EGGS BY WEIGHT

A despatch from New York indicates that eggs and bread will be sold by weight only in greater New York in the near future. This was announced by Commissioner of Weights and Measures Driscoll. He declared that upon the advice of the corporation counsel he will enforce that rule, perhaps not later than August 1. Driscoll said he would confer with all bakers and butter and egg dealers at once as to the standard to be established. There is a penalty of $100 fine for the refusal of a baker or poulterer to weigh out bread and eggs in the presence of a customer.

CHARCOAL FOR DUCKS AND GEES

The Journal of Agriculture for Ireland in a recent issue contains an account of experiments conducted by H. de Courcy, for the purpose of deciding the exact value of charcoal as a means of keeping birds that are closely confined in good health during the period of fattening. Eighteen large, healthy Aylesbury ducklings were selected from a large flock, and divided into three pens, each pen containing six ducklings weighing fifteen pounds per head. Throughout the experiment the ducklings were fed upon foods which previous experiment had shown to be profitable and economical, namely, boiled potatoes, barley meal, ground oats, skim milk, and tallow greaves. The method of preparing the food was to boil, strain, and pound up the potatoes, which before boiling would constitute about one-third by weights of the mash. Barley meal and ground oats were then mixed in equal parts and mixed with the potatoes. Skim milk was added to form a rather wet mash. This was fed to the ducklings from the end of the fifth to the beginning of the ninth week. During the last two weeks of fattening, animal food in the form of rough fat or tallow greaves was added to the mash, the allowance being about two ounces per day to each duck. Grit and water for drinking were liberally supplied. Apart from the charcoal the food received by all the ducklings was the same.

Tables were given as to the results of the trials, which show that charcoal in one form or another is essential in the profitable fattening of ducks. It appeared to keep the ducklings healthy, and enabled fattening to be continued with profit for a much longer period than when charcoal was not allowed. Experiments with geese were conducted on similar lines, and gave almost identical results. The foods fed to the geese were the same as those fed to the ducks, except that they got steeped oats instead of mash for the evening meal, mash being fed in the morning. The charcoal fed to both ducks and geese was burnt wood, broken fine.
