The Immense Sale of Oriental Rugs Offers Values and Still More Values

As Witness the Anatolian, Serapis, Mahals and Mosuls Specially Featured for Tuesday

Not only the values, but its most comprehensive nature, make this far and away the most remarkable sale of Oriental carpets ever held in the Store. There is scarcely a modern rug made in Asia Minor but is represented, there being a special purchase from the Oriental Carpet Manufacturers, Ltd., of London, on the closing of their Canadian branch, and in addition are many Persian and Turkish rugs from our own huge stock, including a few antiques.

As examples of the tremendous reductions the following have been specially selected for Tuesday:—
Anatolian rugs—remarkable by reason of the fine silky wool used, giving them a peculiar velvety sheen, so that with wear they become almost iridescent. The majority show a medallion centre with corners to correspond, the ground work being filled in with a wealth of light feathery design. Size and prices of the Tuesday specials are:
