WHEN SUNDAY COMES.

We love when Sunday comes to rest, From all our toils and labors, And go and hear the preacher roasting the sins of friends and neighbors. But when his sermon seems to slant A bit in our direction, We get so angry that we can't Help out with the collection.

RACY NOTES FROM SAN FRANCISCO—FORMER BLUENOSES ENLISTING TO HELP "UNCLE SAM" IN THE WAR.

San Francisco, April 29-1918. Editor Truro News:— Our warm sunny weather has ended in an earthquake doing considerable damage to two small mountain towns Jacinto and Henmet in the southern part of the State. The past two weeks has brought winds and cold, cloudily weather, this with the thrilling war news of the Kimmel Region stirs and quickens the anxiety for the "Extras" being published every few hours. Many of our boys are leaving every day, some to go to training and others to cross the seas. Among the number are three sons of the Late James Annand, formerly of Musquodoboit Harbor. Earl, the first to enlist, is a smart Electrician from Berkeley. He has been in training for the past six months in North Carolina and is now on his way overseas. James his brother, who was in the employ of the Standard Oil Co., enlisted in the mechanical department of the aviation Corps in Texas. Charles, the youngest, of the family, was drafted and sent to Camp Lewis to train and in the past four months has worked up to the rank of Sergeant; but, being of a mechanical turn of mind, had little use for the Infantry and made application for a transfer to the Mechanics department at Forth Worth, Texas. His sisters and friends were pleased to have a short visit from Charles on his transfer and to note how becoming an officer he made in his khaki uniform. Mr. and Mrs. F. Kleinsmith of San Diego were representatives to the Masonic Conclave in this City on April 16th and spent a pleasant week with their friends here and in Oakland. Mrs. Kleinsmith is the daughter of Capt James Kickson of Sherbrook, N. S., her mother was Miss Elizabeth Archibald of Stillwater, N. S., and makes her home with her daughter in San Diego. Mr. and Mrs. Murdoch McLean are enjoying the comforts of their beautiful new home on 5th Ave. and are one of the many who delight in entertaining many of our home folks. I was indeed pleased to hear from our friends in Halifax that they are now able to begin repairs on their badly shattered homes. In a letter from my aunt, Mrs. Ann McKay of Jubilee Road, I was glad to know of her good fortune of being with her granddaughter in Stewiacke and escaped the terrible disaster. From Beachmont, Mass, comes the announcement of the marriage of Miss Bessie Alma Foster, of Apl. 3rd, to Mr. Allen Leroy Wingate. Miss Foster is the second daughter of E. H. Foster and the late Susan Marks Foster and sister of Miss Evelyn, who was married to A. J. Campbell in December last.

THE GERMAN LONG RANGE GUN LOOKS LIKE GIGANTIC CRANE.

Berlin Paper Says Shells From the Big Gun Traverse Seventy-Eight Miles in Three Minutes.

Amsterdam, May 2—Karl Rosner, the Kaiser's favorite war correspondent writing in the Lokal Anzeiger, says:—"The famous long range gun does not look like a gun. It is more like a gigantic grey crane. Suddenly it awakes with a violent disturbance, shaking the very tree trunks. Then a black thread is visible cutting the sky, a travelling calamity that can traverse the 78 miles to Paris in three minutes. When the second hand on your watch has completed its third circuit the calamity has landed in Paris."

PROFANITY.

(By Dr. Frank Crane) The trouble with profanity is not so much that it is wicked, but that it is plain dirty. It is not so much that you shock religious people, as that you disgust decent people, that we object to it. Swearers are behind the times. They are hold-overs from a former century. A hundred years ago or so swearing was a habit indulged in by all classes. Hostlers swore in the stable, gentlemen swore in the club, boys swore in the street, and ladies swore in the parlor. Husband and wife cursed each other across the breakfast table. In the stories of Smollet, for instance and in plays of the time of Ben Jonson, you will find choice oaths ripped out by the nicest people when they lose their temper. The world has grown more decent since then. A gentleman that would curse in the presence of ladies would be hustled away and never invited again. Americans, in former times, were so profane that the porters of the railway stations in France or Egypt, on seeing an American traveller alight from a train, would shout, "Right this way, Mr. Goodam!" Nowadays anybody who swears is set down at once in being coarse and vulgar. The young man who wants to succeed needs to take advantage of everything that may help him on. And swearing will be a black mark against him in any job he may have. And if he wants to associate with the right sort of girls he must keep his talk clean. Nobody wants a swearer in the office, nor in the workshop, nor on the train, nor in the hotel. The only place swearing fits is the saloon. Swearing means you don't know how to talk. Your vocabulary is limited. Swearing means weakness. You will notice that forceful men whose words carry weight, use simple, plain words. When you swear it shows your impotence. It is the petty regue of the helpless. If you can help a thing, help it; if not, keep still; anyway don't swear. Swearing has bad kin. It goes with ignorance, brutality, cruelty, drunkenness, licentiousness and anger. And you can tell a habit by the company it keeps. Swearing that is the sudden, impulsive exclamation, is not so bad, compared with swearing that has become a vile habit. And when a man gets the habit of sprinkling oaths through his speech constantly, he ought to be tied out in the barn with the pigs. To abstain from swearing does not mean you are a sissy. It simply means you're decent. To show you are manly, you don't have to have a dirty face, nor black finger nails, nor grassy clothes, nor tousled hair. You can be manly though clean. And you are not showing any manliness by filthy talk. Even if you want to hurt anybody's feelings, or insult anyone the worst way, use plain English; it hurts much worse than curses. Altogether, swearing is a useless, unclean and offensive habit. Quit it!

London, May 2—A high English authority is quoted by the Graphic as estimating the German losses in killed, wounded and captured since March 21, killed wounded and captured since is at least 900,000.

BERLIN REPORTS A VICTORY.

Berlin, May 5—Via London, May 6—The repulse of Anglo-French attacks on the Flanders battle front is reported in the official announcement by the war office today. More than three hundred prisoners are reported captured in the fighting. Increased artillery activity south of the Somme is announced in the statement.

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS CURES DISTEMPER.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills have no equal for relieving and curing constipation and all its allied troubles. Mrs. F. Martin, Prince Albert, Sask., writes:—"I had one of the worst cases of constipation my doctor said he had ever cured me of it. My father-in-law had used them, in fact he was the one who gave them to me. A number of people around here use them, and they all say used."

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Winona, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would lie awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all dead out. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong."—Mrs. ALICE SULTZ, 603 Olmstead St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expressions among women, "I am so nervous, I cannot sleep," or "it seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultz's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

TREATMENT OF PRISONERS

London, May 6—In the course of an address delivered at Newton, Lancashire, Lord Newton Assistant Secretary of Foreign Affairs, after referring to those who are dissatisfied because German prisoners of war in England were not employed under the same brutal and severe conditions as British and other prisoners are in Germany, said his experience was that the best policy was to treat the prisoners well. "It would however," he said "be idiotic not to retaliate when necessary and during the last few days retaliation has been put into operation at a certain German officers' camp in Great Britain, because a corps commander of the tenth German army persistently refused to remove grievances complained of by our men." "If the question were left to me," he added, "in view of recent captures and knowing what our men will have to undergo, I would be prepared to go further than we have done."

HAD WORST CASE OF CONSTIPATION DOCTOR EVER KNEW.

Although generally described as a disease, constipation can never exist unless some of the organs are deranged, which is generally found to be the liver. It consists of an inability to regularly evacuate the bowels, and as a regular action of the bowels is absolutely essential to general health, the least irregularity should never be neglected. Mrs. F. Martin, Prince Albert, Sask., writes:—"I had one of the worst cases of constipation my doctor said he had ever cured me of it. My father-in-law had used them, in fact he was the one who gave them to me. A number of people around here use them, and they all say used."

THE SPITTING HABIT.

The "Merchant" had communication this week from a gentleman who holds a responsible position in transportation circles. He said he did not wish his name mentioned, but he desired to commend the article in our last issue which described Canadians as the "boss spitters of the world". He said that from his observation the case was not over stated. "With the Merchant", said he, "the question is purely academic. You discuss it as you would any other matter of policy. But with me it is a very practical subject, and I am bound to say I do not know what to do about it. People come in to our railway station and spit anywhere they have a mind to. Of course there is a notice saying that they must not do it, but it would take a policeman to every visitor to see that the law is observed. And then, as your article said, smoking compartments in the railway coaches are notorious for adroit and less adroit expectoration." When one stops to think about it there should not be such a very great difficulty about correcting the spitting habit. It is purely a matter of education, and if the press of the country as a whole kept pounding away at the subject as it has done about various other things on which a strong public opinion was needed, the results would soon be forthcoming. If a few of the big daily papers ranged themselves on the side of this agitation it would almost sure to succeed. For spitting is only a habit and with a reasonable amount of persuasion even the most confirmed spitter would eventually give it up."—The Maritime Merchant.

THE WOODWORTH FAMILY IN THE WAR.

That brave politician the late Douglas B. Woodworth, ex-M.P.P. left some good loyal fighting stock in his native Kings County. We clip the following articles from the Kentville Advertiser:—

Enlisted At 46 Yers of Age. Mr. Todd C. Woodworth Formerly of Kentville, Joins His Two Sons.

Our Military news this issue has considerable reference to the Woodworth family and it is a family that has set a precedent in patriotism. Elsewhere will be found a reference to Horace Woodworth son of Todd C. Woodworth and his escape from a torpedoed vessel. Another brother, Douglas is also in the service being with the famous "Black Watch" and now the father, though 46 years of age and a busy man in many enterprises, has caught the war fever and has passed over from the United States and is now in Canada enlisted as a private seeking to join his son in England as soon as possible to go forward for service in France. Todd Woodworth is a man of fine physique and the training already performed has, "he says" taken ten years from his age.

This Mr. Todd Woodworth is a son of the late Douglas of the late Douglas B. Woodworth.

Son of Former Kentville President Among Survivors of Steamship Torpedoed.

The following from a Boston paper refers to Horace C. Woodworth the 18 year old son of Mr. Todd C. Woodworth and grandson of Douglas B. Woodworth former M. P. for Kings Co. Included among the six survivors of the guard of the American steamship Florence H., which was blown up in a French port on the night of April 17, is a Boston boy, Horace Campbell Woodworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Todd C. Woodworth of 34 Pleasant street, Hyde Park. A telegram received yesterday by the boy's parents from the Navy Department stated that the young man had been rescued and was slightly injured. The second telegram also made known that the Woodworth boy had been appointed a chief radio officer, something the lad did not know himself. He had recently taken an examination to become chief electrician, and has been promoted by the Navy Department, who referred to him in the telegram as chief electrician. Young Woodworth is but 18 years old, and graduated last June from the Hyde Park High School, receiving his diploma in uniform, having enlisted two months previous to graduation. He enlisted in April of last year as a second class seaman, was assigned to the U. S. Virginia, and was in Halifax, close by the explosion between an ammunition ship and Belgian relief ship wrecked part of the city of Halifax and killed many.

reserve battalion. Though so young he is as stalwart a man weighing over 160 lbs and standing 5 ft. 11 3/4 inches. This young man has set a worthy example in patriotism so to many other who refer to remain at home in ease comfort rather than brave the dangers necessary in defence of ones country. He will seek the first opportunity to take his position in the lines in France.

expenditures, which will have to be made this year. He hoped there was no dominating influence behind the administration, such as there was behind the previous one. Unless its administration was just and right it would be handled without gloves during succeeding sessions.

RETAIL GROCERS GRANTED UNTIL JUNE 1st TO SECURE LICENSES.

The Canada Food Board has announced that it has extended until June 1st, the date on and after which it will be illegal for any retail grocer to carry on business except under license from the Food Board. It is the intention of the Board to enforce strictly its licensing regulations. These places upon the retail grocer the responsibility for ensuring that he has a license, and any retail grocer who does not secure such license before June 1st will be held strictly to account. Similarly, the regulation that wholesalers and other licensees must not deal with unlicensed retail grocers on and after June 1st, must be observed absolutely. The extension of time was decided upon in order to enable all retail grocers in all parts of Canada to comply with the licensing order, and no retail grocer will have anything to excuse his failure to secure a license on or after June 1st.

SPORTIV TIMES IN THE COMMONS.

Ottawa, May 2 Referring, in the House of Commons, last night to the Governor-in-Council cancelling the exemptions of men between the ages of 20 and 22, Captain Read, of Prince Edward Island, made use of the words "Iniquitous measure." He was called to order by the Speaker and in explanation stated it was not the Order but the action of the government he was referring to, ("Laughter"), a few minutes later Captain Read caused much amusement with another reference to the government and its war policy. He said: "I don't want to see the government defeated at this present juncture. I want to see them punished and punished well. Crime and punishment are inseparable"; continuing, Capt. Read made a strong appeal for the remission of the duty on potatoes and vegetables. So that the surplus of these products in Prince Edward Island might find its way to the markets of the United States. In the province from which he came, declared Capt. Read, the farmers produce the finest potatoes in the world. The people in Ontario did not like them. That, he said, was because they had not learned how to cook them. The government he went on, was not justified in keeping the duty on potatoes. This was done, presumably, to protect the Canadian farmers. He wished to tell the government that in Prince Edward Island they did not want any protection they could raise potatoes there 50 per cent cheaper than in any other part of Canada. "You men of Ontario and the West," he said, "You have got free wheat now. Why, in the name of common sense can't you let us have free potatoes? Give us a free market in the United States and in no time you will see our province blossom like the rose." E. W. K. Baldwin, Stanstead, cautioned the government regarding the

VICTORIA CROSSES FOR BRAVE AVIATORS.

Special despatch to Daily News. London, May 1. The Victoria Cross has been awarded to Lieut. Allen Gerrard and Alan Arneet McLeod, an 18 year old Canadian boy from Manitoba, a member of the Royal Air force, for deeds which stand out, even among the exploits in this branch of the service. Gerrard, when on an offensive patrol with two other officers, attacked five enemy airplanes, shooting one down in flames. He then attacked an enemy machine, engaging single handed some nineteen machines which either were landing or starting off, and crashed one of them against the airframe. A large number of machines then attacked Gerrard, but seeing one of his companions in difficulty, he went to his assistance and destroyed a third enemy machine. Fresh enemy machines were arising from the aerodromes and he attacked them one after another and only retreated when ordered to do so. Five machines pursued him, but he turned altho apparently wounded, and repeatedly attacked them until overwhelmed by numbers, he was driven down. McLeod, while flying at an altitude of 5,000 feet was attacked by eight enemy machines, which dived at him from all directions, firing from their front guns. By skilful manoeuvres he enabled his observer to fire bursts at each machine in turn, shooting three down. By this time both McLeod and his observer were wounded, and their machine in flames. McLeod climbed out on the plane, controlling the machine from the ground, by side-slipping steeply he kept the flames confined to one side, thus enabling the Observer to keep on firing until the ground was reached. McLeod dragged the Observer from the flaming machine and, altho again wounded by a bomb perveres he had placed his companion in safety, when he fell from exhaustion, due to loss of blood.
