Sortie From Ladysmith

Seven Men Were Killed and Twelve Wounded on Monday.

Boers Are Believed to Be Getting Supplies Through Delagoa Bay.

It is Hinted the British Fleet May Occupy Lorenzo Marquez

Associated Press.)

London, Dec. 22.-The only news from South Africa of the slightest importance up to 3 p.m. to-day is the report of Ladysmith's ability to hold out for some time to come, and Gen. Methuen's message of yesterday evening, which, though undated, permits the assumption that his communications have not been cut.

Enthusiastic Volunteers.

There is no dimination of the enthusiasm among the volunteers. All kinds of offers are reaching Lord Chesham, who is to command the mounted volunteers. Members of the Stock Exchange have already promised 100 horses from Ladysmith. their stables, and an offer of an Irish contingent of 115 hunting men was accepted this mroning.

---It is Believed Boers Are Being Supplied With Ammunition and Recruits by Dr. Leyds.

New York, Dec. 22.-A Herald's London dispatch says:

"There is much anxiety here as to the situation in South Africa, and the painful nervous tension grows more acute as the ominous silence continues. "There is a grave suspicion that the Boers are being amply supplied with food, munitions of war and recruits sent by Dr. Leyds and permitted to enter the United States. He says: "It is most astonishing that intelligent business men, who know anything of our history, should ignore the inextricable nvolvement of all our financial affairs with those of Great Britain. History shows that whenever Great Britain has been involved in a serious war, as 1854 and 1857, panic and disaster save occurred in the United States."

In discussing President Kruger, Mr. Shearman says: "The plain, obvious truth, which no one can fail to see, is that Paul Kruger is a corrupt, unscruulous, treacherous despot."

In regard to the retreat, the story says that while Gen. Symons lay dying of his wounds, Yule learned that the troopers of the 18th Hussars, who had gone so confidently in pursuit the night before, had fallen into a trap and been taken prisoners almost to a man. Annihilation stared Yule in the face. To save his force there was no course open but to abandon his wounded, his supplies, stores and his accoutrements and take refuge in flight toward the main force under Sir George Stewart White at

Dangerous Indians

rcw Escape of White Men.

For several years the Indians residing in the Chicotin country have given the authorities considerable trouble owing to their ill-concealed dislike for the whites and their resentment of their encrouchments of their ancestral domain. This disaffection among the redskins has been most marked in the vicinity of Tatla lake, where the tribesmen have repeatedly manifested a dangerous tendency which has excited the apprehensions of the whites residing there. Situated at a remote distance from the centres where the authority of the law is almost daily exemplified to the natives, the Chilcotin country has furnished a fine field for the operations of those idle Indians who are constantly engaged in inciting their countrymen to forcibly drive the pale faces out of their country. Two years ago they succeeded to such an extent that the murderous instincts of the tribesmen were excited, and a 16th last, while addressing probably the The authorities pursued the cullprit and captured him and a life sentunce of imprisonment was imposed by the court. This had a healthy effect in curbing the tendencies of the rebellious tribesmen, and they have been comparatively quiet until this fall, when their old vindictiveness against the stranger has again broken out. The present trouble began shout th first of last month, the immediate caus. being the action of Mr. B. Frankin, Tath Lake, who commenced the ere tion of a fence around a track of lan which he had acquired there. Short after he commenced his work, the Indians began showing themselves in considerable numbers and strongly objected to his carrying out his original plan. The ground for their objection was set forth by one of the ringleaders who, in a threatening way, informed Mr. Franklin that his people owned all of the Tatla Lake country, and did not want any white men there. They capped their threats by threatening to burn his fence and to drive off his cattle. Mr. Franklin attempted to reason with the men, and proceeded with his work, thinking that a bold showing would de-One of their chiefs then repeated the Sales: warning, and was informed that if he carried out his threat he would be put in jail and punished. Elkins is a brother of the man who was murdered by the same Indians about two years ago, and his presence may have bad some influence in exciting still further the passions of the Indians. Seeing that the question had bocome one of life and death, the two men made an attempt to drive their enemie off the ground, and a fight ensued The bucks secured a number of axe which were lying about the ranch, and as they far outnumbered the white men the latter were soon compelled to seek refuge in the cabin. Into this they rushed, slamming the door after them and barricading it hastily, for the blood of the natives was now up, and they knew that they would stop at nothing stort of their extermination. They were not a moment too soon. They had scarcely socured the door when the screeching Indians were upon them, and finding the door barricaded they started pounding upon it with their axes. Elkins levelled his ride upon them and threatened that if they pensisted he would shoot. The door gave way, but the Indians became frightenel at the resolute manner of the two white men at bay and withdrew.

A start was then made for Alexis Creek, where the provincial constable Landon Dec. 22.-Sir Thomas Lipton for the district, Robt, Pyper, 's stationed. Franklin and Elkins, however, had only gone about three miles when they found their further progress barred by the tribe, who had made their stay at Tatla Lake such an unn'easant experience. The Indians were armed with rifles and prepared to attack the travellers who now gave themselves up for lost. Fortunately the excited Indians were dissuaded from their purpose by the friendly offices of a more d'screet native, who intervened and succeeded in inducing them to allow the travellers to proceed on their way. The men arrived at Alex's Creek on the 16th prox. and there notified the authorities of what had taken place. Was rants were taken out for the apprehen sion of the culprits, and recent intelli gence from the district indicates tha they will be speedily brought to justic and probably taught a salutary am much needed lesson in the observance of
