

King, Rufus, Mass., attends, 17; favors revisionary power of executive, 68; moves reconsideration of mode of appointing executive, 79; favors eligibility of executive for second term, 285, 314; fears short term for executive, 288; opposes impeachability of executive, 291, 293; thinks State legislatures may vote for executive, 313; suggests twenty years' term for executive, 314; wishes to postpone question of election of executive, 317; moves that electors be not office holders, 518; favors change of clause relative to reelection of President, 519; thinks President should have pardoning power over treason, 571; on principle of representation, 29; thinks choice of members of second branch of legislature by State legislatures impracticable, 34; moves right of suffrage in first branch should be based on equitable ratio, 84; passed, 88; opposes election to first branch of legislature by legislatures, 143; opposes State compensation of legislature, 147; opposes ineligibility of members of first branch of legislature to office, 150, 152; opposes fixing representation, 214; on committee on representation, 215, 226; thinks South entitled to representation for slaves, 226; reports on representation, 226; objects to basis of representation, 235; opposes blacks as three-fifths in representation, 239; would not tie legislatures in fixing representation, 244; favors limiting representation, 251; moves vote per capita in Senate, 309; thinks legislature need meet seldom, 348; opposes slave representation, 358; thinks legislature should regulate elections, 372; favors less than a majority for a quorum, 377; agrees to number for a quorum, 377; moves sole power over treason in legislature, 433; moves ineligibility of members of legislature to new offices, 504; lost, 506; seconds motion for ineligibility of members of legislature for new or increased offices, 506; moves legislature consent to purchase forts, 513; thinks influence of small States balanced, 517; defends Senate, 529; opposes change in representation, 568; favors increased representation, 579; opposes power of judiciary to negative legislative acts, 51; favors inferior tribunals in national legislature, 61; objects to rule for yeas and nays, 18; favors ratification of constitution by conventions, 59; discusses national government, 130; expects delegates from New Hampshire, 190; opposes State sovereignty, 197; censures Bedford, 200; favors admission of new States, 214; thinks New Hampshire will increase, 226; says government will act on people, 254; favors ratification by conventions, 308; opposes landed property as qualification for office, 328; moves seat of government be fixed, 381; favors assumption of State debts, 421; thinks unlocated lands should be given up, 422; on grand committee on assumption of State debts, 423; thinks definition of treason unimportant, 432; asks definition of direct taxation, 435; thinks taxation by representation unnecessary, 437; opposes slavery provision, 446; on committee on navigation acts, 448; explains power over militia, 451; thinks slave trade dependent on navigation laws, 468; thinks new States must observe contracts, 478; opposes power to tax exports with consent of States, 481; favors ratification by all States, 496; favors ratification by conventions, 497; on committee on postponed measures, 502; moves limitation on treaties affecting rights, 532; moves to strike out provision concerning treaties of peace, 532; on committee on style, 538; would submit constitution to Congress, 542; thinks Congress need not approve constitution, 543; opposes suspension from office of persons impeached, 561; favors appointment of Treasurer by legislature, 562; thinks power to grant charters of incorporation unnecessary, 564; thinks publication of expenditures impracticable, 566; suggests disposal of journals of convention, 582.

Knox, Henry, extract of letter to George Washington, 585.

Lands, fund from western, 162; power over, 420.

Langdon, John, N. H., attends, 303; favors committing question of executive, 324; President ought to be chosen by general voice, 462; moves to strike out clause dis-