Manson Campbell

THE FAMOUS CHATHAM FANNING MILL

It Pays to go to the Best.

Dear Sir: Having taken an evening term in your school in the winter of '97 and '98 when you first came to Chatham, and since, having had ample opportunity of judging of the work you are doing, it is a pleasure to me to recommend your school, not only to those contemplating a course of business training, but also to business men requiring office help. Business men who have experienced the annoyance of testing a lot of incompetents, when fresh office help is needed will be glad to employ by applying to you. From experience I can say, "None but the worthy will be recommended."

I have had six of your pupils in my office, four of whom are still with me and each and every one of them has proved himself a competent and efficient office man. Your graduates are not mere theorists, as I believe is the case with too many of the graduates of other business colleges, but know their business and are prepared to handle their work as experienced bookkeepers and stenographers. It will always be a pleasure to me to speak a good word for your school when an opportunity is afforded me.

Yours sincerely,
Manson Campbell
Chatham, Ont.

OLDEST SOVEREIGN.

Grand Duke Adolph. of Luxembourg, is now 82 Years of Age.

He is the Rightful Owner of the Name Being the Most Aged of all Rulers.

In connection with the eighty-second birthday, which took place on the 24th of July, the oldest sovereign in Europe, H. R. H. the Grand Duke of Luxembourg, who publish a portrait specially taken for this occasion. Among most people the belief has prevailed that the Queen of England or the King of Denmark is the oldest sovereign, but the Grand Duke of Luxembourg and Duke of Nassau is now 82, whilst King Christian attained his eighty-first birthday on April 8, the Queen having been 80 on May 24. But, on the other hand, the Grand Duke was one of the last sovereigns to ascend the throne; in fact, when he did so, seven years ago last November, the Queen of England had reigned 55 years. However, Prince Adolph had ascended the throne of Nassau as far back as 1839, but was driven therefrom by the victorious Prussians in 1866. The then Duke of Nassau married, in 1844, Grand Duchess Elizabeth Michailowna of Russia, who died in the following year, and, secondly, the present Grand Duchess, Princess Adelaide of Anhalt, in 1851. Of the latter marriage there are two children, the hereditary Grand Duke William and Princess Hilda. The latter is the wife of the hereditary Grand Duke of Baden, and childless; the former married, in 1894, Infanta Maria Anna of Braganza, and of this marriage there are three daughters. It would therefore seem that by some strange irony of fate the crown and splendid domains of Luxembourg may at some future time revert to the Dutch crown, whence they were separated on the accession of Queen Wilhelmina in 1890; for, whilst a woman may reign in Holland, she cannot do so in Luxembourg. During the seven years of the Grand Duke's reign he has done much to embellish his quaint capital of Luxembourg, which had been so sadly neglected by the Dutch kings; and the Luxemburgers, who have little in common with the Dutch, are charmed at having their own sovereign and being an "independent nation."

THAT VITAL SPOT.

The prize fighter always aims for the vital spot in the body. When he reaches it, as Fitzsimmons did with Corbett, the other man is knocked out. To protect the vital points of the body is the first care of the fighter.

The stomach is the vital spot to be protected against the deadly blows of that universal pugilist called consumption.

If it is permitted to get out of order—if the blood becomes full of impurities, if the system is allowed to run down—it won't be long until consumption will find the "opening" and deal its fatal blow.

Golden Medical Discovery, the non-alcoholic remedy for the stomach, blood and nerves. Take it for lingering coughs, colds, bronchitis, weak and bleeding lungs. It has cured so many thousands that it will also cure you. Don't under any circumstances permit the medicine dealer to induce you to take some other remedy. There are many substitutes on the market, but none of them possess the power to cure like "Golden Medical Discovery."

It has been ten months since he stopped taking your medicine and he is still in good health."
