After this, blister once monthly as long as necessary.

2. Repeated blistering, as described in answer to question 1, will reduce the enlargement to some extent, but it is practically impossible to remove it entirely. V.

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS SCREW PRESS LINSEED CAKE

This cake has many advantages over others on the market. Our oil is made by the "screw press method"—which we control exclusively in Canada—and this gives us cake of a superior quality, because by our process we are able to extract the oil from the seed at a low temperature, leaving the albumen and mucilaginous matter in the cake. The seed we use is No. 1 Northwestern, the largest and best procurable.

Our cake is especially rich in protein and carbohydrates—the most desired elements in a food—and has exceptional food and manurial values. It is the purest and best linseed cake you can buy.

Ask your dealer for S-W. Screw Press Linseed Cake or Meal (the ground cake), or write us direct for prices and further information.

Upon request, we will send you a little booklet (B-237), which contains valuable information about linseed cake and how to feed it.
