CHILDREN'S DAY AT ST. ANDREWS

Little Ones Supply Pleasing Service Of Sacred Song

Rev. Dr. J. R. Battisby Compliments Them On Success of Event

"And a little child shall lead them."

Sunday morning a large congregation of grownups witnessed with unfeigned pleasure a sacred song service given at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church by a choir of little ones, the oldest of whom could not have been more than twelve years. The occasion was Children's Day at St. Andrew's, when the church choir vacated their seats in favor of the Sunday school children.

The interior of the sacred edifice was beautifully and most tastefully decorated for the occasion. The pulpit and organ were banked with flowers and white ribbon, while potted flowers and palms were hung from the galleries at appropriate distances throughout the church.

Hymns, anthems and solos by the children's choir, formed the musical program. Too much credit cannot be given to the children, their teachers and their parents for the unique and pleasing success which the event proved to be. The splendid impression made by the children's choir is best described in the words of Rev. Dr. J. R. Battisby, the respected pastor of St. Andrew's, when he paused during the course of his address to the little ones to say:

"It has done my old soul good to hear these young voices lifted up in sacred praise. Their anthems and solos—sung so gently, so sweetly, without one particle of affectation—so naturally, I tell you, it is something which must be pleasing in the sight of God."

The solo, "Pretty Little Pansy," rendered by little Miss Laura Allen, and another solo rendered during the offertory by little Miss McConnell, added a distinct charm to the service. Both little girls did exceptionally well for vocalists of their tender years. They sang with grace and confidence, and yet childish modesty, which could not help but captivate even the most cynical.

Eight verses from the eighth chapter of Exodus, were read clearly, and with a very proper voice inflection, by Master Ray Judson.

It was on these verses that Rev. Dr. Battisby based his address to the children, whom he exhorted to a constant watchfulness that they deviate not from the straight and narrow path. The verses from which the text was taken, speak of the plague of frogs which was visited upon Egypt, and the reverend gentleman very aptly compared the building of human character to the development of the frog.

The sermon was an instructive and interesting one to grownups as well as children. As yesterday was Patriotic Day as well as Children's Day at St. Andrew's, the service was closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

BASEBALL

THE HEELERS WIN.

At two o'clock Saturday afternoon the Tammany Heelers and the team from the Motor Car Works played a game of ball. The result was a victory for the Tammany Heelers with a score of 10 to 8. The game was a very good one up to the 8th innings, the Motor Car Works being ahead up to that time. During the 8th innings the Tammany Heelers woke up and got in seven runs. During the game there were seven bunts off the winners. Three men got bases on three successive bunts, when Depew went to bat and made a 3-base hit, thus letting them all home. Woods made a home run and played a good game throughout.

The line-up was as follows:
M. C. W.—C. Elliott; p. Minto; 1b. Richards; 2b. Smith; 3b. Tenney; 4b. Tickner; rf. Summers; cf. Daniels; ss. Depew.
T. H. C.—Head: p. Trotter; 1b. Pleasance; 2b. Wood; 3b. Gray; 4b. Weller; rf. Wallard; cf. Brady; rf. Waller; ss. Raynor.

WEST IS ALL TO THE GOOD

H. S. Clements M. P. Says Government Will Change This Time

The Feeling Against Public Graft Prevails All Over Canada

In a short interview with The Planet, Mr. H. S. Clements, M. P., who has just recently returned from a trip through the Northwest and British Columbia, expressed himself as very confident of the future of the west.

"The people in the west are a very broad-minded people," he said, "and there is no doubt that the west is destined to be a great country. I was particularly interested to note everywhere a growing feeling of dissatisfaction with the present Government at Ottawa. Everywhere you go, through the west, you find the strongest Liberals denouncing the disgraceful practices and graft which prevail at Ottawa. The graft sentiment is all over the country, and the action of the church workers and preachers in passing resolutions of condemnation has done much to create a feeling of unrest. There is a general feeling that it is time to put a stop to graft at Ottawa, and it is my firm belief that you will see a change of Government at the next election. I know now, after my trip, that the west will do its share in turning out the grafters."

"The money market is very stringent in the west. It is impossible to get money, and the public are feeling it. This is the case all the way to the coast."

"I met many Chatham people during my trip. Among those who are doing well in the far west are, Dan Cole, whom I met in British Columbia. He is working on a railway there. William Holden is in Regina, running a restaurant, and doing well indeed. Harry Judah, a nephew of Henry Weaver, is in the Melford district, getting along in good shape. Dr. Shadd, of course, is also doing well in the Melford district. He has a fine practice and is exceedingly well thought of by everyone."

"I met innumerable Chatham people, and this fact alone meant much to the enjoyment of the trip."

BRAKEMAN SCALDED

Was Pinned Between Locomotive and Tender in Wreck.

Ottawa, June 24.—William G. Douglass, a G.T.R. brakeman, died in the hospital here yesterday after hours of terrible suffering, from injuries he received in a wreck last Saturday night near Eastman Springs.

At the time of the accident he was on the locomotive and while the rest of the trainmen succeeded in jumping and saving themselves, he was pinned between the locomotive and tender and held there for hours with scalding water pouring over him.

With the aid of farmers the other trainmen finally released him, but he died shortly after reaching the hospital.

The collision was between a freight train out of Ottawa and a light engine running from Hawkesbury to Ottawa for repairs.

One of the locomotives and three cars were derailed, the other locomotive was badly damaged, and the track was torn up for 200 feet.

It was necessary to transfer passengers to and from Montreal yesterday morning while the wrecked cars were at work to repair the damage.

TRAGEDY IN A TRAIN.

Barber, Crazy With Drink, Shoots Three Passengers.

Denver, Col., June 24.—While crazed by drink John Belle, an Italian barber, shot and killed C. V. Topp, a tailor of St. Paul, Minn., as he slept, and wounded Mrs. Olsen, a bride, and Mrs. Harry Blakeley, sisters of Marshall, Minn., all passengers on a train westbound on the Rock Island road near Selden, Kansas, Saturday night. Belle and his companion, Patsy Longobardi were arrested and removed from the train at Goodland, Kansas. The wives and children of the Italians came to Denver and decided yesterday to return to Chicago. The two families had started from Boston for San Francisco. Belle had boarded the train at Chicago on Thursday night. He and his companion had been drinking and Belle imagined he had been robbed.

EIGHT KILLED IN WRECK.

Thirty-Five Others Injured In Collision With Work Trains.

Hartford, Conn., June 24.—Eight Italian workmen were killed when a passenger train on the highland division of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad ran into the rear end of a work train that was backing into the city from New Britain last night at Sigourney street crossing.

TAYLOR HAS HYPNOTIC EYE

Under His Blazing Optics Witness Becomes Confused And Stammers

Taylor-Wilson-Casey Jolification Is Aired In Court—Other Cases

A large crowd who gathered in Judge Houston's court this morning expecting to hear the spiky evidence in the Taylor-Wilson-Casey indecent conduct case, were doomed to be disappointed. Judge Houston ordered the court room cleared before the hearing came up, and no one was admitted with the exception of the officials, the witnesses and the reporters. However, those who had to stay out didn't miss much, outside of the details of a disgusting orge in which the unfortunate trio took part.

The prisoners were David Taylor, Mina Wilson and Hattie Casey. The two women sat in the pen with bowed heads, and a nervous chuckle now and then was the only sign of animation they gave expression to. Taylor, however, was constantly on the alert, and as each witness came up to give his or her testimony, Taylor transfixed them with his glittering eye. Taylor's eyes are his most prominent feature. They are dark and piercing. There is something penetrating and hypnotic in them. Under their magic spell, one witness suddenly seemed to lose his confidence in his version of the scenes on the west end near the C. P. R. tracks last week, and under Taylor's cross-examination, he commenced to contradict what a few moments before he was sure about.

Edward Hutchison and William Illingsworth testified to seeing Taylor with the two women on Friday last. Illingsworth claimed he saw them on two occasions, but when Taylor commenced to question him, he suddenly appeared to get rattled, and said he was not sure whether it was Taylor he saw or not. Evidence was also given by a number of ladies who witnessed the disgraceful scenes, but out of respect for them, their names are excluded from this report. According to the evidence, Taylor and the two women must have been having a rare old time. They admitted buying over two pints of good whiskey and getting on the outside of it, but Taylor contended that all the reports about indecent conduct were untrue. Every one in awhile when the evidence took a turn against him, he would hop up on his only leg and look daggers at the witness.

The evidence which went to convict Taylor, is excluded on account of its unsavory nature. A letter which Taylor wrote to Judge Houston, in which he promised to be good, and claimed that Mina Wilson was the cause of his downfall, and that she disgraced him, was read in Court.

When Mina Wilson heard it, she gave vent to a loud peal of laughter. "Me disgrace him? Hal! Hal! That's too good. Judge, I don't know whether he disgraced me or I disgraced him, but I guess we are about even in this disgraceful business," and Mina fairly doubled up with merriment.

Taylor was remanded till next Tuesday for sentence. Judge Houston intimated that he would probably get a year in Central in the meantime the authorities at the prison will be communicated with in order to ascertain whether they will take in a cripple or not.

Mina Wilson was sentenced to six months in Mercer Reformatory, and Hattie Casey was discharged, as the evidence relative to indecent conduct was not very strong against her.

If looks could kill, Judge Houston would have surely succumbed under the black and ugly grimace which Taylor favored him with as he left the court room for the cells.

Benjamin McCallister's fondness for red-eye cost him $1 and costs, $8 in all, at Police Court this morning. His recollection of what occurred during his spree was rather hazy.

Wm. Chippewa, the Indian, who was up last week, charged with being drunk, said this morning that he cannot remember who sold him the whiskey. He said that he has a wife and family, and he was anxious to get out. He was fined $1 and costs, $4.50 in all.

Green, the colored man, who was found guilty of selling liquor to Indians last week, was up again this morning, but said that he was unable to raise the wind to pay his $50 fine. He was sentenced to six months in Central.

"I'll just get out the day before Christmas," was the optimistic remark of the prisoner.

"This should be a lesson to you not to sell liquor to Indians again," said the Judge.

"All depends on m' mind, Judge," was the laconic reply.

As the reporters were passing the cells downstairs, Green whistled to them through the bars.

"Give me a cigarette," he pleaded.

"I won't get a chance to smoke."

MASONS AT HOLY TRINITY

Parthenon Lodge Held Annual Church Parade Last Evening

Rev. Mr. Hodgins Gave Excellent Address—Music Was Very Fine

The members of Parthenon Lodge, No. 287, A. F. & A. M., celebrated the feast of St. John the Baptist by attending divine service at Holy Trinity Church last evening in a body. The members assembled in their lodge room at half-past six o'clock, and marched to church, headed by Henry Darr, Bro. G. W. Sulman was director of ceremonies, and had charge of the parade. Besides the members of Parthenon Lodge, there were many members of Wellington Lodge and Wellington Chapter in the parade.

The sermon was preached by R. W. Bro. J. W. Hodgins, rector of Holy Trinity Church. Mr. Hodgins gave a masterly address, and it was generally commented upon as one of the best Masonic sermons ever delivered in Chatham. It was thoroughly appreciated by every member of the Royal Craft whose good fortune it was to be present.

The music for the occasion was very appropriate and excellently rendered. The choir gave a number of splendid choral numbers, Mr. Rutley rendered a solo, and the solo part in the anthem was taken by J. D. McAlpine. Special mention should be made of the excellent manner in which the organists, Miss Rose Morrison conducted her part of the musical service. Miss Morrison is a very capable organist, and handles her instrument with great taste and ability.

After the service the brethren returned to their rooms, where votes of thanks were passed to Mr. Hodgins for his excellent sermon, and to those who contributed towards the musical part of the service.

A PULPIT EXCHANGE

Rev. A. H. MacGillivray, pastor of First Church, and Rev. F. E. Malott, pastor of Victoria Avenue Methodist church, exchanged pulpits last evening. The exchange was a very pleasant one, especially in view of the happy relations which exist between these two churches. The congregations were large at both services, and very profitable and interesting sermons were delivered.

At First Church Mr. Malott gave an instructive and thoughtful discourse on the Secrets of God. The music by the choir was, as usual, of a high order. A splendid anthem was given in excellent style and a duet by Miss Peate and Mr. Wilson, and a selection by the First Church male quartet added much to the success of the service.

Mr. MacGillivray's sermon in Victoria Avenue was especially earnest and convincing. Special music in that church also tended to increase the profit of the occasion.

TRANSIENT TRADERS

Lambton County Council will have to deal with a petition in regard to certain rural merchants who make a practice of sending a man out through the farm districts with a wagon and trading directly with the farmers. This method of doing business is hit hard by a by-law which was passed imposing a fee of $100. The merchants who operate wagon routes appeared in force to present their grievances, and were armed with petitions signed by the farmers with whom they do business. One of them stated that every farmer in the County Council will support their opposition to the $100 fee. The merchants in the towns contend that the fee is a proper protection against the influx of Syrians and other peddlers.

any more for six months."

Mrs. John Owens paid a fine of $1 and costs, $4.50 in all, into the city coffers this morning, for the privilege of referring to Mrs. John Dittmar as "old mother Dittmar," some time ago.

This impulsive and indiscreet remark on the part of Mrs. Owens was given expression to during a street corner conversation between Mrs. Owens, Mrs. Mary Lockman, Mrs. Jennie Smale and Adelia Webster. Mrs. Owens was alleged to have said to Mrs. Lockman:

"You're as bad as old mother Dittmar. There is no use talking to you. You have three or four fellows boarding at your place, and one of them took you to the circus."

Mrs. Dittmar overheard the remark and promptly had Mrs. Owens pulled. In fining Mrs. Owens, Judge Houston also handed a little sage advice down as he said:

"If you would obey the eleventh commandment, which is to say, 'Thou shalt mind thy own business,' Mrs. Owens, you wouldn't be coming up in our Court so often. My advice to you is to bridle your tongue, if you don't, you will probably get a sterner lesson next time."
