R. Costello, died at Belleville, Oct. 9, 1883.
 Dear friend a friend in holier climes than these,
 Beyond life's cold-clad purple seas;
 Thy sun is set, thy day is done,
 And oh, we pray thy crown be won;
 Thy sun is set, thy day is done,
 And oh, we pray thy crown be won;
 Blaise for the virtues of a soul,
 Enoch'd with God's grace and love,
 A type of holiness always.
 There was the heart so kind and true,
 Pure as the heaven-blest morning dew,
 Thine was the hand that freely gave,
 The poor to feed, the weak to save,
 Oh Faith! that works in deeds of love,
 Sweet Charity that reigns in bliss,
 And Hope that for our steps has led,
 Give peace unto the holy dead!

LATEST CABLE NEWS.

London Oct. 21.—A correspondent at Interburg, on the Russian frontier, telegraphs the following:—Night before last the Russian police at Kertch made an attempt to arrest the chief of a band of pirates, whose lucrative exploits have caused a sort of panic along the whole northern coast of the Black sea. The chief pirate escaped, but evidence has fallen in the hands of the authorities disclosing the astonishing fact that not only the great bulk of the seafaring population on the Sea of Azov, including the Government pilots, are in active complicity with the pirates, but that several of their boldest operations were directed by one of the highest functionaries of the Czar, and suspicion even points to the complicity of one of the consuls resident at Kertch. About twenty Czarine merchants are also compromised in the affair. The method usually adopted by the pirates was to exhibit a vessel, placed at the disposal of the pirates by their silent partners at Kertch and elsewhere, and conveyed to Constantinople, Yarna, and Odessa, where they were sold in open market.

The Government has been especially active in hunting them in the Polish provinces, and a great number of arrests have been made at Warsaw.

FIRST CATHOLIC SUNDAY SCHOOL.

CONVENED IN THE CHAPEL ON DEER ISLAND LAST SUNDAY—REV. FATHER BRIC'S RELIGIOUS INNOVATION.
 For the first time in the history of the city institutions on Deer Island, the Roman Catholic boys there harbored were gathered in a Sunday school for instruction in their religion last Sunday. The innovation was brought about through the efforts of Common Councilman John W. Fraser of Ward 6, and has now the sanction of the directors of public instruction. Through a mutual understanding of the spirit of the statute governing religious instruction in public institutions, Roman Catholics have heretofore been compelled to attend the Protestant service. This has been set aside by a recent opinion of Corporation Counsel Nettleton, which was an effect that such compulsion was not in accordance with the spirit of the law. The result of this opinion has been that inmates of public institutions are given freedom in matters of conscience, and may attend a religious service of their own choosing.

Rev. Father Bric, S. J., the Roman Catholic spiritual director on Deer Island, has organized a Sunday school, which is supplied with teachers from the city. Last Sunday a party of thirteen ladies and gentlemen left Battery wharf on the police boat Protector, accompanied by Rev. Father Bric and Mr. John P. Santry, director of public institutions. The boat arrived at the island a little before 3 o'clock, and the party walked to the chapel in the main building. There were gathered in the chapel 150 boys and 400 girls. The boys were in their military jackets and the girls in their plain dresses, with white edging about their throats, and a bow of blue ribbon where the edging met and another blue bow nestled prettily in their hair. The small number of girls is owing to the fact that there are very few tents on the Deer Island institutions. The boys were divided into classes and the first Sunday school formally opened. The school will hereafter hold its session from 3 to 4 o'clock every Sunday afternoon. On the close of last Sunday's session the teachers were shown through a nursery by Superintendent J. C. Whitton, and at 4:30 left the island on the Protector for the city.—Boston Globe.

LUARD MUST GO.

There is a strong consensus of opinion that Gen. Lauro must go. He was never, in any case, required in this country, and the sooner he is pitched forked into his native obscurity and vulgarly the better. The Canadian people cannot afford to waste money and patience on such a petty despot.

The Montreal Gazette cites from the Port Hope Times the narrative of Luard's recent onslaught on Col. Williams.

The Times says:—What really occurred was this:—An officer at the table was speaking to Col. Williams in a spirit of pleasant banter of the small value which had been placed on the patriotic efforts of members of the House of Commons, at the late meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association; and Col. Williams replied deprecating the remarks which had then been made.

General Lauro then in a loud tone of voice and in a very offensive manner made an attack on the members of the House of Commons which Col. Williams indignantly remonstrated, and said that he was satisfied the members of the House of Commons would place even a smaller value upon the opinion of the highest military authority in the country on such a matter, and that it was to their constituents that they looked for appreciation of the value of their services. The conversation was joined in by others at the table, and the General continued his offensive manner and tone.

The Gazette then goes on to say:—Now all this is very unfortunate, and following as it did upon many other similar occurrences, indicates very clearly that Major-General Luard's usefulness has come to an end. The volunteer force of Canada is concerned. We understand that Col. Williams has made a formal representation and complaint on the subject to the Minister of Militia, so that an inquiry into the facts must be made, and the result will be made known in due time.

The active militia of Canada is a volunteer organization which confers upon the country much greater favour than it receives from the force. We do not remain our readers in the least intimating that a spirit of indifference, or a want of strict discipline, should be tolerated. A strictness of discipline and a submission to the letter as well as the spirit of the regulations, is essential to an efficient force. By the conditions of such conditions, the volunteers are entitled to respectful treatment at the hands of the Major-General. This they have not received at his hands. On the contrary, the boss of a gang of shantymen could hardly be more violent, more insulting, more profanely bullying than in his tone and manner he excited, shown himself to be.

It is impossible that this kind of thing can go on without the most serious consequences. The fact that the Major-General is an Imperial officer, selected by the Imperial authorities, makes the case all the more mischievous. In plain terms he is not fit for the position he occupies, and the sooner he is recalled the better it will be for the maintenance of that kindly feeling between Canadian and the Imperial authorities which every loyal man desires to see permanently maintained.

Flukeyism is the curse of Canada. It has inflicted on us many a nuisance before; but Luard is simply intolerable. The fact is, Canadians are getting tired of their country being made a refuge for reprobate politicians and an hospital for dilapidated adventurers. Let us have done with Luard at once.

A PLEASANT RE-UNION.

Feast of St. Theresa in Notre Dame du Sacre Coeur Convent.

The 60th anniversary of the Sacre Coeur, more familiarly known as Rideau street convent, in Ottawa city, was on the 15th inst. the scene of one of those pleasant reunions which are among the brightest and most joyful incidents of conventional life. The reunion took place in the large reception hall of the institution, and the occasion was the well known Superioress of the convent is called. There were present, besides the scholars, quite a good number of ex-students, who are now ornaments to society here and elsewhere. Invitations were also issued to Rev. Fathers Tabaret, D. D., Sloan, Coffey, Balland, and a few other clergymen. All those mentioned were present last night. An impromptu programme of vocal and instrumental selections were gone through with. The opening overture, which was executed on six pianofortes, was entitled "Invitation a la Valse," and the instrumentalists were Misses Garity, Hagan, St. Jean, Auclair, Finlay and Pinard. The playing of these young ladies was of a high order, and very creditable. A trio from "Il Trovatore" was nicely rendered by Misses Cartur, G. Kavanagh and Ryan. Misses A. Hagan and L. Smith followed with duos on harp, Miss M. Ryan played the accompaniment on the piano, and the three young ladies proved themselves to be very efficient instrumentalists. Chevalier Gustave Smith played a piano solo entitled "The Dream." Mr. Boucher, our young and accomplished violinist, next played a beautiful and difficult selection on the violin. He was loudly applauded. Mrs. Lapierre played the accompaniment. "La Gaze Ladre," by Rossini, was the title of a duet sung by Miss Poetter and Miss J. Ammond. Miss E. Ammond being at the piano. Mrs. Lapierre followed with a selection on the piano. Miss L. Smith and Miss V. St. Jean sang a beautiful duo, and Miss M. Ryan and Miss V. St. Jean afterwards executed a duet on the pianoforte. Messrs. Smith and Boucher (by request) again favored the audience with instrumental selections. The entertainment came to a close by Miss Dollie Smith, a graduate of the institution, reading a nicely worded address to Sister Theresa, from which we take an extract:—"Angels of home! There is something sweet in the very words, they picture to us, not spiritual beings of heavenly brand, nor winged messengers flying on errands of love from heaven to earth, but beings like ourselves. Angels whom we can see, converse with, who seem to possess the magic power of dispelling the dark clouds of sorrow and of pouring a healing balm on the wounded heart. Their gentle hand smooths the wrinkles from the weary brow of care, their bright smiles bring a glowing sunshine into the dark depths of misery, their loving words weary weary bosoms of hope for the gloomy crown of despondency.

Honor and titles may gratify pride, learning may bring praise, but to touch a sweet lingering chord in the heart, to leave a deep lasting peace in the soul, to meet, like the reverend mother we honor this evening, merit the title of Angel of Home.

RESTORED TO REASON.

A Miracle Wrought at the Roman Catholic Mission, Portland.

AN INSANE WOMAN CURED BY THE BLESSING OF THE PRIEST.

Daily Sun, St. John, N. B., Oct. 18.

It is within the past week became apparent that the minds of some of the devout members of the Roman Catholic Church have been profoundly exercised by the ministrations of the Redeemerist Fathers located in St. John and Portland. Rev. Fathers Rathley, Smith and Walsh have been conducting the mission at St. Peter's church, Portland, and to one of those reverend gentlemen belongs the high glory of having through the blessing of Holy Church effected the most wonderful cure that has ever taken place in the Diocese of St. John.

Mr. William Gillespie, who is a daughter of E. Galanagh, of Long Wharf, Portland, is the person who returns devout thanks for the blessings that have been bestowed upon her through the spiritual intercession of one of the priests of the Church. She, however, is not alone in the expression of her gratitude, for her sisters, all testify to the wondrous cure wrought, in restoring her reason when all ordinary medical means had been applied in vain.

The facts, as obtained by a San reporter last week, are few and simple. In the year 1878, Mr. Gillespie was in the early part of this year residing with her parents, who keep a liquor store at the end of Long Wharf, Portland. This she did, as her husband is the master of a coasting schooner and consequently was away much away from her society. At the time that WIGGINS' GREAT STORM was prognosticated on the 10th March last it unfortunately happened that Capt. Gillespie was absent on a coasting cruise and his wife's mind was wrought up to such a pitch as to incur that it completely took place on the eventful night of Saturday, the 10th of March, absolutely unshaken what little reason remained to her and she failed to recognize any of her relations, becoming more untractable and subject to fits of hysteria.

When her husband returned safe and sound from his trip she failed in any way to remember him, treating him as a complete stranger. The grief of the whole family at this unexampled affliction can be well imagined; the best doctors were called in for the purpose of ascertaining if something could not be done to restore intellect to the torpid brain, but all medical advice failed to accomplish a cure, and the poor sufferer drifted on from bad to worse until she became too great a tax upon a loving mother's care.

Just a month ago, after consulting with three medical men, it was decided to remove Mrs. Gillespie to the Lunatic Asylum, as it was found that she was gradually getting more feeble, and her sorrowing husband and relatives saw her condition that halation which all regard with feelings of awe and pity. During the time she was an inmate of the Asylum her condition did not improve, and she failed to recognize any of her relatives when they visited her.

The family at length determined to take her from there, and on Tuesday she was removed from Dr. Steeves' care and again to her parental roof. No doubt there were two reasons that conducted to this end—one was the expense which was being incurred, and the other was the hope of Mrs. Galanagh (who is a most devout Roman Catholic) that if her daughter could only benefit by the religious ministrations of the Mission, she would not only receive spiritual but bodily benefit.

On last Tuesday evening, Mrs. Gillespie,

C. M. B. A. NOTES.
 Amherstburg, October 13th, 1883.
 S. R. Brown, Sec. Canada Grand Council C. M. B. A.

DEAR SIR AND BRO.—Having received from you by to-day's mail the draft to pay Mrs. Emily McIntyre, the beneficiary due her on account of the membership of her late husband, Bro. C. W. O'Rourke, 1st. Vice-Pres. of Branch No. 3, P. J. Fleming, Joseph Reame and myself, waited on Mrs. McIntyre this afternoon, and paid her the $2000.

The payment of this beneficiary is exceedingly prompt, being paid nearly four weeks sooner than the time allowed by the regulations. It is very gratifying to know that assessments are paid now more promptly than ever before; which of course enables the Supreme Council to increase rapidly; its death-rate is diminishing; assessments are less numerous than formerly, and its management is a model one, for promptness, fidelity, and integrity to the spirit of Catholicity upon which the Association is founded.

Really the Catholic men of Canada and the United States who hesitate to become members do not appreciate or recognize the C. M. B. A. as the society from which they can derive the most solid comfort and assurance; it is in fact a widow and orphan's co-operative protective society, I enclose you a letter and the receipt of Mrs. McIntyre for publication.

Fraternally yours,
 H. W. DEARE, Rec. Sec.
 Amherstburg, Oct. 13th, 1883.
 To the President, Officers and Members of the C. M. B. A. in Canada.

GENTLEMEN—Allow me to express to you my sincere gratitude and thankfulness, and through you to the officers of the Supreme and Grand Councils having these matters in charge, for the very prompt and speedy payment of the $2000 due me on account of my late husband's membership in your Branch. I must also thank you for the many kind expressions of sympathy tendered me by resolution of your Branch; and also through you please thank my kind friends, the Windsor Branch for similar regards; and I also particularly wish to thank those officers and members of Branch No. 3, who so kindly relieved me of all trouble and anxiety in procuring the Beneficiary for me, as well as for kind services rendered in many other ways.

Believe me yours sincerely,
 EMILY MCINTYRE.
 Amherstburg, October 13th, 1883.
