AN AWFUL CALAMITY.

A Pioneer Buncoed Out of His Own Cabin for Refusing to Work.

"It came out as I journeyed on horseback through Dakota that almost every settler's land was under mortgage, said a Westener, "and one day, when I came upon a pioneer seated on the grass by the roadside, with a troubled look on his face, I asked him if it was the mortgage he was worrying about.

"Wuss that that, stranger,' he replied, as he looked up wearily. "Sickness or death in the family?"

"'Wuss than that.' "Then it must be a calamity, indeed. You didn't lose family and bome by a prairie fire?

"'Nope, but you are right about its being a calamity. I've been tryin' to think of that word for two hours past. Yes, sir; you can put it down as an awful calamity! 'But wont you explain?' I persist-

"'I will, sir. Thar was a mortgage en the claim, and I was feelin' as big as any of my selebors, and takin' things easy, when my wife was left $600. Stranger, dar I tell you what she dfd with that money?"

"'She didn't lose it?" "'No, sir. She jest paid that mortgage, bought two horses and a plough, and this mornin' I was bounced out of my cabin bekase I wouldn't peel off my coat and go to work! Yes, sir, you are right. It's a calamity-a calamity that's landed me on the outside, and between my durned pride and her blamed spunk somebody'll be eatin' grass afore Saturday night!'

What the Moon Saw. Across the lake the willow whispered and hid her face behind her waving tresses. The moon, in answer to a cornstalk, blushed red and crept behind a passing cloud. The black bird, piping in the flags, grew silent, and the frog sank down deep in the ooze along the banks, turning his shinning back upon the scene transpiring on the bosom of the lake. The waters ceased their purling, and each little wave held its breath and did not stir. All, all was silent.

Adown the lake there crept a boat Within it sat a maiden .and a .youth how fair was she! And, oh, how handsome was he! The oars lay on the seat, dripping a silent drop to the water. They drifted. All, all was silent. Darker and yet more silent grew the night, for Nature's voice was hushed. The whole world seemed to hold its breath. And then-The moon leaped forth from behind the cloud, the willow swept her locks from her eyes, the frog came forth, the cricket and the night birds sang and the world burst forth once more in song.

MALT BREAKFAST FOOD

For Weak and Overtaxed Stomachs in Summer time

Sir William Roberts, M. D., F. R. S. the great authority on "Foods and their values," says: "Not a few of those who bear a large and vigorous part in the world's work, and may perhaps reach a green old age, are plagued half their days with tic troubles." The use of Malt Break-fast Food each morning speedily brings all the comforts and ble fect digestion and robust health. Malt Breakfast Food keeps up a full supply of energy in the hot weather when you most need it. Your Grocer sells Malt Breakfast Food.

Probably no but erfly thinks any o he other worms will ever be smar enough to turn the way he did.

When a boy turns his bulging po ket inside out we marvel at the quan tity and variety of articles he has stowed away. Odd lengths of string, marbles, a horse-chestnut, a top, brass nails, hickory-nuts, an apple, and many more articles are garnered by this "snapper up of unconsidered trifles." We think the collection must be hard on a boy's pocket. And it is. But do we ever think of the variety and miscellany of the substances we put into the pocket of our sto mach? There's the apple and the nuts, and things besides quite as indigestible as brass nails and with no more food value than so many marbles. And yet we wonder that the stomach "gives out." When the stomach breaks down under the strain of careless eating and irregular meals it can be perfectly and permanently restored to health and strength by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The action of this medicine on the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition is so marked, that relief from disease is at once experienced, and the headaches, liver "troubles" kidney disorders, skin eruptions and other symptoms of a diseased stomach are quickly cured. Whenever the use of a laxative medicine is indicated, use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They act in harmony with the "Discovery" and assist its action by purging the bowels of

A Strange Thing. There was one word the little girl heard many times a day and could not imagine what it was. The word was Mussentouchit. Baby wondered who Mussentouchit could be. The strange thing lived in the bureau drawers; it lived in the sewing machine; it lived in the tall jar that stood on the little round table; it certainly lived in the glass globe where the gold fishes swam This went on till baby was two years old. Mussentouchit was everywhere in the shining books on the parlor table; in the flower beds; among the roses; even in mamma's work-basket the strange thing lived; and if baby took up a reel of silk or cotton, there was Mussentouchit.

One day baby found lierself by the glass globe all alone. The family were very busy, and for a few minutes forgot the little, prying, restless darling. This was her chance. Up went the chubby legs into the chair that stood near the gold-fish globe. Poised on the rounding cushion, baby reached far over to touch the gold-fish. In reaching she lost her balance and fell, drag-ging the globe to the floor. There was crash, a scream, a rush, and mamma was on the spot. Baby was picked up,

"I dess I tilled old Mussentouchit 'is time!" she said, shaking herself and walking off.

For one thing we must resolutely resolve that we will not spend money in trifles. "Trifles make up the sum of human life;" they certainly add very considerably to the sum of household them is that the people who most indulge in them are the most unconscious of the fact. "Avoid spending money in trifles, of course," says the embarrassed householder, what every one says; yet why repeat the advice to me? I never buy trifles; I have something else to do with my money." The ball rolled along through the grass, and when the player who was after it got to where he had seen it stop, he was almost paralyzed to see-lying there, instead f the ball, a big rattlesnake, coiled to strike. The player jumped back in time to escape the fangs of the snake, for it struck savagely at him. The player smashed the snake's head with a stone. The ball lay in the snake's coils. It is suppose that the snake was lying asleep in the grass, when the ball rolled along and ran against him. The repti'e had instantly coiled around the object and prepared for suspected danger.

OF THE NERVES

A Frequent Cause of Death-The Result of the Severe Strain of Modern Life-The Up-to-date Treatment is Dr. Chase's Nerve

In this age of keen competition, when the struggle for life, for wealth, or for position requires so much worry and over-exertion, it has become quit common to see about us the physical wrecks of persons whose nervous systems broke down under the straim. Some are par-tially paralyzed and have lost the use of certain parts of their body, which is little more than a dead mass to them. Others are victims to locomotor ataxia, and can no longer properly control their arms or legs. What a touching sight it is

When you get nervous and irritable, suffer with headache and dyspensia, have lost the usual energy and ambition; cannot sleep well at nights and feel tired and worn-out you may know that your nerves are becoming exhausted, and that you are on the way which leads to nervous prostration, paralysis and loco-motor ataxia. The sightest indications of nervousness should be sufficient' to arouse you to the importance of a prompt' use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the only merve restorative that has been strongly endors-ed by physicians and by scores of thousands of cured omes, many of whom were on the verge of nervous collapse. It is easy to delay treat-ment; but every day makes you so much weaker and makes recovery so much harder to bring about. The restorative action of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food puts a stop to the wastand permanent cures.

Mrs. Chas. H. Jones, Pierceton Que., writes:
"For years I have been a great sufferer with my heart and nerves I would take shaking spells and a dizzy, swimming feeling would come over me. Night after night I would never close my eyes, and my head would ache as though it would burst. At last I had to keep to my bed, did not help me.

"I have now taken five boxes of Dr. Chast's Nerve Food, and it has done me more good than I ever be-lieved a medicine could do. Words fail to express my gratitude for the wonderful cure brought about this treatment."
