ARCHDIOCESE OF OTTAWA.

The annual Pontifical Requiem Mass for the repose of the late Bishop Guigues was celebrated at the Basilica on Wednesday, 13th inst. His Grace the Most Rev. Arch bishop Duhamel was assisted by Very Rev. Viear General Routhier as assistant priest; Very Rev. Canon Bouillon as deacon, and Very Rev. Canon Camepau as sub-deacon of the Mass-assisted by Rev. Messrs. Routhier and Lemonde of the Seminary. A magnificent catafaque, surmounted by a mitre, was erected in the sanctuary; on either side were three immense candlesticks with lighted candles. Many clergymen from the city and vicinity were present in the sanctuary. L. K

RECEPTION TO HIS GRACE. Ottawa Free Press, Feb. 14.

Ottawa Free Press, Feb. 14.

The brilliant reception that the pupils of Gloucester street convent tendered yesterday atternoon to His Grace Archbishop Duhamel was the most magnificent, the most fairy like of all that have ever been held within its walls. Flowers in profusion added to the beauty of the scene which was a combination of simplicity, elegance and refinement. The bright faces which smiled a welcome to His Grace proved that Ottawas Archbishop is far from being a stranger to the pupils of Gloucester street convent. The hall was filled with a good representation of the leading citizens of the capital, as well as others from a distance. A few minutes after 5 a number of young ladies opened the fete by a brilliant march on pianos, harp, mandolins and violins. At the same time His Grace, accompanied by Mgr. Routhier, V. G., Mgr. Tanguay, Rev. Father Murphy, champlain of the convent, and other priests from the city and its environs, to the number of twenty-live, entered, the audience rising to their feet to greet them.

The Programme

twenty-five, entered, the audience rising to their feet to greet them.

THE PROGRAMME.

The instrumental performance being concluded, the programme was opened by the rendering of a most enchanting operetta, composed for the occasion, "Les Oiseaux et les Enfants," which made us forget the rigors of our Canadian winter by causing us to enjoy all the ravishing beauty and sweet delights of spring. Forty-eight little tots, ranging from six to eight years of age, costumed to represent nightingales, larks, thrushes were at the invitation of eighteen older papils, who wished, by the help of these lively songsters, to offer a fitting homage to their beloved pastor. A ween nightingale called forth repeated applause by the singing of a most charming little song. During the operetta allusion was made to the tenty years of His Grace's episcopal ministry. This was symbolized by the children in which were united the initial J. and the number 20, while at the same moment the birds formed a living J. and 20. Needless to add that frequent and long applause greeted this apparition of each flight of birds. A particular feature of the entertainment was the proficiency shown by the English pupils in the French language. Then followed a sacred song, "Tues Sacerdos," which showed the degree of perfection here attained in vocal music. Addresses in English and French were read by the Misses

M. Murphy and R. Laframboise. The ease and grace with which they delivered them speak volumes for the training given to the pupils of this favored institution. To properly defineste the pleasing manner of the young ladies, one and all, their perfect culture, their evidently enthusiastic conception of the part assigned to each, would take more time and space than can be given.

His Grace expressed himself delighted with all he had seen and heard. He thanked both teachers and pupils for all they had done to procure him such enjoyment, assuring them that the reception was for him a source of encouragement and consolation. In referring to the word 'monotony' mentioned in one of the addresses, he said that there never was, nor could there ever be, anything monotonous in the receptions given by the pupils of the Congregation de Notre Dame. This was greeted by long and loud applause. He then added that the beautiful sights and sounds of the evening would linger in his memory like sweetest music, and serve to banish care in recalling the sincere affection of the little ones of his flock.

ADDRESS TO MR. J. G. MOYLAN.

We have great pleasure in publishing the address presented to Mr. J. G. Moylan, late Inspector of Penitentiaries, by the staff of St. Vincent de Paul Prison, on the occasion of his superannuation, together with his reply as annuation, together with his reply as follows:

St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary,
February 9, 1895.

To Jas, G. Moylan, Esq.,
Late Inspector of Penitentiaries:
Dear Sir: Having learned through the public press, that you had applied for superannuation, after long and useful service to the Dominion, we cannot let the occasion of your retirement from a position, which you filled with so much credit and ability, pass, without tendering you an assurance of the great esteem and respect which we, the full staff of officers of St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, entertain toward you.

The numerous and arduous duttes you had to perform, for many years, as Inspector of Penitentiaries of the Dominion, have earned for you a well deserved rest. We earnestly hope that such provision has been made for your declining years as a just and fair dealing Government is wont to make for a meritorious and faithful public servant.

But, aside from this question, we feel so friendly disposed towards you that, we take this opportunity of expressing our gratitude for the earnest and courteous attention you always paid to our wants, and the kindly and indulgent manner in which you looked upon our shortcomings. On all occasions you extended to us the utmost leniency consistent with your official position. We can never forget your ever ready willingness to forward our interests, and, at the same time, elevate and uphold the character and discipline of the institution with which we are identified. All these traits of character and good deeds have earned for you our most triendly and heartfelt regard. You will ever live in our memory as the proved friend, the just and considerate officer, the unaffected gentleman.

We, therefore, ask you to accept this address as an inadequate expression of our just and considerate officer, the unaffected gentleman.

We, therefore, ask you to accept this address as an inadequate expression of our feelings and sentiments towards you, and of our great appreciation of the constant efforts you made, since you opened this prison in 1873, to promote our welfare and that of the unfortunates committed to our care.
Wishing your family and yourself every earthly blessing and a long and happy life, we remain,
Dear sir,
Yours very sincerely,
Tel. Outmert,
Warden.

MR. MOYLAN'S REPLY.

Daly Avenue, Ottawa, Feb. 11, 1895.
Tel. Onimet, E-q., Warden, and the Officers of the Staff St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary:
Dear Friends. — I thank you from my heart for the friendly but too flattering address with which you have tavored me and which I received to-day. It was most kind and considerate on your part, to give me this assurance of the regard and esteem of the whole staff of an institution with which I had been officially connected, since I opened it on 20th May, 1873.
I fully appreciate the thoughtfulness which prompted the expression of the hope that the Government have made such provision for my declining years, as you are good enough to think I earned.
You do me only simple justice in giving me credit for a friendly disposition towards the members of the staff and an earnest desire to benefit and encourage every deserving officer. My intercourse with all of you, officially and personally has been marked by the absence of unpleasantness or trouble, despite the fact that I had, sometimes, to discharge duties of a disagreeable nature.

I am much gratified that you bear testimony to the efforts I made to elevate and uphold the character and discipline of the institution. For any success achieved in this direction I am indebted to you, sir, and your officers, who so zealously co-operated in making St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary one of the future welfare of my feasily and season.

I thank you also for your good wishes for the future welfare of my family and myself which I beg to reciprocate for every one of you.

In saying good bye, let me again assure you of the great value I attach to the tribute of good will and esteem you have paid me. I shall always cherish it as an estimable mnemonic of our past pleasant relations.

Believe me, yours gratefully and sincerely.

JAN. G. MOYLAN.

OBITUARY.

MRS. H. A. GRAY, TORONTO.

MRS. H. A. GRAY, TORONTO.

Mrs. Gray, wife of Major Henry A. Gray, engineer in charge of the Ontario Division of Dominion Public Works, died at her residence, 295 Bloor street, Toronto, at noon on Friday last. Mrs. Gray's death was due to the effects of pneumonia occasioned by an attack of la grippe two years ago, from which she never fully recovered.

Mrs. Gray was very well known throughout Canada, and her death will be a sad shock to her many friends, by whom she was held in high esteem. Mrs. Gray was descended from the old Highland Catholic families of Clanranold and Glengarry. She was the eldest daughter of the late John McDonald, of Fitzroy Harbor, and a granddaughter of Angus Roy McDonald, who came to Canada in 1734 with other United Empire Loyalists, and settled the present county of Glengarry. She was a sister of the late John J. McDonald, contractor, who died years ago in Montreal, and niece of the late Alex. Macdonell ("big Alex."), Railway Contractor, with whom she lived in Hamilton for many years, during the building of the Western Railway.

Mrs. Gray was married to Major Gray in 1830, and resided for the first year of her married life in Owen Sound, afterwards at Stratford for five years, and then at Ottawa for two years while her husband was assistant Chief Engineer of Public Works. In 1838 they removed to St. John, N. B., and remained antil 1890, while Major Gray was in charge of the Public Works of the Maritime Provinces. In 1830 they removed to Toronto, where they have since resided.

Mrs. Gray was a most devout Catholic, pious, charitable and sincere with a deep love and veneration for our Holy Mother Church and ever ready to helpon, with purse, thought or labor, any scheme for the betterment of the human race, spiritual or temporal.

Simple in habit and life, beloved by all who knew her, devoted to her family and friends, has a deviced to her family and friends, has a device and sincered to her family and friends, her charity and barder of the human race, spiritual or temporal.

and while there went to church and at he foot of the altar asked God to spare his life and in return he promised to consecrate himself for life to God. From that time he grew better and became quite healthy. He then entered college to educate himself for the Church, where he spent thirteen years. He was of a retiring disposition and paid great attention to his studies, often carrying off the best prizes competed for. He was charitable to the poor; led a life of self-denial, imitating the life of the saints; his sole aim was to save his soul. About two years ago he felt called to a holy life when he entered the Novitiate of the Trappist Monastery, near Montreal, where he was a model of piety and humility. About a year ago his health began to decline: his brothers from Sarnia visited him and found that he was kindly and skillfully treated. The visitors were much selfied at he saintly lives led by the inmates of the monastery, chastity, obedience, prayer, fasting and silence being strictly observed. Brother Anselem said that he was quite happy and seemed quite sensible that his end was drawing nigh, and said that the pleasures of this world were shallow compared with the joys of the next. He bore his illness with patience and resignation and died peacefully and happily, perfectly resigned to the will of God. He became professed before he died, and happily, perfectly resigned to the will of God. He became professed before he died, and happily, perfectly resigned to the will of God. He same.

Kind readers, please offer up a prayer for the same.

Kind readers, please offer up a prayer for the repose of his soul.

MR. WILLIAM M'RAE, THORAH. MR. WILLIAM M'RAE, THORAH.

It is our sad duty this week to announce the death of one of our oldest and most respected subscribers, in the person of Mr. William M. Rae, first com., Thorah, which sad event took place on Tuesday, the 5th inst., after a short but painful illness, during which he was unconscious nearly all the time. But his friends are thankful that God gave him back full consciousness for at least long enough to receive all the sacraments of the Church he loved so well, after which he gradually sank, till the end came on Tuesday.

gradually sank, till the end came on Tuesday.

The deceased was among the first settlers in this township; coming here as he did about sixty years ago, when the place was an inbroken forest, he lived to see it transformed into the beautiful farms of to-day. Being one of the old pioneers of the district he was widely known, and was also highly respected by all his acquaintances Mr. McRae was for several years a member of the township council, and to his ability and to that of the other members of the council may be attributed. other members of the council may be attrib-uted the excellent financial condition of the winship to day. Like all zealous Catholics, Mr. McRae was a liberal supporter of the Catholic press; he was a subscriber to several Catholic journals, the RECORD having his name on its list the RECORD having his name on its list almost from its first appearance.

The funeral left the family residence at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, and proceeded to St. Joseph's church, where a high Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. C. Cantillon, P. P., for the eternal repose of his soul, after which he addressed the large number present, explaining the Catholic doctrine of purgatory and why we pray for the dead. After the last prayers were recited all that was mortal of William McRae were removed to the adjoining cemetery and placed in the grave to await the resurrection.

May his soul, through the great mercy of God, rest in peace, and may perpetual light shine upon hin! Amen.

MRS. DAN. A. MCDONALD, EMBARRASS, WIS.

Wis.

It is with regret we record the death of the wife and infant son of Dan. A. McDonald, which sad event occurred on the 27th January. Mrs. McDonald was only twenty-one years old; she was a loving and taithful wife and was highly respected by all her acquaintances. Her death is a sad blow to her husband, who bitterly regrets his loss. Mr. Daniel A. is a son of A. D. McDonald, of Monckland, and, needless to say, has the sympathy of all in his irreparable loss. From the Owen Sound Times.

Last fall when the Times gave an account of the wonderful cure of Mr. Wm. Belrose, throughthe use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, we had little idea that we would be called upon to write up a case which is even more remarkable. The case referred to is that of Mrs. John C. Monnell, whose cure has been effected by these marvellous little messengers of health. The Tines' reporter was met at the door by Mrs. Monnell, who though showing a few traces of the suffering she had undergone, moved about very sprightly. With apparently all the gratitude of a man who had been saved out of the deepest affliction, Mr. Monnell gave the following account of his wife's marvellous cure. I have been in the employ of the C. P. R. at Toronto Junction for some time. In August last year, after conetinement, my wife took a chill, and what is commonly known as milk leg set in. When I came home from my work I was informed of the fact, and next morning called in the family physician. The limb swelled in a very short time to an enzrmous size. Every means known was adopted to reduce the inflammation, but without avail. Consulting physicians were called in, but all the satisfaction they could give me was that the doctors in attendance were doing their utmost. A tank was rigged up, a long line of rubber hose attached and wound around the afflicted limb and ice water allowed to trickle down through the pping to relieve the pain and reduce the inflammation above the knee. The leg was opened and perforated, a tube inserted from the thigh to the ankle with the hope that it would carry off the pus which formed. For five long anxious months I watched the case with despair, while my wife was unable to move herself in bed. At the end of that time she was placed in a chair, where she spent another three months. To add to the complications gangrene set in, and for weeks there was a tight for life. At last the physicians gave up. They said the only hope was in the removal of my wife to the hospital. After a brief to rest, fortified by all the rites of Holy Church.

She leaves behind to mourn her loss, her husband and step-children, a brother and a sister, many relatives and a large host of friends, both clerical and lay.

Her latter days were soothed by the kind visits to her of His Grace the Archbishop of Toronto and the regular and constant attendance of her parish priest, Pather James Walsh, and by other priests of the diocese.

Her funeral took place on Monday from Our Lady of Lourdes church, Sherbourne sirset. Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Father Walsh, and the church was crowded with sympathetic friends.

The pall-bearers were Commander Law, R. N., Major Murray, Hugh Ryan, Esq. Sam, A large concourse of relatives and friends followed the remains to St. Michael's ceme the death of Brother Anselem, better known to the world as Patrick Langan, which occurred at the Trappist Monastery (near Montreal) on the 2nd of January last. He was about thirty-seven years of age, and was a son of the late John Langan of the Country of Lumbton. He received a fair Public school education and taught the country of Lumbton. He received a fair Public school at Port Lambton until his mother to Minnesotta in pursuit of health, and while there went to church and at the foot of the altar asked God to spare his life and in return he promised to consecrate himself for life to God. From that time he gree were better and became quite healthy. He then church, where he spent thirteen years. He was of a retiring disposition and paid gree.

A NEW ARCHBISHOP

An Oblate of Mary Who Succeeds the

The following interesting sketch of Father Langevin, O. M. I., who has been chosen to succeed the late Arch. bishop Tache in the See of St. Boniface, is taken from the North West Re

Very Rev. Father Louis Philip Adelard Langevin, O. M. I., D. D. and Vicar of Missions, was born at St. Isidore, county La Prairie, Province of Quebec, on the 23rd day of August, 1855. His father is Francois Theophile Langevin, a near relative of Sir Hector Langevin, to whom the present Father Langevin is said to bear strik. ing resemblance in look and voice, and mother was a Pamela Racicot. Both parents are descendants of families noted in their respective circles and are highly educated, being possessed in addition of unusual natural gifts. They are both alive to day, and will now receive the consolation of hearing of the elevation of their son to one of the highest positions in the Cath-olic Church—a position rendered doubly honored by the greatness of the man who for well nigh half a century filled it. Rev. Father Langevin has six brothers and one sister; one of his uncles is a priest, being a canon and bursar of the Archdiocese of Montreal. When a boy Adelard Langevin received his early education at Montreal, entering at the age of eleven the Sulpician Col-lege in that city. Here he remained until he had attained the age of nine teen, when he became professor of classics, which position he filled for the three following years. He then spent two years in the Grand Seminary at Montreal. While here he received tonsure, minor orders and finally became a sub deacon. He also acted in the capacity of private secre-tary to Archbishop Fabre. Before leaving the Grand ecclesiastic was ordained deacon. At the expiration of his term here he went to St. Mary's College, Montreal, which is under the care and guidance of the Jesuit Order. Here he remained one year, filling the position of master of

In 1881 Rev. L. P. A. Langevin, as deacon, entered the Order of Oblates of Mary Immaculate, commencing his novitiate at Lachine, near Montreal 1882 he having completed his novitiate, took perpetual vows and was ordained a priest in the chapel of the Good Shepherd, Montreal. The first three years of his sacerdotal career were spent as a missionary Father in connection with the Oblate Church of St. Peter's, Montreal. He then was moved to the Cathelic University of Ottawa, where he assumed the chair of professor of theology. During the next eight years he continued in this pursuit, acting also as director of the Grand Seminary and sub-dean of the faculty of theology. In 1892 the de-gree of doctor of divinity was conferred Archbishop Tache first met Father Langevin in 1883, and seemed at once to take a great liking for the then young priest. In fact, it is told now when Father Langevin did at last come to Manitoba, Archbishop Tache said: "It is ten years that I have been wanting you.

On the 1st of July, 1893, Father Langevin's labors were changed from those of a professor and director to that of an untiring and active missionary On that date he arrived in Manitoba, whither he was sent by the superior general to fill the position of superinendent of all the Oblate missions of the North-West. This was at the special request of the late Archbishop Tache. Early in 1894 Father Langevin was appointed to the pastorate of St. Mary's, Winnipeg, where he remained until his recent appointment.

Everything Father Langevin does or attempts is done well. There is no half doing with him. He never ceases at that which he has begun until he brings it to a successful issue.

Humility is one of the very prominent traits of Father Langevin. Learned as he is, possessed of elocutionary powers in no small degree, advanced to the high position of vicar of missions, he never acted in any way

The Forbidden Societies.

The reason why the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias and Sons of Temperance have been condemned by the Church is that their indeterminate oath and their religious ritual make them organizations to which Catholics ought not to belong. With the good they do there is no quarrel. But a Christian is not free to swear away his freedom without limit, nor to take part in rites not provided by his religion. - Catholic Review.

When so many people are taking and deriving benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, why don't you try it yourself? It is highly recommended.

GENEROUSLY GIVEN THE POOR. GENEROUSLY GIVEN THE POOR.

San Elseario, Tex, June 13,91

Two years ago you were kind enough to send me some of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, which I gave to two poor girls who were suffering from falling sickness, and they got well after using your excellent remedy. My parish is poor to the utmost, but your charity will be your crown, for your remedy so generously given to the poor, and so excellent, cannot but be an eternal reward.
