Supreme Court.

The October term of the Supreme Court for this county opened on Tuesday, Judge Wilkins presiding.

There were present 18 Grand Jurors, but an unusually small number of Petit Jurors.

The only attorney present from outside the county was H. Oldright, Esq.

His Honor congratulated the jury upon there being no criminal calendar, and was presented with the emblematical white gloves. The jury afterwards, however, found bills of indictment against James Miller for assaulting a constable in the discharge of his duty, and Niron Thompson and Wm. Frizzle for taking a net from a fishery warden who was in the discharge of his duty.

There were 43 Summary and Appeal, and 48 Declaration Causes, of which the following were tried. (Of the attorneys' names given, the first is for plaintiff, the second for defendant.)

SUMMARY AND APPEAL.

John Cathan vs. Collingwood Pugsley. Prosecution for trotting a horse over a bridge. Defence denial. Conviction below confirmed. Townshend and W. A. D. Morse.

J. W. Delaney vs. F. Hunter et al. Action on note. Defence fraud. Judgment below for plaintiff reversed on grounds that amount claimed exceeded jurisdiction of J. P.'s court. Townshend and Oldright.

Addresses were presented by the Amherst Y. M. C. A., last week, to Messrs. F. W. George and A. H. Patterson.

An address signed by all the business people of the place was also presented to Mr. Patterson, which contained the following paragraph:

"It affords us much pleasure to look back upon the harmonious business relations which have existed between us the past two years, and we are gratified to know that while you have given entire satisfaction to the business community, at the same time your management of the Bank of Nova Scotia Agency has been profitable to that institution. And we doubt not that the integrity and uniform courtesy which have distinguished your department in this place will merit for you the confidence and respect of those with whom you are about to associate."

Mr Patterson and family have removed to Liverpool, N. S. Mr. George is to leave for Picton next week.

A steam saw-mill owned by the Hon. W. Muirhead, on Miramichi River, and uninsured, was burned on Saturday last.

The Evangelical Alliance closed its session at New York on Saturday last.

The Amherst Warehouse Co., succeeding the firm of B. Douglas & Co., has removed into its new store, although the building is not yet quite finished. The main salesroom is very spacious, being 50x38 ft. Although making what almost seems a new start in business, the company will probably soon command that extensive trade enjoyed by its predecessors when the fire occurred.

We hope our Spring Hill friends will persist in endeavoring to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors among them, but advise them by all means to take the legal course. We have an active Clerk of License who is ever ready to do his duty, and to him let application be made to suppress the sale. The temperance party is the one for law and order.

Mr. Weathered Bent, Leicester, has trapped three bears within the past three weeks. He seems to have no for*bear*ance with the Bruin family, and the bare fact that during his life he has wrought destruction to twenty-six of these animals, entitles him, we think, to the championship of the province.

The annual inspection of the Cumberland Battalion will take place on Wednesday afternoon next near Drill Shed, Amherst. The four Companies will assemble at 2½ o'clock, and Col's Laurie and Sawyer will arrive on the ground at about 3½ o'clock.

Digby is to have a new hotel near the landing, of capacity sufficient to accommodate about 200 persons. The estimated cost of the building is $16,000.—It is expected that the building will be completed and ready to enter by the 1st of July.

The Ottawa Times says Government will move for a committee to examine evidence taken before the Royal Commission and to take such further evidence from Mr. Huntington or others as may be available.

Adam and Charles Black, of London, are about to publish the ninth edition of the Encyclopedia Brittanica the most extensive and valuable work of the kind published in modern times. It will require an outlay of a million of dollars.

The Petersburg, Va., Index and Appeal has a paragraph announcing the arrival in that city of Mr. Dawson Hayward, foreman of this office, who was there spending a vacation amid the scenes of his early boyhood.

The Cumberland Co. Rifle Association acknowledges the receipt of $4 from E. Vickery, Esq., M. P. P. Lt.-Col. H. G. Pineo has also contributed, in addition to his fromer donations, a handsome French Clock.

At the Supreme Court at Annapolis, last week, the Grand Jury, Magistrates, and Bar presented Judge McCully with a highly complimentary address. The learned Judge made an appropriate reply.

A few days ago, Mr. Earnest A. Sharp, of Maccan, shot a large bald eagle which measures 7 feet across the wings. He intends to have it stuffed and presented to the Museum at Halifax.

The bark Snowdon, 316 tons, built at Londonderry, N. S., in 1863, and recently under the American flag, has been sold in London for about £2100, to go under a foreign flag.

The Star has removed from Kentville to Berwick, and a new paper called the Western Chronicle is to be issued at the latter place in about a month, by M. J. A. Cogswell.

The Colonial Farmer, Fredericton is considerably enlarged, and the agricultural department edited by Mr. Keator, who is said to be highly competent for the work.

It will will be seen by adv't that Messrs. Chapman & Etter are opening a custom tailoring department, and have secured head workmen of superior ability.

We are glad to state that the Rev. G. Townshend, who has been suffering from a painful surgical operation in the removal of a tumor from the neck, is again able to be out.

The Cheese Factory started at Mabou, last June, is doing a good business. The establishment turns out about 350 pounds of cheese per week.

Mr. W. F. George, of Sackville, N. B., lately sold a short-horn calf to Mr. Slipp of Jemseg for $80.

Joseph L. Black, Esq., has during the season shipped eight large cargoes of deals to G. Britain.

CUMBERLAND CROPS FOR 1873.

No. 4 Polling District.

(Comprising East and West Branch, Windham Hill, Gray's Road, Mount Pleasant, and River Philip Proper.)

REPORTED BY R. L. BLACK, ESQ., RIVER PHILIP.

HAY AND GRAIN.

The Hay crop is exceedingly good—much above the average—and stored in fine order.

There is very little Wheat sown, as our farmers believe they can buy it cheaper than they can raise it, but what has been sown has been a very good crop.

Barley is not much sown but what has been has turned out well.

There has been a much larger breadth of Oats sown than last year and they have ripened well with the exception of some few fields that were sown late and beaten down with the terrific storm of the 24th August. They will yield 30 bushels to the acre. I sowed one field of Norway Oats which looks beautiful.

There was a large breadth of Buckwheat sown, but it was almost totally destroyed by the gale.

Very little Rye was sown, but what there was yielded well.

Flax is very little raised. Our young ladies do not care to run the little wheel, as they have since the Woollen Manufactory has been put in operation, abandoned the spinning wheel.

ROOTS.

Potatoes were got in in good time last spring, the weather having been favorable. A large quantity was planted, and a heavy crop is now being dug in fine condition. Our farmers have planted a good many Early Rose, which yield about 25 bushels to one of planting and are of splendid quality, your correspondent not recollecting of seeing one decayed Potato. We have none or very little blight this year.

Turnips which escaped the devouring fly in the spring are looking well.

Beets, Parsnips, Carrots and all garden roots are above the average crop.

FRUIT.

Apples will be very light—not half a crop—owing to the late gale which blew more than half of them off.

The Black Plum was served in the same manner, and in some cases trees were torn to pieces.

Wild Berries were not as good as last year, the late spring frost having destroyed the blossoms.

Our gardeners do not attempt to raise Pears, Grapes, or Strawberries but begin to talk about them. We all give too much attention to lumbering operations for this.

I think, Mr. Editor, that were we to pay some attention to fruit growing, as good fruit could be raised in River Philip as in any part of Nova Scotia.—Indeed, I have seen as good growing here as I have seen in Kings County. If we would all become members of the Eastern Fruit Grower's Association there is no doubt it would be done.

River Philip, Oct. 13th, 1873.

HORSE NOTE.—Mr. J. R. Lamy's mare Jennie which had become such a favorite with our turfites, has also become so great a favorite elsewhere that he has been offered a price which tempted him to dispose of her. He has exchanged with Mr. Shea of Boston for the fine horse Climax, well known in the United States where he has won many races and has the best 2-mile record known, and which has also won laurels at the late races in Fredericton. Four years ago his owner challenged him against any horse in Great Britain, to run four-mile heats in Saratoga for $50,000 allowing $10,000 for expenses but the challenge was not accepted.—Mr. Shea paid $3000 for him a year ago. He is said to be a fine looking animal. He is now owned by Mr. Lamy and Mr. Church of Cornwallis. He is to be kept by the latter during the winter and be brought here as a stock horse next spring.

OLIVER OPTIC'S MAGAZINE.—This magazine now ranks high among American monthlies, and is daily becoming more popular. Subscribers who are acquainted with Mr. J. DeMille as an author will be glad to learn that a serial from his pen will soon be commenced in this work. For $3 each subscriber receives a handsome large chromo with magazine for one year. Messrs. Rogers & Black, Amherst, are the agents for Maritime Provinces.

We learn by the N. B. papers that notwithstanding the loss occasioned by the great storm the crops will be good, in some respects superior to last years. Potatoes are a partial failure.

Mr. A. Russell will hold a meeting of the B. & F. Bible Society in the Basement of the Baptist Chapel, on Friday evening, 24th inst., at 7½ o'clock.

TRAPEZE EXTRAORDINARY.—On Saturday last, while a large wagon loaded with goods was being discharged at the Amherst Warehouse Co's store, the horses, taking fright, dashed ahead, jerking the stage-poles like straws from under the staging on which were two of the workmen, Messrs. Robert Coates and Thomas Rayworth. Finding the staging suddenly going from under their feet, the men, with great presence of mind, and muscular power, caught hold of the cornice and were there suspended by the ends of their fingers until ladders were brought to relieve them from their first exhibition in trapeze.

Some of our young men amused themselves with a little horse-racing yesterday. In a trot, half-miles, 2 in 3, F. Betts and H. McSweeney's horses competed, the latter taking first heat and the former the other two. In a running race between A. Snowdon and A. Trueman's horses, the latter took first and the former the other two heats.—Our devil tried to time them with his stop-watch, a machine as true to its name as its owner to the cognomen given, and with due allowance for stoppages he made the hottest heat 4¼ minutes.

The amount of ticket sales at Amherst Station for the month of September is $1708.41. Amount of freight on goods forwarded, $585,36; on goods received $1280.53.

Mr. W. H. Townshend of Yarmouth died on Tuesday. He represented his county in the House of Assembly for many years.

There is talk of a rifle match in Amherst, between a N. B. and a N. S., team.

MR. EDITOR,—Can you inform the greater portion of the people scattered along the line of the Intercolonial Railway, who were swindled by the first contractors, why the amounts thus obtained have not been paid by the Government of the Dominion, as promised long ago? Have the unfortunates to dance further attendance at Amherst, and have a few more farcical investigations, or has the Government appropriated the amount, voted last winter to pay the people, to help white-wash the Pacific Scandal?

Yours, truly,

ST. PETERSBURGH, Aug. 2, 1873.

On arrival at Cronstadt we find no difficulty with the customs officials, who came on board, looked at the captain's papers, tried samples of his wine and ale, and pronounced us all fit subjects to enter Russian territory.

We now heard for the first time the incomprehensible sounds of the Russian language, and were amused with the various costumes of the wild looking people who surrounded us. We did not see much of the island of Cronstadt, with its fortifications, its tower and its harbor, capable of sheltering a large fleet. It is merely a subport to St. Petersburgh, and only those connected with shipping live here. There are always a large number connected with the Russian navy, and a small garrison.

There are no warehouses, as all goods go to St. Petersburgh in large lighters.

We soon find the small steamer bound to St. Petersburgh. We hear the orders, given to the engineer are in English, and on looking round, discover this steamer was built on the far away Clyde. A large number of dismantled men-of-war are lying in the roadstead and dock, a few ironclads, monitors and gunboats—a rather formidable fleet if they are well officered and manned. As we ascend the lake-like expanse above Cronstadt, to the right are Oranienbaum and Peterhoff, well covered with trees from among which peep out the gilt domes of the imperial palaces and many other golden copellas, spires, and marble white towers. On the left are the well wood-covered heights of Finland. As we ascend the Neva we see rising out of the water a line of golden domes (each church has a dome covered with gold or gilt), tall spires and towers glittering in the sun. Conspicuous above all was the superb pile of the Isaac church, the most modern sacred edifice, and by far the finest in the city. One hour and a half takes us to the pier, where we landed without difficulty, and found, as eager and vociferous as any Irish carman, a number of drosky drivers. We engaged one to drive us to the English hotel. The drosky is small, sets on four small wheels, and is quite as comfortable to ride over the rough paved streets of this city as a wheelbarrow or horse cart.

At the hotel we found comfortable quarters at reasonable charges. Our passports were taken and signed and returned to us without trouble.

Perhaps the first feeling one experiences, is one of disappointment—so much has been written about the places, the large buildings, the extent of the city, that you must be here some little time to fully appreciate all the grandeur of the place.

History tells us that in 1803, when New York and Boston were flourishing commercial towns, Peter the Great commenced this city, yet even he, with the resources of Russia, at his command, found it no easy task to convert the the marshy shore and swampy islands into a fit habitation for man. Food and fuel must be brought from a great distance, for the barren neighborhood produced nothing. No stone existed in the swamps of the Neva. Every vessel entering the harbor, if a large one, must bring thirty stones; if small, ten; and every peasant's wagon three, to aid him in building his bridges and public works.

The first brick house was built in 1710, but the growth of the city was still slow, and when Peter died he left behind him only the gigantic plan of a metropolis whose completion nature and the inconveniences of situation seemed resolved to defeat. At the close of Catherine's, II., reign, in 1796, a wonderful transformation was effected on the north side. The academy of sciences and the academy of arts, covering a vast extent of ground, on the south the imperial palace, the admiralty and a range of palatial houses belonging to the nobility or wealthy Foreign merchants had hidden the morass and fen. The immense church of St. Isaac was building—a wilderness of granite and marble columns. The superb marble palace which the Empress had built for Prince Orloff, and a vast number of Hospitals, churches and public buildings had sprung up, like Aladdin's palace, on the most desolate site in Europe.

Within eighty years the hovel which Peter the Great planted in the wilderness had expanded into a magnificent capitol glittering with gems and gold.

The Greek church is the recognized national church of Russia, although all religions are tolerated. There is an English church at St. Petersburgh, also one in Cronstadt, kept up by a tax on English ships.

Our first visit was to the Isaac church—the pride of all St. Petersburgh. We mounted the long flight of steps that leads to the southern portico; there are three porticoes, with lofty granite highly polished pillars, constituting the beauty of the exterior of the building. The roof is supported by massive columns. They and every part of the walls are covered with the richest marbles, highly polished. In the centre is a dome, near the summit of which is seen a dove floating apparently in air.

The great attractions of the church are a row of malachite pillars, on either side of the high altar. The malachite is only veneered on copper, but the appearance is very fine.

There are also numerous pictures of Saints on the richest mosaics. The large brass doors of the church, covered with figures in the deepest relief, are very fine, as is also a large window of stained glass. Behind the high altar is a beautiful model of the church, in gold, kept in a glass case.

We attended a morning service.—The singing was very fine, some of the voices being splendid. No women are allowed to sing, and I believe no organ or instrument of any kind is ever allowed in a Greek church. The congregation all stand and keep constantly crossing themselves; some kneel and touch their forehead to the floor. The priests wear long hair and a loose robe. When one ascended the pulpit to preach we quietly left, as it was all Greek to us.

Nothing like a seat is to be seen in the church and one other thing I noticed is the absence of the cross. There was one on the curtains behind the high altar and two were in the relief-work near the roof. Instead, they have plenty of Saints before which a lamp or candle is kept constantly burning.

Every building stands on a platform of piles driven down in the soft ground, often at an enormous expense.

The foundation of the Isaac church is giving way and no one knows at what cost it is to be made secure. It is said the Czar has intimated to the Archbishop of the Greek church that if he goes to war, and should require gold, he will strip the dome of the gold and take the diamonds from the Saints.

The heat is very oppressive during the day, but the nights are cool and pleasant.

As it is my intention to note many more of the strange sights of this northern city I will close.

CASUAL.

High Price of Cattle.

"The sale of Hon. Samuel Campbell's unequalled herd of thoroughbred short-horned cattle, which took place at New York Mills, two miles from Utica, will attract attention and provoke discussion throughout the world. It was the most important sale of the kind ever held. It drew hither a number of English stock-breeders and numerous representatives from Kentucky, Pennsylvania and other States, and also from the Dominion of Canada. The prices realized were exceptionally high. The sum $40,600 was paid for one cow—the eighth Duchess of Geneva—by Mr. P. Davis, of Gloucestershire, England.

The calf of this cow was sold to Mr. Alexander, of Kentucky, for $27,000. These figures seem fabulous: but they were paid by men who counted the cost before they made the bids. In England it is impossible to secure any thoroughbred short horns; not because there are none of the pure blood Duchess breed in the kingdom (as a foolish contemporary suggests), but because the owners will not part with them for love or money. There has not been a sale of short-horns in England for twenty years; there is not likely to be such a sale for a hundred years to come. The London Field, the representative journal of the stock-raisers in Great Britain, attempted to dissuade the English purchasers from attending the Campbell sale, arguing that cattle of equal excellence could be seen in England. But it is one thing to see them and another to own them and several enterprising Englishmen, who appreciated the difference, were here yesterday to make purchases.

"Among the various breeds of men none other equals the Scotch-American in the persistency with which he sets about the accomplishment of a given object. It is many years now since Mr. Campbell, a type of that breed, conceived the idea of collecting a herd of pure blood short-horns. He went about it systematically. It was not the business of his life, but rather a relaxation from business. While he was engaged in it he was making himself famous as a manufacturer of cottons. He bought his herd at prices which seemed enormously high to his neighbors and friends; but which appear low when compared to the munificent sums realized yesterday. We believe $12,000 in gold was the highest price which Mr. Campbell paid for any single cow in his herd. He expended altogether somewhere in the neighborhood of $200,000. The aggregate receipts of yesterday's sale were in excess of $350,000. It will be seen that the profit constitutes a handsome fortune."—Utica (N. Y.) Observer.

The Nathan Tragedy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Capt. Irving, with detective Duzenbery, arrived this morning from San Francisco, having in custody John T. Irving, of whom much is said, and who claims to know all about the Nathan murder. Many facts which never appeared in print in relation to the murder have been known by the officers working in the case for some time. They were only awaiting connecting links to make the chain of evidence complete, and it is now believed the prisoner can place them on the right track. It is believed four persons were concerned in the robbery which is said to have been instigated by one yet little suspected. $10,000 of securities from Nathan's safe have been seen in possession of one of the four—Kelly, who tacitly admitted killing Nathan and described how he used the "dog."

Mr. Frederic Allison writes to the Express: "The great rain needs especial remark, not having been equalled in Halifax in a like time for many years. From the afternoon of the 5th to the afternoon of the 8th inst., there fell, during 43½ hours, 3,679 inches of rain; being about the same as the whole mean rain fall of the month of September and nearly up to that of this month, October. In other words, within the above short space of time, 371 tons of water fell on each acre in the neighborhood of Halifax."

CATTLE KILLED.—By telegram from Stellerton, dated Oct. 8th, 4:55 p. m., we received the following:—A large drove of cattle over 200 head owned by Mr. Henry, on their way from Antigonish to Halifax, while crossing Sutherland's River Bridge, it gave away, throwing about 100 of them into the River killing three outright and maiming several others.—Truro Sun.

GALES IN THE WEST INDIES.—Recent gales in the West Indies caused great damage. Among the wrecks are those of a Spanish steamer, on which 26 lives were lost, and of steamer "Missouri," formerly "Hammonia," which left Liverpool Sept. 11, for New Orleans. Loss from quarter to half million dollars.

We hope that every Agricultural Society in the province is ready to give a liberal response to the application about to be made by the Board of Agriculture for a subscription to aid the Prize List of the forthcoming Exhibition.—N. S. J. of Agriculture.

Good potatoes were sold at auction last week at 30 and 34 cents per bushel and oats 46 cents, in Halifax.—C. Mes.

FAILING SIGHT.—We are informed by one of the members of the great Spectacle firm of LAZARUS MORRIS & Co., that he has replenished the stock of their agent here, Mr. D. R. McElmon, with the celebrated Perfected Spectacles and Eye Glasses for youns, old, near and weak sighted, which are fitted on optical rules, by correspondence as well as verbal consultation. We have seen original certificates showing that these famous Spectacles and the method of fitting is just the thing the public require to avoid the bad effects which orddinary Spectacles cause. We advise those requiring help to their vision to give a call. 92 5

SURE CURE.—Coughs which are daily becoming more alarming, ulcers on the lungs which are daily deepening, may be arrested in their torturing progress by taking Dr. Wilson's Pulmonary Cherry Balsam. It soothes the patient, loosens the phlegm, which creates so much difficulty, and relieves the cough, and assists nature to expel from the system all diseased matter by expectoration. A few doses will give comfort, and a persistence in its use will effect a cure.

MR. FELLOWS—Sir: I am bound to award the palm of merit to the preparation of Hypophosphites discovered by you. I feel called upon to publish the fact, that the profession may avail themselves of a remedy in your "Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites."
