THE LONDON ADVERTISER Declares $50,000,000 Is Too Not One of Candidates Unreservedly Admits Him as Leader-Even Patenaude Forces May Not Make Dint in Bloc of Sixty-Five, Many Leaders Believe.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Reporter.

Quebec, Oct. 14 .- Quebec is becoming more and more a pivotal point in the present election.

There are people who say that there are earthquake tremors in Quebec, and that, just as a glacier "calves," so there will break off from the solid Quebec bloc of 65 a Conservative fragment of 20 or more.

Obviously that would be an event comparable in revolutionary political effect to the Nationalist insurrection of 1911 which defeated Sir Wilfrid Laurier and reciprocity.

What is happening in Quebec? Will the bloc remain solid? Will it suffer merely minor lesions? Will there be an earthquake?

To find some answer to these questions the writer has spent a week in the province which in 1921 was a plague spot for Mr Meighen. He has interviewed candidates, organ-izers and workers of both parties. He has seen the Hon P. J. Arthur Cardin, minister of marine, who is the Liberal general in the 41 consti-tuencies of the Montreal district, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, who is the Liberal field marshal in the 24 constituencies of the Quebec district

He has interviewed Oscar Gagnon chief organizer for Hon. E. L. Paten aude in Montreal, and C. J. Lockweil, the organizer in the Quebec area. He has talked with Armand Laergne and with lieutenants of Henri

He has attended meetings of both parties, got political reactions from both townsmen and habitants, and, though there are dozens of different forecasts as to the Quebec poll, will nonetheless venture on one absolute, unqualified prediction. Cannot Carry Single Seat.

If excessive. Conservative optimism in Quebec in insanity, Armand Lavergne was one of the lesser paranolacs. He said, "My figure is thirty. And Ernest Lapointe is one of the surest of our victims."

Sees Lavergne Losing Deposit. Hon. Phillippe Paradis, the Liberal organizer in the Quebec division of this Lavergne vaticination: "We shall lose very few seats, and the surest thing in the whole campaign is that Mr. Lavergne will lose his deposit." It is curious that twenty-five has been published in Ontario as the possible sum of Conservative—or perhaps it would be better to say, pro-tectionist—victories in Quebec. The writer found no one whose guess was an even 25.

The bluest—that is to say, the most optimistic "blues"—exceeded that estimate. The more moderate, that is, the workers who check the lists and know the intimate details of the campaign guessed well below 25.

At "Conservative" headquarters of St. James street, the opinion was that it would be rash optimism to expect more than 21 seats, the number gainmore than 21 seats, the number gained by Sauve against Taschereau in the provincial election of 1923. Their no plus ultra of ambition and maximum of probability was 21. Their plous hope and sanest surmise was that Mr. Patenaude would have 11 disciples. That was the view at headquarters and no doubt headquarters had the best "inside information" attainable.

It is probable that private opinions as to the Patenaude boom's likelihood of success are nearer the true facts than public orinions. Publicly, the Conservative Quebec prophets naturally exaggerate their real hopes, and the Liberal forecasters wish to allow for such Meighen is Anathema.

"You are perfectly safe in saying that Patenaude will not carry more than ten seats whatever happens, but if the truth comes out, he will not get any." This was the view of a 100 per cent Liberal candidate.

Both are legal opinions, and distinguished legal opinions. It would seem that Mr. Patenaude's political sincerity is on trial in Quebec, and the popular verdict all depends upon the evidence adduced and the skill with which the case is argued by the clever advocates Suspect Patenaude Is Puppet. If it is proved that Mr. Patenaude is a secret emissary, a silent partner of Mr. Meighen, it is admitted on all sides that his case is hopeless. Meighenism s a fatal political disease in Quebec. The wisest political doctors can find no cure for it-except a mask, an impenetrable mask. If, on the other hand, it is proved— as it is suspected—that Mr. Patenaude is a piece of political ventriloquism, a purpet set up by the Montreal Star and propped up by the Montreal Gazette, if French habitant and artisan find that his whisper of death is not a genuine cry from a true Quebec heart, but just the old familiar jeremiad of St. James street, then Quebec will flock to Ernes and Arthur Cardin as their authentic and native saviours. Sarnia, Ontario-- "After my girlie was born I was a wreck. My nerves were too terrible for words and I simply could not stand or walk with-out pains. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation but I was not in a fit condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? I'm sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills.' So I was advised by my hus-band to try it after I told him about it. I am very thankful to say that I was soon able to do my housework a little washing and also to take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people I know and have told them the good it has done me. I know I feel and look a different woman these last few months and I certainly would not be without a bottle of your medicine in the house. You can use this letter as you see fit as I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have done, to know what it has done for me."—Mrs. ROBERT G. MACGREGOR R. R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario.

Through neglect, some female troubles may reach a stage where an operation is necessary, but most of the common ailments are not surgical
