FEBRUARY hath 28 Days.

Yet Winter's ravages are seen, Encircling nature far and wide; The fields that once appear'd in green, Beneath the snow their verdure hide.

" He that would live at peace and rest, Must hear, and see, and say the best."

Expose not the imperfections and failings of your neighbours. Let detraction alone, unless you would bring trouble upon yourself. "I knew it would be so," said old Tittletattle, "and it is good enough for him. Mr. Peakabo and I have seen and heard more than every one thinks of!" Shoh ! shoh ! old busybody ! you had better mind your own concerns, and take head to your own ways, than thus to squint and belie your neighbours. No character is more to be detested than it, at of an eaces dropper,—Come, let us attend to our own windows, and if they are stuffed with old rags, out with them, and as "I mem for glass, which then ow cheap enough. Is your barn tight and snug? Cattue should be kept warm and comfortable; and you have heard that "a merciral man is merciful to his beast." Do not then forget gallant and golding, bughorn and lineback, switchtail and shortdock. Never mind the storm, Ben, it will be all over in dog days- Fine sledding, when you have agood teamo.
