

Figure 5.2

Schematic diagram of possible deposition pathways for the major acidic species. The middle column depicts processes or steps along the pathway prior to deposition. The horizontal arrows depict deposition processes for the various species: to the left indicates dry deposition; to the right indicates wet deposition. Heavy lines represent important pathways and broken lines represent uncertain ones.