ause of the old State Athletic Comssion's dissatisfaction with the conduct of the sport, wrestling interest here failed rapidly. The result was that the season of 1922-28 was per-mitted to slip into history with only a minimum of wrestling matches and none of outstanding importance. Sev-eral matches have been held this season to date, and there have been indiions that the sport would return to opular favor.

popular favor. The boxing authorities also approv-ed the plan introduced last Friday night of providing alternate judges at important boring matches. It was de-cided to make this a permanent arrangement, so that in the future for important ring matches as many as three and four judges and a similar number of referees will be assigned to a particular card of bouts if the situa-tion justifies such action, instead of the two judges and two referees as has been customary in the past. Through been customary in the past. Through this medium the commission expects to minimize the complaint of boxing spectators on unsatisfactory decisions. Last Friday night at Madison Square Garden the plan was put into op ra-tion for the first time when Patsy Haley replaced J. Gearin in the judges' box for the Greb-Wilson bout.

Another step in its move to improve boxing and safeguard particapants in the sport was taken when the commis-sion adopted a resolution demanding of all clubs in the State that in the future emergency first aid rooms be provided for the examination and provided for the examination and treatment of boxers or spectators in-jured or taken ill at boxing bouts. The resolution as adopted specifies that in these emergency rooms complete hos-pital equipment must be provided, in-cluding a first aid klt, stretcher and blankets, and that the room set aside for emergency, medical treatment be kept properly heated and clean. The ninety-day suspension inflicted upon Johnny Brown, local boxer, for infrcation of the commission's boxing regulations several weeks ago was re-duced to thirty days.
