Fishery Supplies.

fish markets as anticipated, thin the next three months the for the issuing of fishery supil be the worst on record he spring opens. Since New iny planters and fishermen in norts have been sending in al January orders for certain that are necessary early in and in preparation for the particularly twine and rope he new traps and nets and to reones during the winter, as norial custom. hing must be ready when time comes. orders are not being filled when accompanied by cash procedure is the exception and rule. The merchants are not under existing conditions redit for the coming season, as did in the past and this is a indication of the times.

se, even than this, we are inon very creditable authority, eset of the merchants who heresupplied liberally for the fishcredit, have now, so as not to eir former dealers indulge in hope written to their dealers ming them that they do not into issue any credit supplies for fishery in the coming season. big supplier informs The Trade that he has written to no less 148 outport dealers in such so that they would know in just where they stand, and may ample opportunity to make other nents. If all the merchants out this policy it will be unnate, indeed, and it is difficult to he how the fishery is to be carried supply situation, it will be seen, is much worse than it was time last year. Many plants and men were able to get along with d gear in 1922, in fact most on carrying on with the same and traps since the end of the But twine cannot last for ever the coming season will be one with nearly everybody will want uantities of twine to knit new or repair old ones. This, tois the general situation.

nother feature that makes the look worse than usual is that, ist the older men who have dies and all that they ever saved and their living invested in their es and fishing property are rened to accept conditions as they and to make the best of the ation, the young men, held by no h ties, are getting restless and king forward to getting out of the ntry when the spring comes. They quite satisfied to remain at the ry as long as they can satisfactory living in it. they are now realizing they have come to a stage this can be done no longer. realization of the fact that they not get twine, rope, canvas, nails, , oakum, and other necessaries vinter to make ready for the comfishery, is a circumstance that ength to their resolution to Canada and the United States eek a livelihood and the worst re is that very few of them will go to work at the fishery again. e are only three schooners as as we can ascertain, being built the whole country, not including Union, and very few small fish-boats. About a score of old ooners are being repaired. Such tate of affairs in this particular occurred in Newfoundland beduring the past three hundred and is in itself something that ald provoke serious considerain the minds of all who have riotic regard for the future welfare ewfoundland. one hope that naturally pres-itself to the mind of the ordinary erver is a possible big developt of our land industries our erals, our pulp and paper possithe iron ore of Bell Island the copper of Notre Dame Bay. sibly, the old era of fishery sulacy for Newfoundland is drawto a close and the time may be and when it no longer will be d as our leading staple industry. rices keep at their present low this seems to be the logical sion. For, if it does not pay herman to catch fish, why d he waste his time in doing so he can find other work that will east give him a satisfactory liv-
