SUCCESS OF PARCEL POST.

During the first month of the operation of the United States parcel post cels were carried, and the number has been and is steadily rising. The late postmaster-general in December on a conservative estimate placed the parto the utmost, they would not exceed a million. As matter of fact seven mililon nackages were carried the first week, and the public have in every possible way shown their appreciation of the service. On its part the department has proved itself no less progressive. A special delivery system has been inaugurated, and by the first of July it will include a cash on delivery service by which the carrier will

Even as it was, that revision of the constitution was only accomplished after the proclamation in 1893 of a general strike and the threat proved sufficient to induce the house of representatives to accept manhood suffrage tempered by the plural vote. A second vote was conferred on fathers of families possessed of a certain amount of property, and a second and third to persons with certain educational or professional qualifications. In addition, and to ensure that the higher classes should exercise their full influence, voting was made compulsory. In 1900, proportional representation was introduced.

For years the Socialist and Progressive parties in Belgium have been agitating for manhood suffrage, pure and simple, the plural vote having operated directly in strengthening the power of the small Catholic landowners and the priesthood. Serious riots broke out in the spring of 1902, and a general strike in the coal districts was begun but collapsed at an early stage. The system no less than forty million par- latest attempt to compel suffrage reform has been simmering since the parliamentary elections of 1912, which resulted in the defeat of the Liberal and Socialist coalition by the Clericels to be handled the first week at cals, who have since refused to conhalf a million, and, stretching his guess sider any measure depriving them of the advantage of the plural vote. As the government has failed to do anything to remove, the impasse, it looks as tho the struggle will now be forced to an issue.

It will be much to the city's interests to have a new order of things in the handling of the city's finances. There has been in the last year or so, to put it mildly, a good deal of ineptitude in dealing with city's money. Whether this is due to the rapid growth of the city and the immense increase in the city's revenue and expenditure, it is needless to enquire. It is not so very long since the city officials began to think in seven figures. The aldermen of that period have
