

OVER THE DIVIDE.

By Ed. A. Hering.

Pleasant weather prevailed on both Dominion and Gold Run all day of the Fourth and a slight shower in the evening caused only a temporary lull in the proceedings. The horse races were by far the most interesting event of the day and considerable betting resulted.

The following was the program on Dominion creek:

The sports began about 3 p. m. with events for the children.

14-year class, foot race—Allen Stone, first prize; Geo. Wallace, second; Willie Donovan, third.

7-year class, foot race—Mita Nelson, first prize; Mary Randall, second; Irene Cotwell, third; Thos. King, fourth.

4-year class, foot race—Myra Nelson, first; Willie Randall, second; Clarence King, third; Georgie Hering, fourth.

Boys' running broad jump—Allen Stone, first; Geo. Walla e, second; Earl Edmondson, third.

Boys' standing broad jump—Allen Stone, first; Geo. Wallace, second; Earl Edmondson, third.

Three-legged race (100 yards) for men—Geo. Baker and W. A. Stone, first; M. J. Gorham and E. Friedland, second; Calligan of the Caribou hotel and Silkey of the Gold Run hotel, third.

Then the crowd repaired to the race courses where a very spirited contest was soon under way among the horses and jockeys. Result of the first contest:

First prize taken by Thos. Williams' horse "Jack," ridden by W. A. Stone; second prize, Thos. White's horse "Ranger," ridden by Thos. White; third, Hubbard's mare, ridden by W. Randall.

The consolation race was won by Butler Brothers' horse "Jerry," Halliday rider, with Girmes' horse "Fred," Dillsbaugh rider, second.

About this time the horsemen had become somewhat warmed up and H. N. Coleman challenged the winner of the first race for $100 a side. The challenge was accepted and Coleman's partner, Andy Nelson, weighed as rider for their black horse "Midnight" to go against Williams' horse "Jack," ridden by Stone. The start was good with Nelson slightly in advance which position was held for a short distance till the trail branched off from the course towards Coleman and Nelson's claim. It was here that "Midnight" decided the race by bolting for home taking both horses a race down over the hillside through the brush, throwing Nelson among a lot of stumps, but very fortunately not hurting him. Stone was not unseated and after a little skirmishing among the bushes succeeded in getting back to the course and finishing in a canter. According to the rules under which the race was run "Jack" won the race.

A heavy thunder shower next put in an appearance and there was lots of sprinting to get in out of the wet. This put an effectual damper on the sports, as no contests were held excepting pole vaulting, Sid Sheldon and E. Friedland came out even, dividing first and second money; standing high jump, Crosby won first and Friedland second prize; standing broad jump, Thos. Dodd first, Crosby second. The balance of the sports will be held at Caribou, Friday evening, July 12.

In the evening a grand ball at the Dougherty hotel gave pleasure to throngs of merry Dominionites. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Randall, Mr. H. C. Cotwell, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hering, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. T. Bosworth, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Keyes, Mesdames Wild, Van Wart, Davies, Morrell, Scott, Misses Hartman, Erricson, Kapfer, Crane, Margee and Marion-Bosworth and Irene Cotwell, and gentlemen too numerous to obtain their names.

The Fourth festivities opened on Gold Run by a game of baseball between a picked nine from No. 30 and the 13 nine, resulting in a victory for the 13 boys by a score of 8 to 2. Carroll and Noble were the battery for 30 and the Lawn boys acted in the same capacity for 13. The game was exciting from start to finish. At the conclusion of the game the players and their friends retired to 12 roadhouse where the genial proprietors, the McDonald brothers, set up a grand spread.

A tag of war was held at 27 in the afternoon between the upper Gold Run and lower Gold Run teams, won by the upper team after an exciting contest.

In the evening a ball was held at Slippert and Benson's Central hotel and a large crowd enjoyed the hospitality of the house. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Tyler, Lowry, Risehart and Thompkins, Mesdames Coole and Sybel and Misses Sloggy, Ness, Evanson, Keeny and Sullivan and a full house of gentlemen.

NEW QUARTZ DISCOVERY

Reported But Particulars and Location Not Given.

A new quartz ledge has recently been discovered, samples of which show it to be of great value. The exact location of the mine has been kept a profound secret and up to the present time is known only to two men who absolutely refuse to talk on the subject. The nearest description of the property obtainable is that it is within a distance of 20 miles from Dawson and easy of access.

Some who have seen the sample say that it was never obtained in this country, but the fact that it was found on this particular property and that there is a large body of ore of the same quality is affirmed by the parties interested in it.

An effort was recently made to obtain the stamp mill of the Ladue Company with which to start development work, but the party who owns the mill has declined to do so. The party who owns the mill has declined to do so. The party who owns the mill has declined to do so.

The location and development of quartz properties has now become an item of great interest to the inhabitants of this country, both from a mining and commercial standpoint. There have been a number of ledges discovered and recorded, but as yet nothing has been located which has given any promise of yielding big results.

Should the strike above reported prove, when the full facts are made known, which has been promised within a short time, to be what the locators claim, it will mean a great deal for the future prosperity of this country.

GEORGE O'BRIEN.

of his appearance, habits and general deportment since the sentence of death was passed upon him. It is through the courtesy of Major Wood that the Nugget was enabled to view the triple murderer and see him as he actually is, standing as he does upon the threshold of death with but a few short weeks yet to live, and the Nugget is the only newspaper which has been accorded the privilege of seeing the condemned prisoner.

Armed with a pass the Nugget man and sketch artist were shown through the prison under the escort of guards, viewing the women's ward as well as that occupied by the men. In the former are three prisoners, Mollie Thompson, Corinne Grey and Mrs. Mangen. Mollie has lost much of the bloom of youth from her cheeks and is pale from her confinement. When seen she was engaged in manipulating a washboard, while Corinne's dainty fingers were applying patches to trousers of variegated hue.

The death chamber which O'Brien is now occupying is the first one immediately to the left as one enters from the guard room. It is an ordinary cell used only by those condemned to death, O'Brien having been transferred to it immediately after sentence was pronounced on him. The cell is entirely devoid of furniture with the exception of a small table and stool which are occasionally allowed him, though he often writes on his knee sitting on the floor with his back braced against the wall. He has no bed, but simply lies on the floor rolled up in his blankets. The greater portion of his time while awake is spent in writing letters and communications, the privilege of pencils and an unlimited quantity of writing paper being allowed him by the guards.

Since his confinement in the death chamber O'Brien has been a model prisoner in many respects and has never given his keepers the slightest trouble. He is the same calm, cool O'Brien today that he was all during the trial, and betrays not the slightest degree of nervousness or fear at the fate in store for him. He still maintains his innocence and is confident the appellate court will grant him a new trial, which may to a great extent account for the splendid and long continued display of nerve. His color is good, his step and actions quick and alert and his eyes are as bright, probably, as they ever were in all his life. His appetite is as good as that of any husky Swede twisting a windlass at 40 below.

For supper last night he ate a large piece of beef, several boiled potatoes, a number of slices of bread and butter, a dish of fruit and two cups of tea. Nor is his sleep in the least disturbed by any pangs of conscience he may be supposed to have. He retired last night at 10 o'clock and 15 minutes later was sleeping as quiet y and peacefully as a babe, never once awakening until the guard was changed this morning at 6:30.

The report recently given publicly that O'Brien has lost his nerve, starts at the least sound, and paces his cell like a caged tiger in a pipe dream, utter senseless rot without an iota of truth in it and originating only in the fertile brain of a reporter seated at his desk a half mile distant from the prison.

Since the first day of his trial to the present O'Brien has not changed in any way, manner or form whatsoever, and if he is hanged on the day set for his execution, August 23, those who see him daily are of the opinion that he will mount the scaffold with the same degree of sang froid that has characterized his appearance ever since his arrest.

The other sketch in the corner shows Mollie Thompson at work in the female ward.

J. W. ROGERS NOT REPORTED

His Liabilities Said to Amount to Over $10,000.

No word has yet been received from any of the capisases issued for the apprehension of J. W. Rogers, the former Gold Run operator and one time proprietor of the Monte-Carlo. In conversation with one of his creditors, it was stated that Rogers' liabilities amount to fully $10,000, one debt alone reaching the sum of $7000. The astounding statement was also made that Rogers never owned an interest in the Gold Run claim which was the scene of a shooting scrape about a year ago. The interest he claimed to possess, it is said, was taken away from him by Ed Holden upon his failure to pay certain moneys due on it. Many of Rogers' creditors are very bitter, particularly those whom he victimized by means of fraudulent checks. They say they will bring him back to justice even though it is necessary to follow him into American territory and secure his extradition. He is supposed to have gone down the river in an open boat.

YOU MAY FANCY

THAT the editorial "roast" in the Nugget is giving our advertisement each day is paid for by THE SUN, just as our display advertisement is, and is intended to call particular attention to the advertisement. We can't blame you if you do, but for the honor of the profession we will state that such is not the case. It does the work all right, and is worth money to us, but the Nugget's editor, possibly conscience-stricken at the exorbitant rates the soulless, mercenary business manager charges us for space, throws in a daily editorial "roast" simply as "lagniappe" as our Louisiana contemporaries would call it, or for "good measure" as it might be called here. It's all in the business—one of the secrets of the trade—and if you are not now a subscriber to the WEEKLY SUN, you should at once subscribe to get the benefit of the remarks we will "hand" the Nugget in return for its editorial mention, for our replies are alone worth the price of subscription.

LAST NIGHT'S HEAVY RAINFALL

Dampened our arder just as little as do the Nugget's complimentary remarks. THE DAILY MORNING SUN will appear as advertised, and its contents and general appearance will speak for it in answer to the Nugget's remarks.

"EVERY KNOCK'S A BOOST,"

And although we had not intended to advertise so extensively in the Nugget as we are now doing, with the editorial advertisement given us we cannot afford to stay out of its columns.
