

TORONTO'S BALL TEAM.

BUCHHEIMER BEATEN IN FIRST INTERNATIONAL GAME.

A Grand Contest—Mentioned Unexpectedly Defeated by Buffalo—Bryant's Game Away with Owns—More About the Game—George and Wins the Series of Three.

It is doubtful if Rochester, N.Y., ever looked better than on Saturday, when the home club and the Toronto team met to fight out their first contest at baseball of the International League series. The sun shone brightly overhead, the trees were in nearly full leaf, the roads were dry but not parched and over dusty and the people were in the style of summer. Culver Park, where the game took place, is a park only in name. Except for a few patches in the east the ground is entirely free of grass, the surface being a somewhat heavy loam. For baseball purposes, however, the ground is fairly well adapted, although there is scarcely room for a large audience, the crowd on Saturday flowing over into the playing field, and leading between facing little difficulty in finding the ball field over the fence. The stands if somewhat rough in construction are still convenient. They comprise two open, with seats for 500 people each, and one closed with a capacity for 1000. One great advantage Culver Park possesses, and that is the fact that it is through one of the pleasant parts of the city, being flanked on either side by shaded trees with elegant residences fronted by grassy lawns forming the framework in which the whole is set.

On Saturday possibly four thousand people, who took the liveliest interest in the proceedings, were present. Throughout they were eminently fair in their conduct and that of the players, impartial in their applause. Of course they were a bit warmer when a local man made a very brilliant play than when a Rochester representative distinguished himself, but the latter had no cause to complain, and what the general audience lacked in enthusiasm in his case was amply made up by the large delegation from Toronto, among whom were practically all the notable baseball men of the city. Mr. E. C. Cox, and the no less esteemed directors Messrs. Ryan, Lem Fisher, and Bert Bennett along with the omnipresent representatives of the press, who were the Torontoites words of praise for the audience, but for the Directors of the Rochester, who are among the leading business men of the city, and their worthy President no complaint can be made. They were simply laying in their hands a trophy which they were a little disappointed at the result, but it made no difference in the harmony and good feeling manifested from the beginning.

The game was not for a clock, and shortly before half the Toronto, representing in their uniforms of the day, appeared on the field for ten minutes practice. They were warmly greeted by the crowd, and the light gray pants, shirt and cap and dark maroon stockings took the place of the familiar white of the previous season. The new uniforms were a decided improvement, and the players were in high spirits. The game was a very close one, and the Toronto team was in a very bad way, and the Rochester team was in a very good way. The game was a very close one, and the Toronto team was in a very bad way, and the Rochester team was in a very good way.

lived, to the surprise and delight of the crowd, with a two-bagger to right field into the crowd and Hackett put to flight. Vane, and to be outdone, made the longest hit of the day, a three-bagger, between center field and left field, sending home both Hackett and Hackett and scoring two runs for the home club. Hackett, getting Morrison's penalty for holding everything that came in his way, acted in his direction. Kennedy sacrificed to short and Vane came in, while the former got safely to first. Kennedy made a base on a fly and Hackett came in, while the former got safely to first. Kennedy made a base on a fly and Hackett came in, while the former got safely to first.

Neither side increased their score in the last three innings, but they were full of anxiety for the Toronto, who feared that their opponent might pull through. Like the little man that he is, Hackett was the best and best determinedly supported by the field held them down. In the Toronto seventh, O'Connell struck out, Albert grounded to second, Morrison got his base on balls and a fly from Pats was taken by Hackett. Vane once more covered himself with glory by skillfully taking a magnificent fly to left field. Hackett and Vane both struck out from Hackett. Hackett and Vane both struck out from Hackett. Hackett and Vane both struck out from Hackett.

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

DESERVES TO BE HIGHLY RECOMMENDED.

I have made a very careful analysis of CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER, bought from grocers in this city, and have found it to be perfectly pure, and manufactured from the best quality of Cream of Tartar and other materials. It is entirely free from Alum, Acid Phosphates, Terra Alba and other substances, which are frequently used for the manufacture and adulteration of Baking Powders; and on account of its purity and healthful constituents deserves to be highly recommended.
