The Maritime express from Mone ton was derailed at Beresford Wednesday forenoon, causing consider-able damage and delaying for several hours the express from Mont real.

An aw,ful tragedy occurred in Montreal on the 26th ult., when the Hocheloga Protestant school took fire, and Miss Maxwell, teacher, and sixteen pupils perished from suffocation. The whole loss of life seems to have been due to neglect on the part of the authorities to provide fire escapes, etc. There were 150 children in the building and fair lady teachers. The latter proved themselves herorines. Without a thought of them-selves they worked loyally to save their charges; and Miss Sarah Maxwell lost her life as a conse quences. Along with Miss Maxwell, Miss Keyes and the other teachers proved themselves worthy to be ranked among the noblest of those who risk their lives to save others. But they were unable to prevent the death of sixteen of the children. Help came too late, Most of the dead were between four and eight years.

broke out about 1.45 in the basement, having evidently orginated from an overheated furnacef The building was heated by hot air, SPEGIAL MEETING and the big pipes served as flues to carry the smoke and flames all over the building, so that within five minutes of the first alarm it was completely enveloped. It was the smoke that proved so fatal. Few of the children were burned and subsequent examination show-ed that even these few had died from suffocation before the flames reached them. Many scenes of deep pathos were witnessed both at the fire and at the morgue as parents recognized the blackened remains recognized the blackened remains of their children. In one case a father, Andrew Spragg, lost two daughters, one of whom was in the kindergarten, while the younger had gone for the first time to visit her sister. It would have

GIN PILLS CURE RHEUMATISM.

They certainly were a surprised lot of doctors out Tyneside way. They had been treating hirs. Harris for years. Gave her about everything that was ever heard of for Rheumatism—and then told her the disease was chronic.

A friend told Mrs. Harris about GIN PILLS. Just to oblige her friend, Mrs. Harris took a box. When that was gone, she dismissed the doctors and bought mother box of GIN PILLS. By the time these were gone, she was so much better that she bought the third box and laughed every time she saw a doctor.

THE FISH FAST.

I think of the fish I must eat in Lent, Of flounders and salmon and sole, And I wonder if I shall be content With a diet like this as a whole.

I haven't a doubt that haddock and shad And turbot and whiting and trout When eaten occasionally aren't so bad, While oysters are tasty with stout.

A bloater is good for a morning bite Or a little flaked cod with rice, A lobster's the thing for a dev'lish night A herring for luncheon is nice,

And there's a reward for eating this food. So the penance won't be in vain: It's universally said to be good For greatly increasing the brain. To nurture the matter that's known

One Last Request. The steamer was nearing the comple tion of a very rough passage, and

"Nothing. I simply beg of you to stop dancing. It shakes the ship too much."

So a man's morals, character and appearance were pointed out by the pattern of his passport, and the authorities could tell at a glance whether he was a gamester or a preacher, a physician or a lawyer, and whether he was to 10 put under surveillance or allowed to go free.

Materialistic Man. Sir Jan.es Crichton-Browne, the English physician, speaking before som members of his profession, protested against the tendency to adopt too materialistic an explanation of man. The raw material of a medical practice became a mere contrivance of matter and force; the brain of this poor consumer force; the brain of this poor consumer of pills and potions a "glue-like substance, nine-tenths water, with a little phosphorus thrown in." "They left us man," said Sir James, with a smashing figure, "a motor car, self made and self started, with no passengers and no chanffeur, moved by a series of explo sions or redistributions of energy, and rushing on to inevitable destruction"

Rabbits, asserts a naturalist, have white talks so that the young may distinguish their mother in case of pur-suit. The natural color of the rabbit is so like the surrounding earth that this would be impossible otherwise.

Drooping mustaches preserve the health of millers, bakers, coal heavers and ashmen, keeping the dust out of their lungs.

The Turkish Tongue. Turkish language is said by scholars to be the softest and most musical language of modern times, being better adapted to the purpose of musical notation and recitative than even the Italian. Bridal Wreaths.

The bridal wreath is usually formed in Germany of myrtle branches; in France and England, of orange blossoms; in Italy and French Switzerland, of white roses; in Spain, of red roses and pinks; in the islands of Greece, of vine leaves; in Bohemia, of rosemary; in German Switzerland, of a crown of ertificial flowers.

Brain Weight.

A large brain does not signify intellect. The brain of an illiterate person in a low station of life has been found to ontweigh those of the most celebrated scientists, poets and philosophers.

Cruelty to Goldfish. It may not be generally known that there is cruelty in the keeping of goldfish. Half of such captives die from er want of rest. As fish have eyes so formed that they cannot endure the light, in a glass vessel they are in an entirely wrong place, as is evident from he way in which they dash about and "Yes, ma'am,' assented the girl; 'it go around and around until fairly worn out.

> Luxury of the Ancients. Twenty seven hundredweight, or nearly one and a half tons, of gold plate was often placed on the tables of ancient Roman epicures.

Send some one, Lord, to love the best that is in me and to accept nothing less from me, to touch me with the search-ing tenderness of the passion for the ideal, to demand everything from me for my own sake, to give me so much that I cannot think of myself and to ask so much that I can keep nothing back, to console me by making me strong before sorrow comes, to help me so to live that while I part with many things by the way I lese nothing of the gift of life. -Hamilton W.
