WILLIAM FARNUM PLAYS A DUEL ROLE IN "A TALE OF TWO CITIES"

A Picturization of Charles Dickens' Immortal Work of the French Revolution
Replete With Dramatic Interest—An Unusual Love Story Abounding
With Pathos and Thrills

William Farnum, the beloved idol of millions of "movie" fans throughout the world, plays a dual role in Charles Dickens' immortal story of the French Revolution, "A Tale of Two Cities." Mr. Farnum's portrayal of the soft-spoken, aristocratic Charles Darnay and the devil-may-care, dissolute English barrister, Sidney Carton, is a screen classic. Never before in the history of photodrama production has a masterpiece been filmed with so notable a cast of players as has been gathered together by Mr. William Fox.

Everyone is familiar with this soul stirring story of a man's greatest sacrifice for the woman he loved, and momentous scenes of the French Revolution. Following is a brief synopsis of this wonderful story of heroic sacrifices.

For many years preceding the French Revolution, the people of France were the serfs of the arrogant aristocracy. Famine and starvation stalked throughout the land. Men and women were imprisoned on the slightest pretext. Dr. Alexander Manette, a French physician, was separated from his wife and baby daughter and secretly taken to the Bastille, because he was in possession of a secret involving the good name of the Marquis Evremonde, who was a power at Court. For ten years he was kept in solitary confinement until he was rescued by Jacques De Farge, a former servant.

De Farge, knowing the Doctor's history, communicated with Mr. Jarvis Lorry, a valued employee of Tellson's International Bank, with headquarters in London. Mr. Lorry had taken care of the doctor's daughter Lucie after the death of the doctor's wife. On receipt of this information, Mr. Lorry, with Lucie, now a beautiful young girl, started for Paris. The meeting of the daughter with her father, whom she had never seen, was one of deep pathos. Preparations were soon under way to remove the old man, broken in mind and spirit, to England, there to spend the rest of his days. On board the ship crossing the Channel they met Charles Darnay, the son of Marquis Evremonde, who had renounced his titles and Barsard by name, who had been in his way to England to earn his living as a teacher of the French language.

Darnay but a few days in England was betrayed as a spy and placed on trial for his life in Old Bailey. Lucie and her father were summoned as witnesses against him. During the progress of the trial, Sidney Carton, a barrister and a clerk working for Mr. Stryver, who was defending Darnay, saved the prisoner's life through the former's remarkable resemblance to the accused. Thereafter, a friendship between Lucie, Carton and Darnay was formed, and the two men, alike as twins, became frequent visitors to the young lady's home.

Darnay after a brief courtship asked her hand in marriage, and was accepted. Carton, who secretly worshipped the girl but hesitated to tell of his love, nevertheless continued to revere and worship Lucie.

After the wedding Carton begged the right to still visit as before. Lucie overcame the opposition of her husband and graciously granted Carton's request.

In France, meanwhile, the populace had revolted and bloodshed and anarchy were rampant. Members of the nobility were imprisoned and beheaded. Mr. Lorry was sent to Paris to look after the interests of Tellson's Bank. He was followed by Lucie who had been apprised by letter of the arrest of the Evremonde caretaker who begged the young man's assistance. Torn between love and duty, Darnay left leaving a letter, telling his wife of his purpose, and promising a quick return.

On his arrival in France Darnay was placed under arrest by the Republican Guards and taken to La Force prison in Paris, and there Lucie learned through Mr. Lorry that her husband is in prison and in danger of being guillotined. Through De Farge, who had become one of the Revolutionary leaders, Dr. Manette became a popular hero for his ten years of martyrdom in the Bastille. After a year spent in prison Darnay is tried, and through Dr. Manette's zeal in behalf of his son-in-law is acquitted and returns to a happy family reunion. But their joy is short-lived for after a few hours of liberty Darnay is rearrested and again taken to his old home in La Force prison.

Sidney Carton learning of Lucie's trip to Paris, followed. On his arrival he hears of Darnay's plight. In trying to help the woman he loves, he runs across a former English spy, instrumental in having Darnay arrested when he landed in England. Barsard was one of the Revolutionists and an official at La Force prison. Under threats of exposure Carton unfolds a plan and elicits a promise of aid under fear of exposure. This plan Carton confides to Mr. Lorry the day before Darnay is to be retried.

Amidst indescribable scenes, the Tribunal unanimously declared Charles Darnay guilty as an enemy to the Republic and sentenced him to death. The grief stricken wife is carried out of the court room in a fainting condition by Carton who had been an interested spectator of the proceeding.

THE DEATH OF A HERO.

The morning of the day set for Darnay's execution, Carton gained admission to Darnay's cell, through the connivance of Barsard. He prevails upon the astonished prisoner to change clothes with him. By a subterfuge Carton overpowers Darnay, chloroforms the prisoner, and has him removed to a waiting coach, while Carton remains a prisoner in the cell.

Mr. Lorry had made preparations according to the plan unfolded to him by Carton, and a waiting coach containing Lucie, her daughter and Doctor Manette awaited the arrival of Darnay, who was placed in a car. In a short time the fugitives were free of Paris and safely on their way to England.

The hour of the execution arriving, Carton answered to the name of Darnay, and was driven to the guillotine. With a smile on his face he ascended the platform and in a second had made the supreme sacrifice for the woman he loved but could not have. He had sent the one she loved the most to the one he loved the most.

Important Information for Automobile Buyers

YOU generally appreciate the advice of an expert when you make an important purchase or investment. You are glad to get authoritative opinions. You like to feel that your final decision will be right.

Apply this method of buying to your automobile.

Mr. Frank Groch, of the Grodwards Company of Cobalt, Ontario, is an automobile expert. He sells motor cars. He is a very successful merchant and like all successful merchants realizes that his business rests on the satisfaction of his customers.

Here is Mr. Groch's own story of how he became a Studebaker dealer:

"When I decided to enter the automobile business I looked around for what I called a fool-proof car. Although I am an engineer I had had no experience with cars. I decided that there were four primary points which were fundamentally necessary in selecting an automobile.

FIRST—the reputation of the manufacturer for square dealing—I finally decided that as Studebaker wagons had been 'it,' Studebaker automobiles must be, too.

SECOND—the firm must build automobiles in quantities large enough to cut down that vast overhead expense necessary in keeping up with the times and making the car fool-proof.

I visited many plants and finally decided that at Walkerville, Ontario, Studebaker had the plant and the equipment.

THIRD—the car itself—I examined many cars and talked with many owners in Canada, paying particular attention to the motor.

Of all the cars I examined under the price of $2000 I felt that Studebaker was the best built and best equipped.

FOURTH—Service—this term I found to mean many things. Every manufacturer had talked it but none really put it into practice except Studebaker. I found that the Studebaker Corporation was spending upwards of half a million dollars a year to maintain its cars in perfect running condition after they were sold. I found that the Studebaker Service Department sends special service men wherever their cars are sold to see that anything which is not understood by local mechanics is thoroughly explained.

Ran Studebaker Three Years—Spent $25 for Repairs

One of the first Studebaker Cars I sold is owned by a mining engineer. This gentleman spent less than $25.00 for repair parts in three years. All other Studebaker Cars sold in my territory have had similarly low costs for upkeep and there is no more severe test for a car than long service on the roads around Cobalt.

From Detroit to Palm Beach, Florida, Total Car Expense $41.89

On December 7th, 1916, I left Detroit with my own Series 18 six cylinder touring car and with seven in the car drove to Toledo and Columbus, Ohio, Wheeling, West Virginia, through the snow-covered Canadas and Mountains, through Augusta and Savannah, Georgia, Jacksonville and St. Augustine to Palm Beach, Florida.

My total expense for the trip for gasoline, oil, washing the car, storage and all other car expenses was $41.89. That is why I am an enthusiastic for Studebaker.

Significant Facts

When Mr. Groch entered the automobile business he had no ax to grind for any particular concern. He chose Studebaker Cars from the entire field because a careful, thorough, scientific investigation showed him that Studebaker cars were the best value for the money.

For four years Studebaker cars have been giving satisfactory service to Mr. Groch's customers. His business has grown to large proportions because of it.

It is certainly worth your while to investigate the Studebaker proposition thoroughly before you buy any car. Studebaker cars have made good for thousands and thousands of people and will make good for you.

There will be no change in Studebaker models this year, but the increased cost of materials and labor may force Studebaker to make an advance in prices at any time without notice.

BOY KILLED AT WESTFIELD

A fatal accident occurred near Westfield Monday afternoon on the Valley railway when Ronald Mullin, the 12 year old son of William Mullin, of that place, was run over by a dump car and so badly injured that he died that evening at the General Public Hospital, St. John.

Both legs and one arm were broken in the accident and the shock and loss of blood proved too much even for the sturdy little frame. He passed away at 8.30 o'clock.

Hurrah! How's This?
Cincinnati authority says borne dry up and lift out with fingers.

Hospital records show that every time you put a corn you invite lockjaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called Frezzone can be obtained at 10c the cost from the drug store but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You simply apply a few drops of Frezzone on a tender, aching corn and soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

Hospital Ship a Total Wreck Near Halifax

The hospital ship which went ashore at Portuguese Cove near Halifax on Wednesday of last week, is now a complete wreck. She has broken in two just forward of the bridge, the stern going down in the deep water and the bow rising partially up from the ledge.

People from along the shore visited the wreck Thursday night carrying away many articles of value. Among the goods stolen were two large and expensive French clocks from the saloon and a valuable barometer. Chairs, card tables, linen, silver and other goods were also taken.

One life has been lost at the wreck, that of a fireman who was asleep when the rest of the crew left the ship. Waking up and finding the steamer over almost on her beam ends and still settling, the man jumped overboard and was drowned. His body has not been recovered.

BUILDING BLOWN

A small cyclone visited the northern part of Kent County Friday evening. At Laketon, five miles from Kouchibouguac, it tore the roof from a new building and at St. Margarets, five miles nearer Chatham, three or four buildings were blown down. From Richibucto, between 6.30 and 7 o'clock, the sky looked very strange and many thought an electrical storm was coming, as there were rumblings of thunder and lightning flashes. Later there was considerable chain lightning and between 9 and 9.30 a. m. an electrical storm with rain.
