ORANGEISM IS ON TEST TODAY

Addresses at Public Gathering in City Hall in the Evening—Grand Masters Hoekin and McLean and Hon. W. D. Morphy among Speakers.

(From Friday's Daily)

The city hall was crowded on Wednesday evening at a public meeting of the Orangemen now attending Grand Lodge. Mayor Ketcheson presided and had with him on the platform the leading Orangemen of Ontario East. It was expected that Gen. Sir Sam Hughes would be present but his train was stalled on the way from Boston and he did not arrive. The 254th band furnished music for the evening.

Mayor Ketcheson, in welcoming the gathering said, Orangemen were the backbone of the country, ready to make every sacrifice for principle, for King and Empire. The Hon. W. D. Morphy, K. C., M. P., deputy Grand Master of British North America, brought greetings from the Grand Master. "Belleville never wavered in well-doing. Remember the boys (the 254th) now enlisting." He had been pleased to see that the Grand Master, Capt. Evan H. McLean was in khaki.

Orangism today has a sterner task in the realities of life than it ever had in its history in any abstract quest on like Home Rule—a Rome rule. Its duty lay in the way of enlistments and hard work in looking after the dependent. The order is on test.

Col. J. A. V. Preston, of the 39th Battalion, who had just returned from the front, was greeted with three rousing cheers as he stepped to the platform.

Miss Laura Bateman recited "When Pa Got Initiated," and "Doing Their Bit."

Dr. Edwards, M. P. of Frontenac, declared that this war was the final struggle between democracy and autocracy. One or the other must go down. "The light is going our way more and more every day. So firmly seated is our Christianity, that no act of barbarism has defamed our record in this war. Germany's ideals must be conquered as well as her armies, and smashed for all time to come."

Dr. Edwards devoted a great deal of time to attacking Bishop Fallon and Hon. Charles Murphy, repudiating their recent utterances regarding the opposition to Home Rule and Britain's treatment of minorities. Time and time again Quebec has dictated and interfered with the rest of the provinces. How much longer will the English-speaking provinces submit to the dictation of French-speaking Quebec? Quebec has contributed 30 per cent of its allotment of recruits, while the other provinces have done more than their share. Perhaps 80 per cent of these were English. He ventured the statement that not more than 6,000 or 7,000 French Canadian had gone to the war. The two causes are the spoken and printed word of certain Frenchmen in hatred of everything English, and because priests and curies urge their parishioners not to enlist. They go contrary to the wishes of the bishops and archbishops.

Mrs. Wilmet sang "England the Free," "Little Sal" and "Up From Somerset."

SURPRISE AND PRESENTATION

A surprise party, made up largely of the congregation of Wesley Church Bayside, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson, on Tuesday evening, the 20th inst. The occasion of the meeting was the fact that Miss Oletha Wilson, who is a trained nurse, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, was on a couple of days' visit to the parental home, prior to her departure overseas to serve in the hospitals of our Empire.

The success of the gathering was mainly due to the tireless efforts of Mrs. Charles Hall, the efficient president of the Women's Institute, and Mrs. Gunn sr., also an active worker in Red Cross work. Both these ladies are also members of the Methodist church of which Miss Wilson is a member.

The early part of the evening was spent in conversation and games. After refreshments, the following address, prepared by the pastor, Dr. Marvin, was read by Mrs. Gunn Sr.: "We, the members of the Wesley church, Bayside, and your friends and neighbors in general, have come to spend a pleasant evening with you, and bid you God-speed as you enter upon your mission of love and mercy. Because of the fact that many men have enlisted from the churches of our own township, and also because of the fact that some of them have already made the supreme sacrifice, the great World War is brought very near us. And now that you have enlisted to do your bit in the hospitals of our beloved Empire, as one of us, one of the young ladies of Bayside Methodist Church, the conflict will be brought still nearer our homes. We have known you almost ever since you had a being; and, to know you is to love you. But we love you not only because of yourself, made beautiful by love divine. We love you because of your work in former years among us in the Sunday School, and because of your connection both then and now, with 'whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, and whatsoever things are of good report.' When we think more fully upon you, we declare; we believe, you have nearly approached the life of Him who ever 'went about doing good.' We have rejoiced with you in your great success in your chosen work; and our hearts were made glad when we heard how you led your class in your examination, not only taking the highest honors, but also the gold medal, or brooch, from all competitors. And now that you will move and work in a broader sphere, we believe and trust and pray that you may rise from one degree of success to another, and yet another, until you will rank among the immortals of womanhood, such as Hester Ann Rogers, Elizabeth Fry, Frances Willard and others, who have been illustrious not only in the annals of fame, but in the Kingdom of God. Please accept this wrist watch as a slight token of our love and appreciation, and when you think of this hour, when in the far away, may you ever remember that you will always have our prayers and best wishes for you, for all that is great and good and pure and noble. And, at the last, when this life is over, that in the Kingdom of Glory you may 'shine as the stars for ever and ever.'"

Miss Wilson replied to the address in a few well chosen words. Dr. Marvin was then requested by Mrs. Charles Hall, to take the chair, and call for impromptu addresses. After a short and pointed address, among others he called upon Messrs. Sills, Blanchard, W. H. Finkle and Mr. Frank Hall, who gave short, pointed and telling addresses. Mrs. W. H. Finkle, the church organist, then took the organ and the congregation sang "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," the National Anthem, and some patriotic songs, in which little Miss Finkle figured prominently, were then sung. A little before midnight, the crowd dispersed for their homes, feeling that they had not only spent a pleasant evening, but had also given some inspiration to a brave young lady, who under God, was determined to do her bit in the service of our Empire.

Grand Master Capt. E. H. McLean of Ontario East, thanked the city of Belleville for their hospitality. Some called the Orangemen traitors. He recalled a race in the south of Ireland who raised a rebellion, and another who threatened rebellion in Canada. These traitorous Irishmen and Frenchmen had one thing in common—their religion. Capt. McLean appealed to the young Orangemen in civilian garb at the Orange Lodge, to enlist. He looked back upon the blow for liberty struck in 1688 as a momentous one. But in Europe today there is a greater test of principle in the fight against tyranny and autocracy. The meeting closed with the National Anthem and cheers for the King.

EXTRAVAGANCE AND CONSPICUOUS WASTE

(Special to The Ontario.) Toronto, Mar. 22.—Instead of following Canadian democratic standards in building Government House, investigation in the Public Accounts Committee shows that the Government took their lead from the blatant luxury of American plutocracy and the extravagant decadence of Europe.

Government Architect Heakes admitted before the Committee that he visited the residence of some of the great New York millionaires to get ideas for the furnishings, and that among the residences visited by him was that of Charles M. Schwab, the Steel King.

The Government also paid $1,000 for Dr. Beaudry, while Minister of Public Works, to visit European castles and chateaux, for suggestions for our Government House. What, in an ordinary citizen's house, is known as the front hall, costing perhaps $100, appears in the Government House as an 'atrium' with marble pilasters, balustrades and porticos. The Provincial Architect was not able to give an estimate of the cost of the 'atrium', but it will probably come as high as $25,000 or $30,000. There was some dispute between Provincial Architect Heakes and V. Sinclair, Conservative member for South Oxford. The former thought the word 'atrium' was purely Greek in its origin, Sinclair, however, with deeper erudition, thought it belonged to the Ionic division of the Greek language. Whether simple Greek or Ionic, the people have to pay for it at any rate.

Another feature of Government House of interest to the people of the province who are accustomed to go out by what they call the 'front door,' is the same thing, appearing in an expensive way, and under an expensive name, as 'porte cochere.' Mr. F. S. Pearce who was attending the Grand Orange Lodge here, was called to Marmora this morning by reasons of the destruction by fire of the Pearce Company's Mills in that village.

CANADA'S OPINION

Peace! Who are you, friend or foe? To ask for peace? Do you but know. Have you a heart or soul within. Or knowledge of battle's din? Of sacrifices made in scores? How every day the death-list soars? Methinks your British blood is thin. Maybe you have no 'one' of 'kin' Who 'neath the soil of France doth lie. If there was someone, would you say The peace proposal of the Central Powers Should be accepted for their desires? That soon again in years to come Their patched-up peace would be undone? Then, all our best blood shed for naught. Again would be three dearly bought. I have seen chums falling all around. Watched their life-blood ebb on sodden ground. Is it fair to these chums of mine, Whose homes are miles across the brine? Have their lives been given all in vain, And thousands more who with them came? Now, mark you this, and well you may—I speak for those who fight today Upon the Somme, with Canada's best, And those who've gone to honored rest.) We want no peace till Allied guns Crush forever world-dominant Huns. One way will gain victorious end; No other way will 'er amend. Except by shattering every gun. This way alone, will peace be won. So take you this into your heart, And seek to do your loyal part. If British blood flows in your veins, "Carry on!" and show your British brins.

CANADA'S OPINION

Peace! Who are you, friend or foe? To ask for peace? Do you but know. Have you a heart or soul within. Or knowledge of battle's din? Of sacrifices made in scores? How every day the death-list soars? Methinks your British blood is thin. Maybe you have no 'one' of 'kin' Who 'neath the soil of France doth lie. If there was someone, would you say The peace proposal of the Central Powers Should be accepted for their desires? That soon again in years to come Their patched-up peace would be undone? Then, all our best blood shed for naught. Again would be three dearly bought. I have seen chums falling all around. Watched their life-blood ebb on sodden ground. Is it fair to these chums of mine, Whose homes are miles across the brine? Have their lives been given all in vain, And thousands more who with them came? Now, mark you this, and well you may—I speak for those who fight today Upon the Somme, with Canada's best, And those who've gone to honored rest.) We want no peace till Allied guns Crush forever world-dominant Huns. One way will gain victorious end; No other way will 'er amend. Except by shattering every gun. This way alone, will peace be won. So take you this into your heart, And seek to do your loyal part. If British blood flows in your veins, "Carry on!" and show your British brins.
