

Locomotor Ataxia Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Read the Strong Testimony of a Man Who Was Helpless For Years and Whom Hospital Doctors Said was Incurable.

Locomotor ataxia is a disease of the spinal cord, characterized by peculiar disturbances of the gait, and difficulty in governing the motion of the legs. As the disease progresses there is a total inability to walk. One of the earliest signs is a tired feeling, particularly noted in the knees and ankles. Often a numb feeling is associated with it. As the disease is of slow growth, some cases covering a period of years, the intensity of the symptoms is not noticed, but its progress is constant and gradually approaches a total lack of feeling in the legs, causing a wobbling gait and entire inability to govern the steps. As it grows the patient loses control over the bowels and water. A further symptom is the sensation of a pressure at the waist, as the upper parts of the spinal cord becomes affected.

Locomotor ataxia is stubborn in yielding to treatment, and before the discovery of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was considered incurable. It has been fully demonstrated, however, that this disease can be cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

The length of treatment required depends upon the stage at which it is commenced. It is dangerous to delay taking the pills after the presence of the disease is recognized, although this medicine has wrought cures in many cases of long standing.

We give the following statement of Mr. Henry Furzer, a well known resident of Delta, Ont., in proof of the claims that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure this most dreaded of diseases. Mr. Furzer says: "I am deeply grateful that I am able to write you and let you know the great benefit I have derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Some years ago, while working on the Grand Trunk Railway I injured my back while lifting a heavy weight. Gradually the trouble grew worse and I was taken to the hospital at Brockville. The treatment there seemed to help me and after some weeks I returned to work. I was only at work a few days when the trouble returned worse than before. Again I went to the hospital, blisters were applied to my spine, but without avail. The doctors told me I had locomotor ataxia, and that there was no help for me, as I would never be able to use my legs again. I returned home in the belief that I would always be a helpless cripple, and that death only could bring relief. I gradually got worse and worse. There was absolutely no feeling in my legs. I lost control of both bowels and bladder, and suffered great torture from a girding pain about the waist. I was in fact a complete wreck and could scarcely sleep at night. Finally, a friend asked me if I had ever tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and on my saying no, he got me a supply and I began to use them. It was quite a while before I found any benefit, but finally relief began to come. The pains about the waist ceased. I slept better and my appetite was better. Then the feeling began gradually to return to my legs, and then I was again able to stand alone. As time went on the improvement continued, and I was at last able to go about with the use of a cane, and I could get in and out of a buggy without assistance.

I scarcely hope to be the vigorous man I once was, but only those who have suffered as I did can imagine the great gratitude I feel for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I strongly and sincerely advise similar sufferers to give this medicine a fair trial."

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SMASHING THE ECONOMY PLANK

(Moncton Transcript.)

The "salary grab" at the provincial capital affords further evidence of the persistent disregard of pre-election pledges shown by the Hazen party during their brief term of office.

It will be remembered how they went about the country prior to the last provincial election shouting about "economy." They were going to abolish "extravagance." They were going to cut down expenses of administration and introduce wonderful reforms.

It is interesting to recall some of the promises held out by the Hazenites when in Opposition respecting the administration of the province. It is timely to note how definitely they were pledged to "economy" in the running of the governmental machinery.

Among the reforms desirable in the public interests advocated by Hon. Mr. Hazen, when he was leader of the Opposition, was the reduction in the number of government members and the lowering of the expenses of administration. The following paragraphs appear in a series of resolutions moved by him, in the legislature when leader of the Opposition.

"The immediate abolition of the office of solicitor general, having in view the reduction of salaries of members of the executive and the amalgamation of offices at present existing."

"The reduction of the number of members in the House of Assembly to thirty-eight and the division of the province in thirty-eight electoral divisions, each returning one member; the different divisions to be as nearly as possible equal in population, having regard to other interests; lines to be preserved as far as may be and the divisions in existing."

to ridings to be made by an independent commission consisting of three judges of the Supreme Court.

The reduction by at least one-half of the amount allowed by the Attorney General for settling succession duties, a substantial reduction in the cost of public printing, a reduction in the travelling expenses of members of the executive, a reduction in the controllable expenditure of the province and such changes in the legislative and departmental machinery of the province as will lead to a substantial reduction in the cost thereof."

Now there is a clear-cut, definite pledge to the electorate to reduce the number of ministers at the provincial capital, and bring about a reduction of the cost of administration.

But what have the government done? Have they reduced the number of members of the executive, as they proposed to do when in Opposition? There are as many ministers in the government as there were when they came into power. Has there been any reduction in salaries? The salaries have remained just where they were at the time they took office; and now they come down with a proposal to make a change, not to effect a saving, but to increase the cost of administration. After all their talk about "economy" after all their fine promises to reduce expenses, they make a raid on the treasury and increase salaries. Two members of the government, the Surveyor General and the Commissioner of Public Works, now receive $1,700 a year and the government proposes to increase their salaries to $2,100 per annum.

That is the way the Hazenites are carrying out their promises to "economize." While they were in Opposition and did not have the handling of public monies they made all sorts of promises to cut down expenses, but now that they are in power and have control of the revenues, what are they about pre-election vows? Fine professions about introducing "economy" are thrown to the winds. They dip into the provincial treasury and increase salaries, recklessly breaking faith with the people of this province.

The smashing of the "economy" pledge by the Hazen administration is only one of many instances in which the government have flagrantly violated their promises made when in Opposition. Some day the people will have an opportunity of showing this band of pledge-breakers what they think of such conduct.

HARCOURT.

The event of the season, and one that is looked forward to with most absorbing interest is the May Party, or, I should say parties; as it has long been a custom in the village, on the morning of May Day to crown three Queens—something unusual, I imagine. One is selected from among the ranks of the wee-tots, one from among the school girls, and another from the buds, who have made their first bow to the world of pleasure.

From the latter, this year, Miss Maude McPherson was chosen Queen, and a most charming one she made. Her Maids of Honor were Miss Ethel Wathen, and Miss Cameron. The Queen in this set is supposed to hold her reception in the evening, and a right royal welcome was extended the young people at the home of Mrs. John Beattie, where game and music were indulged in till a late hour.

From among the school girls Miss Dorothy Dunn was selected as Queen, and she and her charming maids, Misses Georgina Cormier and Maggie Wathen, made a fair and dainty group. She held her court from six to ten in the evening. The most interesting of all, probably, in this rather interesting function is the gathering of the little ones. This year Frances Barrieau, a fair-haired tot of five, was crowned, the Maids of Honor being Jessie Bucklefield and Jean Wathen. Little Frances, being the niece of Miss Buckley, the little ones to the number of thirty-five gathered at her home to do homage to the tiny Queen of May.

A most delightful afternoon was spent with games, music, &c. The usual procession through the street was in part abandoned, owing to the weather. Only the little ones braved the threatening clouds, and ventured out, and the flower crowned Queen and maids, the pages, the may pole, and attendant band of white clad children presented a pretty sight.

A feature that calls forth some rivalry is the decoration of the tables spread for the festival. At one the decorations were in yellow and white, at another a miniature may pole was used as a centre piece with garlands of flowers and ribbon streamers extending to the corners of the table. The table spread for the little ones was in pink and white. The three entertainments were decided successes.

WEAK KIDNEYS

MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Half The Common Aches and Pains of Newcastle People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Booth's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ills. Newcastle cures are the proof.

Mrs. John Gallah of Regent St., Newcastle, N. B., says: "My daughter Gertrude, of 11 years, had since infancy suffered with weak kidneys. She was sick most of the time and we had on many occasions thought she would die from Bright's disease as the doctors had failed to help her in the least. She began to suffer with a weakness of the bladder and had no control over the secretions and the result was she would wet the bed regularly. This caused a great deal of extra work and worry and the child became more weak and sorrow as she grew up. She was in a very poor condition when we began treating her with Booth's Kidney Pills procured at Mr. Durick's Pharmacy, and we had little hope of anything doing her good. Booth's Kidney Pills soon proved their worth however, and in less than a month's time she had been entirely cured. She has gained several pounds and she is stronger and better than ever before. Every mother should know of Booth's Kidney Pills and you can use my name whenever you like."

CYCLONES SWEEP THE U. S. A.

Hundreds of People Killed and Millions of Property Destroyed.

CAME FROM THE NORTH.

All the Central States Devastated,
Especially Those in the South.

Atlanta, Ga., April 30.—An epidemic of cyclones and tornadoes, the like of which have not been known for years, swept through the south last night and to-day, leaving in their wakes hundreds of dead and mangled bodies and the dismantled wrecks of property worth many millions. All along the path of the storm come tales of fearful loss of life and descriptions of whole towns and villages completely wiped out.

The storm wave had its origin in the north and swept from the lake region south in irregular fashion, now moderating its force as it spent, now growing more turbulent.

The States devastated are: Tennessee, Missouri, Arkansas, Georgia, Alabama, and neighboring districts; and the States along the lakes were badly swept. Whole towns and villages were wiped out in the south, and much damage was done in the Northern States. Hundreds of people were killed.

A BOY'S HOLIDAYS.

The ardent controversy which has been waging in England and America concerning the best way to dispose of school boys in the long summer vacation has prompted the Grand Trunk Railway system to issue a special publication giving suggestions and practical hints to parents, as to what to do with the public and preparatory school boy during the months of July and August. The vacation camp is one of the solutions and the publication entitled, "What shall a boy do with his vacation?" thoroughly covers the ground and solves the problem of the best way for a schoolboy to enjoy his holidays.

MARILE ADAMS as SALLY

(Campbellton Graphic.)

The H. Wilmot Young—Marile Adams Co. appeared last evening in the initial performance of this popular company's second engagement in our town and was greeted with a crowded house, chairs being necessary to provide seats for late arrivals.

The Company has suffered nothing by returning for a second engagement, and last night's entertainment clearly proved that the citizens are glad to again welcome Mr. Young and his talented company.

The bill was "Lena Rivers" a melodrama which has evoked favorable criticism wherever produced, and last night's performance was one of the best which has yet appeared in the Opera House.

The specialties were of an unusually high character. The Scottish trio in Scotch and Irish dances is worth the price of admission alone, while Bates and Neville in comic sketches, and trick bicycle riding are wonders.

The performance throughout is clean and bright and we bespeak for this talented company crowded houses all this week.

The piece for tonight is "In Old Kentucky," and Wednesday night, "Monte Cristo."
