LIBERTY HALL.

At The Theaters try would be the stronger for it. Its cheerfulness is contaglous and its optimism can be applied and practiced without the instrumentation of crystal gazing, cat's eyes or East Indian metaphysics. That's where "Pollyanna" is different from the plays of Augustus Thomas, "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," and other plays of optimism of the Neo-Platonist school, which, back of their undeniably wholesome influence, have been largely made subservient to propaganda purposes for new religious propaganda purposes for new religious ults. "Pollyanna" is a play of the people and for the people, for the great masses of the people who want to be cheered and helped without taking post-graduate courses in ancient and modern philosophy. Pollyanna's father had counted the number of "be glad's" in the Bible, and found the number was so great that he just couldn't help but believe that God, really truly, meant human beings to be glad. Nearly everybody today recognizes that faith and joy are curative agencies to a greater or less extent, and faith and joy in wholesome simplicity constitute the keynote of "Pollyanna." People get well by playing the miracle-working "glad game." Hearts are healed of old griefs and wounds. Even a little girl's freckles disappear because she prays long enough that they will. Miss Westman is well supported by a capable cast. John King-John, as Jummy Bean, is a talented boy actor, and James Kyrle MacCurdy, as Dr. Chilton, shows exceptional ability. Pacie Ripple is quite satisfactory as John Pendleton.

May Thatcher Richards is a different Aunt Polly to the type depicted in the picturized version of the play, but interprets this role very well. Augusta Durgeon, as Nancy, the kind-hearted Irish maid; Bernice Belknap, as Mrs. Carmody, and Florence Davenport, as Miss Carroll, "Ladies' Aiders," give creditable support. Fairly good work is accomplished by Frank B. McDonald, as Jimmy Bean, at the age of 17, and by Harry Wilson, as Eleeker, the manservant.

"Pollyanna" will be repeated this olorful character parts ever penned by a playwright. ### Who Shall be the U.S. PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES?

The Literary Digest Is Asking

ELEVEN MILLION VOTERS

TO NAME THEIR CHOICES FOR BOTH GREAT PARTIES

The Greatest Poll Ever Taken in the History of the United States

INDIVIDUAL BALLOTS have been sent by mail to Eleven Million Voters throughout the United States-almost two-thirds of the total Presidential vote of 18,529,902 cast in the last national election, in 1916.

Every ballot is malled in an envelope, addressed with pen and ink, and delivered through the United States Postoffice personally to the voter addressed. Return postage on the ballot is prepaid, and the voter has only to, check or write the name of his or her Party and first and second choices for Presidential candidates, with no other mark of identification, and then drop this Secret Ballot in the nearest letter-box or Postoffice. Thus every vote cast is absolutely the free, uninfluenced, secret choice of the voter, unknown to anyone but the voter himself or herself.

The eleven million ballots have been mailed to ALL CLASSES OF VOTERS in all States and all communities in the Nation with complete impartiality. They include businessmen, merchants, farmers, manufacturers, railroad employees, bankers, clerks, builders, contractors, superintendents, managers, carpenters, plasterers, plumbers, painters, mechanics, printers, miners, steel workers, workers in every trade and branch of industry, both union and non union, professional men and women of all classes, including lawyers, doctors, clergymen, authors, actors, newspapermen, dentists, engineers, educators. architects, musicians, etc.; in short, all the classes of men and women who make up the voting population in all parts of the country.

This Great National Poll, Therefore, Will Be the

REAL VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

That Political Leaders and Conventions Will Heed

No propaganda of any kind as to party, candidate, or issues is connected with this great popular Presidential Primary. THE LITERARY DIGEST has no political axe to grind, and the absolutely impartial and non-partisan nature of the poll is guaranteed and protected in the most complete manner. It is the duty of all men and women to have their own opinions on the problems that now face their country and to express those opinions in the choice of their President in the approaching conventions and national election. This unofficial Presidential Primary, the greatest and most representative ever conducted in the history of America, will serve as a vehicle for the unhampered expression of popular opinion, and will have a very large influence on the nominating conventions of both great parties.

WATCH THIS POLL IN

BEGINNING IN THE ISSUE OF APRIL 17TH, the returns from this national poll will be recorded, summarized and analyzed, State by State, through successive numbers up to the actual meeting of the great conventions in Chicago and San Francisco. These reports will have unique and decisive interest for political leaders, the press, and citizens of the whole country, and will be awaited eagerly. DIGEST readers, of course, will get them first, and in the most complete detail.

At the same time, and all through the year, THE LITERARY DIGEST will be gathering carefully and reporting all the facts and opinions on all sides bear-Ing upon the great problems and issues which are being discussed, and which must be settled by the national election. THE LITERARY DIGEST is wonderfully equipped for this service by a system built up at great expense through many years of careful work, and reaching into thousands of newspaper and periodical offices in all parts of the world. The reader can depend upon THE LITERARY DIGEST with absolute certainty, as it reveals, from week to week, free from all prejudice and partisanship, the real state of the Nation's mind, the real facts affecting all issues, and the progress of all the great problems toward settlement.
