The official announcement will probably be made soon that the Midland Navigation Co. have closed a contract with the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co. for the construction of the largest Canadian steam r on the great lakes. The new vessel is to be delivered by next October, in time to participate in next October, in time to participate in the grain-business next year, and for this reason construction will have to be commenced at an early date. The unofficial information piaces the vessel as 450 feet long, 55 feet beam, and her capacity as something in excess of 300,000 bushels. The same company control the Midland King and Midland.

Narrowness.

Narrowness.

It is strange, very strange, to me that many men should devote themselves so exclusively to the study of their own particular callings. It seems as if they thought a mind must grow narrow before it can come to a focus. We send our young men abroad to enlarge and modify their motions, but those who stay at home shut themselves up with the primers and catechisms of their professions until they are stiffened into machines for specific purposes. The knowledge of a man who confines himself to one object bears the same relation to that of the liberal scholar that the red or violet ray of a prism does to the blended light of a sunbeam.—Oliver Wendell Holmes. of a Holmes.

CHILDREN'S DRESS.

There is a decided preference this winter for plain skirts for girls' suits, though the general effect is that of great width at the bottom. To arrive at this desirable result the umbrella skirt is used. The empire coat is made up for little folks, the newest edition being of this style in Napoleonic design made with a large turnover collar and limp revers. For a girl of almost any age a coat of this kind carried out in a deep, rich shade of red, either in velvet or cloth, with a tricorne hat of the same color or black, is exceedingly smart.

Velvet will be much worn. It is a Smart Indoor Skirts Have Slight Dip. Golf Coats—A New Fur Tippet.

The new skirt for indoor wear lies for an inch on the ground in front, three or four inches at the sides and anywhere from six to a dozen inches in the back. There is not supposed to be an apparent train. It is merely that the skirt is lengthened all around and presents a dip in the back.

The new golf coat is of heavy, coarse red serge very "boxy" in effect. There are the usual brass buttons and red relvet collar piped with white.

Fur coats are short and boxy and have a slight puff at the top of the sleeves, which are long and close below the elbow. Most of the new jackets have a puff at the top of the sleeve stiffened in such a way as to make it rise from the shoulder at a peculiar angle, giv-

CHINESE PHILOSOPHY.

Some of the Clever Epigrams of the Flowery Kingdom.

Their proverbial philosophy shows that the Chinese are very thoughtful. Here are a few specimens: "The best and strongest man in the world finds that he cannot escape the two words No continuance." "Happiness con-sists in a medium station." "When you are sitting quietly and alone, think of your faults; when conversing with others, do not talk of the faults of others." "Correct yourself on the same principle that you correct others, and excuse others on the same principle that you excuse yourself." Hard on Her Conscience.

The giving of a "character" to domestic servants is one of the severest tests of the employer's character. An Irish master, being called upon to write a testimonial for a groom whom he was discharging for drunkenness, gave him a good character, but omitted to mention one trait. The groom returned the letter, objecting that it did not say he was sober. The master added "sometimes sober," and the man was content. The woman who had to recommend the inefficient cook she had kept for seven years only because she was afraid to give her notice went one better. She had covered three pages with undeserved commendations; she had placed it in an envelope and addressed it, and her conscience pricked her badly. Then she had a happy idea, and broke open the seal, adding to her letter, as a postscript. "God forgive me!" It satisfied her conscience, but history does not relate if it satisfied the other woman.—N. Y. Tribune. The giving of a "character" to do

THE AMERICAN CHANNEL WILL DISAPPEAR IN TIME.

Power Intakes Dry Up-All Prophecies As to the Rate of Retrocession Are Largely Guesswork-Depth of the Channel on the Canadian Side Diverts the Water In That Direction-Extracts From Report.

"The time will come when the American channel at Niagara Falls will disappear, and the intakes of the Canadian works will be dry." Such is the opinion which Monsignor Laflamme, the Quebec geologist, puts on record in his report to the Government, after a careful inquiry into the process of erosion and retrocession at Niagara Falls. Monsignor Laflamme says: "Niagara sion and retrocession at Niagara Falls.
Monsignor Laflamme says: "Niagara Falls is receding every year. The process of this retrocession is such that it is impossible to formulate any precise forecast as to its future rate and direction. Outside of generalities all is more or less problematic. This phenomenon is liable to many variations owing to impossible changes in the physical consistency of the geological beds over which the water descends.
What will be the character of the channel which is now being formed, acwhich is now being formed, ac-cording to Mr. Grabau, can only be a matter of conjecture.

Canadian Water Safe.

Canadian Water Safe.

At all events I do not think that the Canadian waters are, for long to come, apt to suffer greatly from the retrocession of the falls, whatever be its direction, during the recedence of the Horseshoe towards the upper still of the rapids, everything leads me to believe that the Canadian side will always have its large share of the hydraulic force of the river. Once the falls have reached the upper ledge of the rapids, in many hundred years (1,000 years, according to Grabau, assuming that the mean rate of retrocession remains constant, which is far from certain), the retrocession of the cataract will enter into a phase of relative rest and the erosion will henceforth hardly take any other form than the wearing out of the lips of the new gorge, particularly that of the Canadian side. The American channel will have then long disappeared, and the intakes of the Canadian works, after having gradually become impoverished as the line of the fall is rectified and identified with the sill of the upper rapids, will end by being dry.

Higher by Fifty Feet.

"The fall will then be at the first still of the rapids. It will be higher than

Higher by Fifty Feet.

"The fall will then be at the first sill of the rapids. It will be higher than the present cataract by some fifty feet, and, will noticeably resemble the drawing which Father Hennepin left us of that which he saw in 1678, when the horseshoe did not exist, and the American and the Canadian falls were on one plane. The only difference will be that the fall will then be single, Goat Island having Johned the American shore: Anyone desirous of knowing in how many years the falls will reach that point should study the figures of Mr. Grabau. Perhaps it is more prudent to simply say, with Dr. Clarke, that all these estimates of geological chronology express interesting possibilities, but hardly rise to the dignity of probabilities. Mr. Grabau himself, after having reproduced the figures which, according to C. H. Hitchcock, G. F. Wright, Spencer, Taylor, Pohlman, and Lyell, give the geological age of Niagara, very wisely concludes by the statement that such figures are hardly more than the expression of personal opinions, and that they exclusively reflect the ideas which the writers have formed as to the rapidity of the erosion caused by the river. And he adds that there may be a reserve for cause still unknown, which may have contributed, in a large measure to lengthen or shorten this period. These causes, once known, will probably entail the revising of all the calculations, and will, no doubt, lead to different results:

"In the same order of ideas, this may be said of the factors yet to be discovered, which will, perhaps, considerably modify all that has already been thought and written on the retrocession culations, and with no doubt class to different results.

"In the same order of ideas, this may be said of the factors yet to be discovered, which will, perhaps, considerably modify all that has already been thought and written on the retrocession of the falls in particular. I believe there are few scientific problems in which the personal equation plays so great a part. This is why the present report, while being little more than a summary of the principal works on report, while being inter his summary of the principal works on Niagara, contains such a small proportion of the figures and calculations so abundant in the numerous monographs written on the subject."

Much Is Guesswork. Monsignor Laflamme declares that geologists are not sufficiently acquainted with the intimate physical structure of the banks of limestone and shale that occasion the cataract to state positively either what is the regular rate of retreat or that it will continue indefinitely at the same rate in the direction it has followed during, say, the last fifty years. At present it seems to follow the outline of Goat Island; whether it will always do so is unknown. In the opinion of Mr. J. W. Spencer, whose geological studies of the locality have been carried on with untiring devotion, the erosion will continue for a time towards Goat Island, after which the western side will be affected. eologists are not sufficiently acquaint after which the western side will be affected.

Dr. Laflamme refers to the theory that as the result of a crustal movement the time will come when Lakes Superior, Michigan, Huron and Erie, instead of draining through Lake. Erie, will send their waters towards the Mississippi through the southern extremity of lake Michigan, but regards it as impossible upon such uncertain data to rest very positive assertions. He then takes up the question as to the possible diminution of the flow of the water on the Canadian side. "It may be asked," he observes, "whether the recession of the falls will lessen the quantity of water which now flows along the Canadian shore in the upper rapids. On that score I do not believe that we have much to fear. No matter what direction the representatives. what direction the retrocession may take, we shall always have more water than the Americans. The level of the river bed is lower on our side. The first sill of the upper rapids crosses the whole of the river dipping towards. the Canadian shore; at this latter point it is considerably lower than on the American side. The Canadian fall
