

- "The New Protectionism, Controls and the International Order", (mimeo) in Ryan Ammacher et.al (eds): Challenges to a Liberal International Economic Order.
- "International Economic Order. Can the Trend be Reversed?", 5 The World Economy, No. 1, March 1982.
- "The Contribution of Economics to International Disorder", 3 The World Economy, No. 4, January, 1981.
- "Salvation Through Cartels? On the Renewal a Myth", 1 The World Economy, 1978, No.4.
- "Need for an Open Multilateral Trading System", 6 The World Economy, No. 4, December 1983.

Victor, A. Paul. "Anti-dumping and Antitrust: Can the Inconsistencies be Resolved?" New York University Journal of International Law and Politics, 15 (1983): 339-50.

Viner, Jacob. Dumping, A Problem in International Trade, "Reprints of Economic Classics" -- New York: Kelley, 1966. Includes Viner's Memorandum on Dumping (League of Nations, 1926) and "Dumping", Encyclopedia of Social Sciences.

Walter, Ingo. 'Protection of Industries in Trouble -- the Case of Iron and Steel', The World Economy, May 1979.

Wasserman, Jack Gumpert. "Injury From Dumping: The Problem of the 'Regional Industry' ", Georgia Journal of International and Comparative Law, 9 (1970): 469-94.

U.S. GOVERNMENT

Tariff Commission, Report to the Senate Finance Committee, 90th Congress, 1968.

Commission on International Trade and Investment Policy, United States International Economic Policy in an Interdependent World, 1971.

Tariff Commission, Information Concerning Dumping and Unfair Competition in the United States and Canada's Anti-Dumping Law, 1919.

Report of the White House Task Force on Antitrust Policy, (Neal Report), 1969.

U.S. Federal Trade Commission, Comment by the Federal Trade Commission's Bureau of Competition, Bureau of Consumer Protection, and Bureau of Economics on Countervailing Duty Investigations before the United States Department of Commerce, In the Matter of Certain Steel Products from Belgium, Brazil, the Federal Republic of Germany, France, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Romania, South Africa, Spain, and the United Kingdom, May 1982.