The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Every Saturday afternoon this spring there has passed by my study window a very pretty couple—quite the prettiest I have ever passed down the street, to my way of thinking.

One of these two is a big six-footer of a man, and the other is a little tow-headed youngster who reaches just about to the six-footer's knees.

They are Dad and Junior, and Saturday being Dad's day off, they are going to take a walk in the woods and fields to watch for the birds and the coming of the spring flowers. And there's nothing in all his week, Junior's mother says, that Junior looks forward to so much as this walk with his father—no, not even his plate of ice cream at Sunday dinner or the box of candy he is apt to find in Dad's pocket of a Sunday night.

Mothers and Fathers—if there is one pleasure in life that you simply can't afford to miss, it's this—the joy of making your little sons and daughters acquainted with the wonders of the great realms of the woods and fields, teaching them the love of birds and flowers and trees, training them to make the most of this healthiest, most desirable interest a boy or girl can have.

This little boy of whom I write had a big book of pictures given him for Christmas. There are over a hundred plates in the book, and yet he can name most of them readily and recognizes many in the woods and fields.

Think of the pleasure and profit he is going to get out of this knowledge. Some day when other boys have nothing better to do than loaf on street corners or attend cheap shows this boy will find more pleasure in tramping through the woods, watching for his feathered friends, imitating their calls and hunting for the rare wild flowers in secrets haunts that he knows of.

Just now, especially, when the outdoor world is a land of fascinating surprises and developments, when birds are nesting and each week a new wild flower blooms, when—

Whether we look or whether we listen. We hear life murmur or see it glisten:

When every cloud feels a stir of might,
An instinct within that reaches and towers.

And groping blindly above it for light,
Climbs to a soul in grass and flowers.

When the cowslip starts in meadows green,
The buttercup catches the sun in her chalice.

And there's never a leaf or a blade too mean
To be some happy creature's palace—

surely this is the time when you ought to take your children out into the woods and fields, with you and teach them some of the secret pass words, some of the signs and wonders of this awakening of the world.

You do not feel that you know very much about all these things yourself? Never mind. That only means that when you and your particular "junior" wander through the woods and fields together two shall be learning things for the first time instead of one.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine.

The tortures so bravely endured completely stop the nerves if long continued.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood.

Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good."

It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 31 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. A handsome cloth-binding, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Household Notes.

The fluid does not injure black crepe and is especially good when used on black hats.

Potatoes boiled in their skins make a nicer salad than those pared raw. Cold baked potatoes likewise make better fried potatoes than when cooked raw or boiled.

A fillet of beef requires a longer time for roasting than any other cut or kind of meat. Usually half an hour to the pound is none too long a time. Pork comes next; the average time allowed for a roast of pork is twenty minutes to the pound.

If water be of little use when cleaning lamp chimneys which have become very much blackened with smoke, the experiment should be tried of mixing a little spirits of wine with the water. This will remove the grease which is contained in the lampblack.

If for any reason, either poor eyesight or lack of light at machine, one has difficulty in threading the machine needle, try holding a piece of white cloth or paper on the opposite of the needle eye, which will then be so prominent that threading will be easy.

In sewing trimmings on a hat it is hard for the home milliner to fasten the ends of the threads, but if you will leave one end loose, instead of drawing the knot close to the hat, and, after securing the trimming, tie the two ends together, the effect will be better.

Great difficulty is often experienced when trying to remove glass stoppers, but this method will help to loosen them. Pour a little olive oil round the stopper with a wooden instrument. The heat will cause the oil to work round the stopper and it should be easily removed.

It is a difficult matter to cut away the material under lace without severing a wrong thread occasionally, unless means of overcoming the trouble are employed. Use a piece of cardboard four inches long, rounded at one end, and cut wide enough to slip along between the lace and material.

Look Out

Make no mistake. Use only those medicines the best doctors approve. Should your doctor order Ayer's Sarsaparilla, well and good. If something else, still well and good. He knows best. Trust him.

OLD VETERAN ILL.—We regret to hear of the serious illness of Mr. McBay, who for many years was a prominent member of the Terra Nova Constabulary. Mr. McBay when he retired had the rank of Head Constable. The old gentleman is in his 88th year and fears for his recovery are entertained.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited, Yarmouth, N.S.

Gentlemen.—In January last, Francis Leclaire, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his legs being badly bruised and his body turned black from the blood in his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work. SAUVEUR DUVAL, Elgin Road, Lunenburg, Que.

MEN STILL SCARCE.—People who arrived here from Bell Island yesterday state that the D. I. & S. Co. are now very short of miners, and the N. S. S. Co. are also running short of help. Most of the men leaving the Island are going out of the country. Matters are becoming serious for the two companies who will find it difficult to fill their contracts if men can't be obtained.
