

PHOTOGRAPHY REVOLUTIONIZED

BY NEW INVENTION.

Films, Plates and Dark Room Made Unnecessary.

New Camera Takes Finished Pictures in Two Minutes.

Mr. Edmund F. Stratton, of New York city, has invented a camera that takes and completes pictures ready to see in two minutes. It does away with the expense of buying films or plates and the trouble, expense and delay of having them developed and pictures printed by a photographer.

This camera, which is called the Gordon Camera, is being manufactured by the Gordon Camera Corporation, New York. As they are desirous of making it known in every locality, they are making a special offer to our readers. For a limited time they will sell Model H at $5, and Model B at $7. The regular price of Model H, which takes pictures 2 1/2 inches, is $8, and the regular price of Model B, which takes pictures 3 1/2 x 5 1/2 inches, is $10. Whenever one orders, include 30 cents additional to cover express charges, sensitized cards and developing powders.

The sensitized cards are wrapped for daylight loading, and the powders make the developing solution to be put into the developing tank, which is inside the camera. Model H is 5 1/2 x 4 1/2 inches in size, and weighs 3 lbs 7 oz. Model B is 6 1/2 x 5 1/2 inches, and weighs 4 lbs. The cost of taking pictures with the Gordon camera is almost nothing in comparison to all other cameras. Extra sensitized cards for Model H can be bought for 2 1/2 cents each (cards for Model B, 3 cents each), and 10 cents worth of developer will develop over 40 pictures. The Gordon Corporation sells flash-light lamps for H, which will enable you to take pictures at night in your own parlor or out of doors.

The operation of this new camera is so simple that any person of ordinary intelligence can easily take pictures with it after reading the directions sent with each one. There is no customs duty to be paid, as the Gordon Corporation will ship to you from their Canadian branch, which is near Toronto. All orders and letters, however, must be sent to their office, which is at 625 A. Stuyvesant building, New York, N. Y. When ordering a camera under this special offer be sure to mention that you are a reader of THE LONDON ADVERTISER.

SUMMER LITERATURE

Summer Literature is of the lightest variety. No vacationist wants to get lop-sided totting heavy stuff in his mind or valise.

Summer Literature breaks loose in April and strives for position among the sickly-best sellers until well into July. By that time the first edition of appropriate Christmas gifts in books is dumped onto the shoulder-blades of an overburdened market.

The costume worn by Summer Literature can be distinguished at forty paces from any railway news stand. The cover decoration contains the picture of a young athlete in swimming costume, with a Yale "Y" on his manly chest and a wen on each forearm for a bicep! Curled at his feet, in a white dress with hair blown out, is a delicious summer girl, who is etching a pair of hearts in the sand with her parasol, while they both exchange loving glances "via brainless!"

Without hurdling the fly leaf you know the whole story. You are wise that the girl on the cover is an heiress in disguise—which means she tries to wear iron earrings while in bathing.

The young man is the Willie-off-the-pickle-barge who saves her from drowning, although his feet get tangled up in false hair and seaweed. This happens in Chapter XIVXXIVX, but there is a Misunderstanding in Chapter XXVXXIXXXVXXVX.

All is not forgiven until the summer hotel night-clerk has phoned your room and wished you that all lights must be squelched by 1:30.

The latest problems of the day are rarely discussed by Summer Literature. New ideas are not cooling. On the other hand, a nice, shop-worn, gray-headed idea is nearly as refreshing on a hot day as a cucumber salad.

Summer Literature is generally perused in a hammock, where one is fanned by a balmy breeze and the fragrance of flowers and the rustling of trees enhance one's sentimental frame of mind. Eventually a mob of young flies flit from the kitchen and attempt to read aloud over your shoulder!

Tiny black insects, too, hop onto the page and improve the punctuation of Robert W. Chambers by crawling between the brake beams in his train of thought.

Summer Literature cannot be classed as brain food, but it is useful as a relaxation, a stall when flirting and a preventative of piazza gossip. It is also a gold mine of shaving papers!

District Personals

WINGHAM.

Wingham, July 22.—Mrs. J. Adams, while on her way home last evening from a meeting, suddenly fell and was injured. A physician who was called diagnosed her case as one of inflammation of the kidneys. Today she is somewhat improved.

A very pleasant celebration was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, of Lower Wingham, in honor of the celebration of their golden wedding. A splendid supper was served, and during the evening Mr. and Mrs. Taylor received many hearty congratulations.

Grain is now being cut in many places in this district. The heads are very full and the quality excellent. The yield will average high. The hay all through the district has been saved and is a fair crop.

Rev. and Mrs. G. V. Collins have left for a short visit with friends in Sarnia. Arrangements are under way for the following tournament, which will be held here at the end of the month, and good games are looked for. A fine lot of prizes have been offered.

Alfred Geo. Spotton was in Ottawa attending the Masonic grand lodge meeting.

Rev. E. H. Croly, of the Anglican Church, who had a serious operation on his throat recently, is improving.

Arrangements are being made by Mr. Jas. Bowman, M. P., to have the new clock placed on the postoffice.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gregory, who recently had a stroke of paralysis, is improving slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fisher, of Toronto, are the guests of friends here.

Miss Bessie Stanfield, of Toronto, is the guest of Miss Nellie Wade.

Mr. Britton, of Buffalo, is spending a few days with friends here.

FINGAL.

Fingal, July 22.—Word has been received of the death of Dr. Andrew L. Fulton, in Kansas City. The late Samuel and Robert Fulton, of Fingal, were his sons and grandsons.

He is survived by a widow, one son, Lawrence, a brother, A. J. Fulton, Iowa, a sister, Mrs. John Fulton, St. Thomas, and many other relatives in Southwold.

Mr. John McDermid was stricken with paralysis on Tuesday. His condition is not considered critical.

Master John Jackson, second son of Mr. Arthur Jackson, received a painful injury in a pulley recently. Two fingers of one hand had to be amputated.

The funeral of Mrs. Henry Young was held on Friday from her late residence, and was largely attended. Six members of the Oddfellows' lodge, of Sheddin, acted as pallbearers.

Mr. John Angle of Prince Rupert, B. C., is visiting friends here.

Miss M. McKillop has returned from Duluth.

Mr. A. Gillan, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Smith and Mr. B. P. Culver attended the excursion to Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. M. Landress and family spent Sunday with relatives here.

Miss Nancy Dewar passed away suddenly at her home here on Friday evening. About a week ago she had a paralytic stroke, but got around again. She was walking around when she fell to the floor and in a few minutes succumbed. The funeral was held in Knox Church on Monday, the Rev. Paul F. Langill conducting the services.

Miss Lydia Lethbridge and Mr. Wm. Connell, of Glencoe, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lethbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. M. Landress and family spent Sunday with relatives here.
