J. SMITE, Marysville. 678 Cle Weekly British Golonist. Wednesday February 15th 1871

The telegraphic news which we have been enabled to place before our readers. vesterday and to-day possesses more than since her great bereavem nt in 1861 our beloved Queen has opened Parliament in person—an event of no common interest to the people of the great metropolis—to of the earth and it is truly a telepise teasee to the circumstance of such a Comtous circumstance. one calling wofer national gratitude to Almighty God, that upon the occasion af her first return to the greatest state duty imposed upon the British Sovereign, the Queen should be enabled to congratulate Parliament upon the peaceful relations existing with other nations, at a time when two of the Great Powers of Burope have been engaged in one of the most terrible and exhau tive conflicts the world has ever witnessed, and when but itew crowned heads rest peacefully. Bat it is in the New World, at Washington, that events are evolving which most concern us as a nation, and especially as the new Empire of British America. It will have been observed that a proposition emanating from the British Government to refer the fishery and other questions between the United States and the Dominion of Canada to a Joint High Commission, to be appointed by both Governments and to sit at Washington, has been meet by a counter proposition, breathing an equally friendly spirit on the part of the United States Government, suggesting that not alone should those questions affecting the relations between the United States and bthe Dominion of Canada be referred to such a Commission, but that those differences which arose during the rebellion, generally known as the Alabama Claims, should also be referred as the removal of these would also be essential to the resi toration of cordial and amicable relations between the two Governments . Lt will also be observed that to this proposition Her Majesty's Government has acceded in the most promp; and graceful way. Not the least pleasing leature of the correspondence carried on by the tepre containes of the two Governments is the striking and barry contrast between the spirit exhibited on this occasion and that of former occasions, on the part of the United States, a change which augurs well for the work of the Commission. Take, for instance, President Grant's mate Message, 30 or 9 Senatur Samper's Venigere t proponciamento de Toe Cariboo Sentinel of ing 23th plt and secwhal d a secondaries of its sample the assisting of an exclusive privilege do use cise attitude of the two Governments to bear in mind the position in which the Alabams question was left when tormer efforts at a settlement were abandoned. It will be remembered that, in the hands of Reverdy Johnson, late American Minister to the Court of St James, negotiations assumed a very practical form and at one time gave fair promise and the British Minister made concession after concession, until the former expressed himself ratisfied, and the lafter declared that his Government had, in a spirit of concitiation and an earnest desire for paace, arrived at that point beyond which a sense of right and national honon forbade it to proceed. Thus a basis was pegotiated upon which it was hoped a esticiationy adjust, ment of the difficulty might be estatued. But it was rejected by Congress, and to the whole matter lansed leaving the question as far from settlement as ever. Under these circumstances, it was not for the British Government to resew negotiations, and so of speedy adjustment. The American Minister pressed point after point, it was announced that in any such renewal the initial step must be taken by the United Sates Government. When, berefers, a proposition to refer the fining and other questions between the United States and proposition and another the Alabama clause may be surfacted to the Alabama ness of the British Government that the face of previous negotiations left it in no position to make a proposition touching that question. Yet the proposition which it did

That the British Government Saxon Powers. That the British Government absence 1 has been all along sincere in its professions Passengers Per Pacific.—The following of a desire to have these differences removed and that I was like a coveril cost watting to be asked, may fairly be inferred from the Suronss, Jas Wm London, W W Miller, Mrs reception with which the proposition for the larger reference met at the bands of the British Covernment.
