EGGS DROPPED DOWN TO 23 CENTS DOZEN

Hay Took a Jump of a Dollar a Ton-Market a Small One Today.

The cold and blustery weather was responsible for a very small market this morning, hay being almost the only commodity offered in any quantity, and even it was far from plentiful.

There was no smaller stuff at all offered this morning, but the probabilities are that there will be a very good market tomorrow.

Eggs still show a tendency to decrease in price, some sales having been reported on Saturday at 2%, and it is likely that they will again reach this figure at tomorrow's market.
