Company in the city. A short stock season is contemplated for Ottawa. Many of the socially prominent of the Capital City have subscribed for seats. After a short stay in Ottawa, the company goes to Quebec, St. John, Hali

The fifty-sixth annual festival of the Orphans will be held in the Grand Opera House on Thursday, April 22, afternoon and evening. It will be somewhat of a diversion this year. The Village Singers, from Boston, Mass., will be one of the principal attractions. This company consists of selected vocalists, singing many of the old songs, and singing them well, and a male quartette and soprano soloist in ensemble work, interspersed with readings, vocal solos, and a delightful musical and literary after-piece, "College Days." Mr. James Trethewey, A. G. S. M., a graduate of London, Eng., and of Leipzig, is a violnist of the highest order. "The Camp of the Guards," a musical military sketch, will be given by local talent.

be given by local talent.

After an absence of nearly ten years, Hamiltonians are to again have the opportunity of hearing the Kneisel String Quartette, of Boston. For many years the Kneisel Quartette has stood at the head of all musical organizations in respect to seriousness of endeavor and successful achievement. It has had no rival on this side of the Atlantic, and there are many travelled musicians, professional and amateur, who stoutly insist that it is the equal, if not the superior, of the best and most famous of the chamber music organizations of Europe—the Joachim Quartette, of Berlin, and the Brussels and Bohemian Quartettes, for instance. The four men play with a precision and sympathetic understanding that is astonishing, arousing the enthusiasm of the audience by their perfect ensemble, tonal euphony and artistic phrasing which reveals the very the enthusiasm of the audience by unear perfect ensemble, tonal euphony and artistic phrasing, which reveals the very soul of music. All wishing to attend this concert are requested to place their names on the subscription lists in the music stores, as soon as possible, as the house at this early date has been half subscribed. The date for the concert is Monday, April 26.

The Conservatory Children's Choir gave a most entertaining concert in the recital hall of the Conservatory last evening, before a large number of friends. The programme was in charge of Prof. James Johnson, and he was assisted by Miss Mary Johnson. The work of the choir was excellent, and those who had solos acquitted themselves with credit. The programme was: Chorus, 'Picnic Glee.' Solo, "Land of Bohemia," Andrew Kauffman.

The annual concert to be given by the choir of Centenary Church on Good Friday evening promises to be a rich musical treat. In addition to Spoin's grand oratorio, "The Last Judgment," grand oratorio, and the short will since grand oration, the choir will sing a most striking work, the choir will sing Sir Frederick Bridge's "He Giveth His Beloved Sleep." The words of this com-position are by Elizabeth Barrett Brown-ing, and its performance at the funeral of Robert Browning in Westminster Abbey in 1889 created a profound impression. The choir will also sing a chorus from Haydn's Passion music, and Sullivan's "Say, Watchman, What of the Night?" (a capella). Mrs. Ida McLean Dilworth, soprano; J. H. Hollingshead, tenor, and Arthur Blight, baritone, will be the assisting solosists.

be the assisting soloists. The James Street Baptist Church choir will render Dudley Buck's cantata, "Christ the Victor," in the church next Wednesday. The choir will be augmented by 50 voices, and will be assisted by S. Swartz, tenor; R. Stevenson, bass; Roy McIntosh, bass; Miss A. Sutberland, contralto; Mrs. C. Lumsden, sopramo, and the soloists of the choir. Miss Ella Howard will contribute a violin solo, and the overture to "Wm. Tell" will be played by the organist, F. M. Howard. Proceeds in aid of the organ fund.

Proceeds in aid of the organ fund.

A combined band concert is to be held in the new armories on Good Friday evening. This will be the first opportunity the public will have of testing the acoustical properties of the new armories, and no doubt many lovers of the old-time promenade concerts will avail themselves of this opportunity. As both of the bands will appear at this concert, the admission fee will be 25 cents. The regular series of popular tencent Thursday promenades will be inaugurated on April 15, the Thirteenth Regiment Band taking the first concert, followed the next Thursday by the bands alternating each week.

The entrance to the north gallery is at the northeast corner of the armory, for those who may wish to avail themselves of a seat during the evening.

The sacred cantata, "The Story of the Cross," will be given in Central Presbyterian Church next Tuesday evening at 8.20. Miss Eva Mylott, the great Australian contralte, will sing, and Miss Gertrude Stares, Miss Esther Horne, Mr. Vernon Carey, Mr. Simon Swarz and Harold Hamilton will take the solo parts in the cantata. A choir of forty voices will sing the chorus work, and C. Percival Garratt will play several organ numbers.
