BURNING OF ROME REPEATED

BURNING OF ROME REPEATED AT THE UNIQUE AS PICTURE EXTRA. EXTRA.

Such has been the enthusiastic comments in regard to the Nero picture now being shown at the Unique the management, in response to what appears popular demand, has arranged to show the great feature again as an extra and additional subject from the regular programme. The latter will include Edison's most important release of recent months, "The Fishing Industry of Gloucester, Mass." The sea scenes in connection with the depiction of the interesting scenes are said to rival the very best productions of this nature ever shown, and the educational and industrial importance of the subject, combined with the attractiveness mentioned, goes to make up a most interesting film. Mrs. Tufts has, to use a slang phrase, decidedly "caught on," and her encores for every appearance are indications of approval satisfactory alike to both singer and management. Remember that this is absolutely the last opportunity of seeing Nero, so come today sure.

ORPHEUM HAS SECURED A GREAT ACT.

The apparent misfortune which befell the Orpheum Monday resulted most satisfactorily after all, as although the act announced was withdrawn, it has opened the way for the engagement of a very remarkable and engagement of a very remarkable and engagement of in the person of Signor Maximo, a wire performer of wonderful attainments, whose first performance last evening resulted in a distinct success. His comedy on the wire is indeed tich, and includes both the execution of the cake walk and several similar sturts, all of which were performed with apparent grace and ease. The act also includes the merit of decided novelty, and Orpheum patrons who fail to see Maximo will have missed a good opportunity.

In the Police Court yesterday afternoon the preliminary examination of James Seal was continued. The chief operator at the New Brunswick Telephone Company's central office, where Seal worked for a time, identified as belonging to herself a purse which was found in Seal's possession. Another lady operator identified several other articles, which were found in Seal's possession, as the property of some of the telephone girls. She had seen them with the articles in question frequently The prisoner was then further remanded until Friday, morning at 11 o'clock, when the hearing will be continued.

Because Undertaker Chamberlain did not think his condition such as to warrant the payment to him of his wages for digging a grave, a bibulous individual who had made his demands and his intentions known over a wide area, threatened last evening to put the coffin store on the blink. As he was looking around for something to smash in the plate glass window with he was interrupted by Policemen Totten and Ira Perry, who took him to the North End police station. His name was not inscribed in the police court books for he could not tell it.

A. S. Burchill of Montreal, Canadian representative of the Canadian Gazette of London, England, is in the city, interesting the civic and provincial authorities in an idea of using this publication to advertise the city and province, from an industrial standpoint. It is understood that the proposition comprises, if advertising spaces are purchased in the Gazette, that regular news letters from the city or province or both will be published. The idea is generally favored, and the opinion prevalent is that both will take advantage of the proposition.
