Situation Hopeful.

So far, we have good reason to feel satisfied with the progress of the war. At sea we have proved uncontestedly supreme, and our great lines on every ocean are open, and British commerce is pursuing its course steadily, while that of our enemies has been destroyed. On land, in spite of the many retreats and heavy losses, the campaign is more successful than expected. The success of the German campaign was based by themselves on speed. It was on the claim that saving of time was an overwhelming necessity to them that they based their decision to strike at France through Belgium, even though they disagreed America with their violation of international honour, paralyzed their commerce and fleet, and brought Britain and Belgium in the field against them. So much were they willing to sacrifice in order to gain time. Their tactics were to strike the French forces an overwhelming blow, cripple her and then turn their forces eastwards and by means of their great military and other railways throw the force that had smashed France on Russian armies before they were brought up in full strength and overwhelm them. We are now on the eve of the fortieth day since Germany declared war against Russia and France, and France is not yet crippled. In spite of the severe losses our allied army in France is still intact, but it is felt that Germany is now concentrating for a supreme effort along the line between the Straits of Dover and Verdun and Nancy. Every eye is turned to the neighborhood of Verdun. In the eastern theatre of war, Russia has had nearly six weeks to mobilize. Austria has been practically crippled. She has been forced to weaken her forces in Serbia and suffer disaster there. In addition to this she has been so severely crippled in Galicia that she cannot aid Germany. Russians too are pressing Germany in the east and every day will force on her the necessity of putting more and more troops to the east. Unless she can strike a crippling blow in France immediately, her campaign for time will have failed completely, and she will have to fight a campaign she never contemplated. The news to-day confirms the hope that she will fall in her crippling tactics, and it may be that her offensive tactics are very nearly spent.

TURKEY IN DOUBT.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to the Times from Constantinople commenting on the conditions there says although there is still a large section of influential Turks clamoring for intervention in the present European war, the situation seems to be improving owing to the precarious situation and the unwillingness of the reservists to take part in any except a defensive war. The total number of German officers now in Turkey is estimated at 600. All British merchantmen in the Black Sea have been ordered home.

BALKAN SITUATION IMPROVED.

LONDON, To-day. An Athens despatch to the Times states the Russian victories over Austria appeared to have cleared the air somewhat in the Balkans, although the danger of complications cannot be said to have entirely passed. The Popular Press believes the Russian victories assure the neutrality of Turkey and Bulgaria.

PARIS PLEASSED.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to Reuters from Paris, reviewing the situation in that quarter says according to official statements the allies had advanced about ten miles up to noon Monday. This latest news from the front has produced an excellent impression in Paris. Unofficial news brought back by soldiers returning from the front is even more encouraging than the official statements, and people here are convinced that things could not be going better for the success of the French arms.

LANDSTRUM USING OLD RIFLES.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to the Daily Mail from Rotterdam reports that it is stated on good authority that supplies of German arms are now exhausted. Rifles carried by the Landstrum of the last reserves are said to be of old type. It is also stated there is insufficient ammunition.

STEAM TRAWLER BLOWN UP.

LONDON, To-day. Another Grimby steam trawler, the Revie, was blown up by a mine. The skipper and two engineers are injured but the rest of the crew were saved.

AUSTRIANS STAGGERED BY RUSSIANS.

LONDON, To-day. A correspondent to the Chronicle at Petegrad describing General Rozhitzky's brilliant feat at Lemberg says he hurried his men to the attack by marches so rapid that the men slept only three hours each night and frequently transport trains were left behind. Blow after blow he delivered, now to North now to South, that staggered Austrians and the final battle lasting a week drove them to headlong flight. Russians are now able to concentrate their attention on the first Austrian army whose task it has been to break the Russian line between Lublin and Khelm. Rarely has an army been in a more critical position than this Austrian force, and the next few days should decide the issue.

FOGOTA SAILS.

The s.s. Fogota, Capt. Dalton, sailed for the northward at 10 a.m. to-day, taking a ton freight and the following passengers: Mr. Humphries, John Abbott, R. Winsor, J. F. Perry, Miss A. Mallett, R. Parsons, M. O'Neil, Mr. Lockyer, H. Blundon, T. Blundon and 8 second class.

GERMANS LEFT 3,000 DEAD

LONDON, To-day. A Reuters despatch to the Evening News says a telegram has been received from General Pau announcing a victory by the allied forces at Precy sur Oise. The Imperial Guard under Crown Prince Frederick William is reported to have been annihilated by the British forces which opposed them. The Boulogne despatch to the Evening News says a telegram has been received from General Pau announcing a victory by the allied forces under Field Marshal French and General Damane at Precy sur Oise about 25 miles North of Paris. The allies were drawn across the northern line with the centre at Precy. The English troops were on the left, the French on the right. The former had in front of them the Imperial Guard under the German Crown Prince Frederick William. On both wings it is reported the allies were successful. The Germans left were held back by the French and retired to the North. The Imperial Guard who were ordered to surrender were annihilated by the British. It is reported the Crown Prince was captured. The British official Bureau has received no confirmation of the above message. The news, contained in a French official communication that the Germans had fallen back before a vigorous advance by allied troops on the line from Nanteuil Lenardouin to Verdun, indicated that the Anglo-French forces have got on the flank of the German right wing which passed by Paris on the North and was marching Eastward to join with the Crown Prince's army coming South. It has been suggested by military experts that General Von Kluck's movement to the Southeast was taken as a matter of precaution. Before a movement by the allies from the coast, the Germans had started retreating. Unofficial advice from Berlin also have indicated that a battle of tremendous importance is being fought in the territory described.

TROOPS LEAVING SOUTHAMPTON.

NEW YORK, To-day. Transports leave Southampton almost every four days laden with troops for France, according to reports of passengers aboard the Minnetonka which reached New York from London. Returning transports are bringing wounded from French battlefields for distribution among English hospitals.

GERMAN AND BOER IN SOUTH AFRICA.

LONDON, To-day. The Germans in South East Africa where there are thirty thousand German troops have been storing guns and ammunition for some time and preparing for military action. This has been made known to the British. It is said the Germans believe that the Boers would aid them. Although the Germans proceeded with great secrecy, the British officials have been fully informed concerning their actions, and know the number of arms in their possession and their military dispositions. With a populace of British territory on two sides of German Southwest Africa with adequate military forces at hand, Britain is said to be well prepared for the situation. It is generally believed that she will soon seek and take control of all German territory in Africa. It is said here that the Boer farmers living in Southwest Africa are all loyal to King George.

600 GERMANS CAPTURED.

BREST, Via Paris, To-day. Six hundred Germans has been captured on board the Dutch steamer Tambora, among them were 33 officers and doctors.

GERMANS GIVING AWAY IN NORTH WEST.

LONDON, To-day. The Official Bureau says General Joffre's plans are being steadily carried out. The allied forces are setting on the offensive and have been successful in checking and forcing back in a Northwesterly direction the German forces opposed to them.

FRENCH HARRASSING ENEMY.

PARIS, To-day. In the fighting which is going on today to the East and Northwest of Paris the German forces have backed toward the Capital, the French troops are harrassing their march. From time to time the Germans turn and engage the French at their back. French shells fall continually on the German rear.

CAPTAIN SAVED.

LONDON, To-day. It is learned on reliable authority that the captain and fifty of the crew of the British Cruiser Pathfinder which was sunk by a mine in the North Sea have been saved.

RELATIONS STRAINED.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Brussels says much attention is being paid here to the possible inclusion of Italy and Spain in the number of countries at war. The strained relations between Italy and her former allies has been greatly aggravated in the past three days. While in strictness it is said public opinion is becoming most insistent for a declaration in support of Britain and France.
