THE HYDRO QUESTION.
The Standard has not, as our readers have noticed, taken any prominent part in the discussion of the Hydro-Electric question; we have preferred to wait until some reliable and impartial information was available regarding it, which might safely be taken as a basis upon which to form an intelligent opinion. Such criticism and advice as has been offered to the city down to the present time has been wholly ex parte and one-sided. Our three city contemporaries being tied to the tail of the Provincial Government machine have necessarily been compelled to maintain the Government's view point and assist its efforts to sell the power which it says it has for sale. Mr. Herbert Phillips is the engineer and contractor who has had the construction of the works in hand, and who is probably hoping to get further contracts on some other rivers at a future date. He is not a Hydro-electric engineer. At all Mr. Ross is a member of the Hydro Commission, and like Mr. Phillips would not be expected to say anything that is not favorable to the Commission's views. Mr. Phillips, neither of them lay in the least likely to say one word that would cast the slightest doubt as to the capacity of the Marquis undertaking to do all that it is claimed it should do. They are in the position of vendors, who are not going to belittle their wares.

Now who and what is Mr. R. A. Ross who as an independent outsider has been called in to advise the City Council on the matter? Mr. Ross is the senior partner of the former engineering firm of Ross & Holgate of Montreal, the dean of the engineering profession in Canada, and a man whose professional standing and integrity place him above suspicion. He has no interest whatever in the Hydro-Electric question as it concerns the City of St. John; there is absolutely no inducement whatever for him to make any other report than an unbiased one. That his report should be pulled to pieces by Mr. Phillips and Mr. Ross and our city contemporaries is only to be expected; it is the work of the former and the expenditure of the Government of upwards of $2,000,000 that he criticises. It becomes either Mr. Phillips or Mr. Ross to throw stones at a man of Mr. Ross's standing and with the reputation of Mr. Ross, who is concerned with the hydro undertaking only in so far as he was called upon to give an honest opinion on a professional matter in which he is a recognized expert.

That public interest in this hydro question should be keen is to be expected, because all citizens are anxious to get their light and power at the lowest rates possible; but before making any change in existing conditions, it would be as well to make sure that in making such change, they are not falling out of the frying pan into the fire. This is the point that all who are interesting themselves in the matter must bear in mind. If the city should arrange to take current from the Commission, it will have to install a distributing system which will entail a capital expenditure of a million and a half, without including operating costs. Facing as it does at the present time, a period of difficult tax collection, and the necessity for the closest supervision of expenditures in small as well as in large amounts, no scheme which will involve the increasing of the city's debt, and which an expert on the national standing shows will all but undertake, afford any relief from the exactions of the Power Company, should receive the serious attention of the City Council, which has acted wisely and well in refusing to be stampeded into an undertaking such as has been advocated by many persons, who have not had the opportunity hitherto to get an unbiased expression of opinion from a recognized expert of the standing of Mr. Ross.

It is only cheap talk to say as our contemporaries are saying that the Provincial Government stands behind the Hydro-Commission's offer. The Government is in that position that it would cheerfully and light-heartedly offer to stand behind any arrangement if only it could thereby transfer the load that it has taken upon itself to some other shoulders. The Government has incurred a debt of upwards of $2,000,000 upon which it must get interest and sinking fund from somewhere. But is that any reason why the City of St. John should be made the goat? Is it going to be a paying proposition for the city to take over current from the Commission and distribute it to consumers at a cost of 7.50 cents per k.w.h. and have the Power Company as a competitor? The

One feature of the Marquis development scheme, all references to which seem to be studiously ignored, is the fact that one of the Dominion officials were in this district gauging the flow of the river as a test for suitability for power production; they gauged the Logreux and Magaguavic rivers, but an inspection of the Marquis brought them to the conclusion that it was utterly useless for hydro development, on account of the very small body of water available. Yet this is the river that the Hydro-Electric Commission chose for experimentation.

WHAT OTHERS SAY
Canada at Genoa.
(Ottawa Journal.)
For two reasons the Journal is glad to see Canada in a position to be represented at Genoa. We are glad (1) because matters of Canadian interest are to be discussed there, and (2) because our countrymen are to be seen triumph over those in the Cabinet who have preached the unwise doctrine that Canada should hold aloof from European affairs. It is a matter of record that, when in Opposition, many distinguished Liberals, notably Mr. Peadar Kirby, sneered at the idea of Canada being represented by Canada at European conferences. They assumed, or appeared to assume, that Canadians were less intelligent than Europeans; that Englishmen could look after our affairs better than we could look after them ourselves. However, power always brings responsibility; and we rejoice to see that in this case, a very important one, there is no exception to prove the rule.

Looks Like a Bad Precedent.
(Ottawa Journal.)
Mr. King will have difficulty justifying his action in compelling members of the International Joint Commission to write their resignations. He may argue that the commission should be in sympathy with the Government in power, but that argument was more than answered, and by no less a person than Sir Wilfrid Laurier, when in 1911. Mr. King's action in compelling Sir Robert Borden's resignation to accept his (Sir Wilfrid's) nominations for the Commission, and he said:
"The commission appointed have nothing to do with the policy of this Government; the duties they have to discharge are quasi-judicial, if not actually judicial. The manner in which he (Sir Robert Borden) has taken this action conveys the impression, not only to the British Government, but to the American Government also, that the idea is to be partisan, whereas the idea that should go abroad is that these men are not partisans. The Commission, which stands as a monument to the manhood of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, has performed fine work in Canada. The Journal has discredited strongly from its recent findings concerning the St. Lawrence Waterway, but that report had nothing to do with parties or with governments; it was merely the Commission's opinion, given in an investigation, in the gross, its work, largely judicial, has been of immense value, particularly in maintaining friendly relations with the United States, and no public body that we know of commands greater confidence and respect. Mr. King should think twice before he interferes with a tribunal. For it would be a great deal of his own credit, in the present commissioners and replacing them with party favorites inexperienced in the Commission's duties, he would only be proving, by repeating crossed usefulness and a public belief that such supposedly high posts were mainly for the purpose of providing soft jobs for the deserving among party workers."

Offsetting Fordneyism.
(Mail and Empire.)
The drop of nearly $400,000,000 in United States exports to Canada, compared with a drop of about $225,000,000 in Canadian exports to the United States, is a startling business fact across the border. They are asking: If the comparatively mild Young Emergency Tariff will have this effect, what will the much more drastic Fordney Tariff Bill, now in suspense, accomplish as a wrecking? In 1921, Canada brought imports from the United States down to about half a billion, and a great deal of this was coal, ore, raw materials of one kind or another. The list was:
Vegetable products.....$ 98,958,000
Animal products..... 34,788,000
Fibres and textiles..... 62,332,000
Wood and paper..... 83,766,000
Iron..... 116,359,000
Non-ferrous metals..... 26,725,000
Chemical products..... 17,223,000
Non-metallic minerals..... 34,442,000
Other commodities..... 26,983,000
It cannot be said that the list indicates a large consumption of manufactures in lines that we produce in Canada, or of what may be termed luxuries. The manufacturing output of Canada is even now at least $2,000,000,000, with factories on short time, values down, and in a period of general business caution. At the peak of the war, the production was $3,600,000,000. At least a four or fifth of the raw materials, or primary manufactures, needed for Canadian manufacturing has to be bought abroad. Oils, gasoline, bituminous coal, iron in many forms, copper and a hundred other basic commodities have to be brought in. Much of this is duty free, and a considerable quantity of manufactures is brought in for re-export, earning the drawback.

The drop of $400,000,000 in imports from the States represents ample compensation for the loss in our exports. For the loss from May to the end of the year, the value by which exports to the United States decreased, in those commodities on which the Young Tariff put new and heavy duties was $90,000,000. That would indicate a rate of $150,000,000 for a full year. If Canadians will but pursue the same cautious policy, buying only what they actually need for the prosecution of our own production and necessary trade, the American business interests will be driven to stifle the Fordney Bill in self-protection. Otherwise, they will have to establish branch factories here in much larger numbers, to recover their lost trade.
