WHAT IS LOVE. What is love? I asked a maiden, Beaming bright in beauty's sky. Love she knew, and with it laden, Wore the arrows in her eye ; Blushes soft came o'er her stealing Low her words of music fell :-Love's a strange delicious feeling, What it is I cannot tell.'

What is love ? I asked a mother, Bending o'er her first-born child ; ... O! the bliss she could not smother, As she looked at me and smiled. Something holier than pleasure

Lit the fire within her eyes, God had given her a treasure Aud she loved the holy prize What is love ? I asked the glory

Of my household and my life, When in after years the story Of my passion won a wife ; Deep in mine her glances glowing, Burned with love and golden glee, While her arms around me thrwoing Kisses sweet she gave to me.

What is love ! O, brightest angel ! Wilt thou not thy self unroll-Lo! I feel thy soft evangel Stir the waters of my soul : Love is joy divinely given To the souls of earth again, I Binding heart to heart and heaven, With God's own electric chain. [Waverly Magazine.

THE WORLD'S FAIR. We take the following from the New-Brunswicker, which says that the London Times speaking of the Great Exhibition, thus notices our Province :-

. We see no specimen of Coal from Cana da, and if the absence of such correctly leads us to conclude that no basin of that mineral has yet been discovered in the province, we may assure the Canadians that they will some day be made aware of the importance of con day necting themselves more closely with New Brunswick and Nova-Scotta; where this mi neral is abundant. Without cheap fuel, of etrong quality and small bulk, the processes of smelting, lorging, and raising steam can be carried on only in disadvantage, and the industry of Canada must be exercised princi-pally on raw material, until she puts h-reel-

paily on raw material, unit she post in a position to command a good supply of that all powerful stimulator-coal The sister province of New Brunswick has not been entirely idle, amid the general excitement, to contribute to the show try of all nations ; but this is all that we can eav, inasmuch as the samples of iron ore, manganese, plumbago, and pitch coal, which compose her entire list of mineral specimens. are most paltry as an index of the mineral wealth which really exists in that fine Province. fertile, and is covered with fine forests. - Two-thirds of her boundary line are formed by the sea ; and, as a consequence of these conditi

THE MEETING OF CATHOLICS IN DUBLIN: RIOTS, &c. The aggregate meeting of the Catholics of the United Kingdom was held in the Ro-unda at Dublin, on Tuesday, and led, as was expected, to several scenes of violence All business was suspended, the ships in the river were decorated with flags, & large bodies of police (some of them from London) were posted in different parts of the city. The day previous several cases were heard before the police magistrate, relative to the posting and defacing of several placards. The agents of the Prostestiant' Association issued a pla-card against the assumption of the ecclesiasti-cal titles by the Catholic archb shops. The Catholics prevented there bills from being posted, upon which the Revd Mr. Gregg

Vacant SEATS — In a recent debate, the Solic-tor-General (in W. Page Wood) said :— "With regard to keeping the seats empty after service and begun, no person had a right to do so, wheth-er they were paid for or not. He knew a case is which a person holding a pew in church objected to having any person admitted into his pew, and used to put a padheck upon the door, and come himself after the service had begun. The clergy-man, however, had the padhock taken off, and put persons into the pew, when it was empty at the commencement of service, and he was upheld by the Courts in that course "
