

RIEDEL HALL.

Rieidel Hall, Ottawa, the residence of the Governor General of Canada has been swept and garnished, and fitted up in a style more worthy of a palace than of a residence.

The hall is one of those architectural abominations—an old-fashioned house modernized. Years ago the village of New Edinburgh and large tracts of land on the sides of the Rideau River came into the possession of Hon. Thomas McKay, a member of the Legislative Council of the Province of Ontario and a wealthy lumberman.

When Her Majesty's agent on the advice of Wellington, decided in 1851 that Ottawa should be the capital of Upper and Lower Canada, the selection was referred to Her Majesty's agent on the advice of Kingston, Montreal and Quebec—the Government of the day thought of placing the seat of the Government in the Province of Ontario.

It is not many years since he bought them up with the praise of the press, and he was to be congratulated on his success. He was to be congratulated on his success. He was to be congratulated on his success.

DEAN STANLEY'S AMERICAN PRESS.—Dean Stanley is quoted as saying in a recent issue of the "Times": "I like the people and as much as I like the country."

The London Globe thinks that people of all ranks and classes have begun to take notice of the fact that the habit of wearing moustaches and beards, is an opportunity for fashion to invent and disseminate some special types and by appropriating them skillfully to some party, political or otherwise.

The Agriculturist.

FREDERICTON, N. B., NOVEMBER 2, 1878.

THE COURSE OF THE McDONALD GOVERNMENT.

The length that Sir John McDonald's government will go in reconstructing the tariff, and the consequences that will follow if it does not do so, are subjects that are engaging the attention of political writers in Canada and the United States.

It is not many years since he bought them up with the praise of the press, and he was to be congratulated on his success. He was to be congratulated on his success.

It is not many years since he bought them up with the praise of the press, and he was to be congratulated on his success. He was to be congratulated on his success.

It is not many years since he bought them up with the praise of the press, and he was to be congratulated on his success. He was to be congratulated on his success.

It is not many years since he bought them up with the praise of the press, and he was to be congratulated on his success. He was to be congratulated on his success.

CUMULATIVE VOTING.

After the excitement of the election turning on temperance, there will be a reaction. Local affairs will flatten out unless some new question is raised to stir up the city.

There is another question which has been agitated in Canada and has been brought before the Ontario Legislature as a practical measure, which the leading minds of the people of Fredericton might take hold of.

Disaster is sure to result from universal suffrage, even with an educational test. It is not drawn from the case of a municipal government.

Disaster is sure to result from universal suffrage, even with an educational test. It is not drawn from the case of a municipal government.

Disaster is sure to result from universal suffrage, even with an educational test. It is not drawn from the case of a municipal government.

Disaster is sure to result from universal suffrage, even with an educational test. It is not drawn from the case of a municipal government.

Disaster is sure to result from universal suffrage, even with an educational test. It is not drawn from the case of a municipal government.

THE PERMISSIVE BILL PASSED.

We have this week received the acceptance of the Permissive Bill by a large majority of the voters of Fredericton.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

THE FISHERY AWARD.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

As the time draws near when it will be necessary to pay over the $55,000.00 fishery award, if they mean to keep their solemn engagement, a portion of the press is reviving the discussion of the subject, and suggesting difficulties in the way of payment, and in short, raising a cloud of trouble.

UNIVERSITY.—We are happy to learn that Dr. Jack, President of the University, has so far recovered from the physical injuries he received by the late deeply distressing accident that he has been able to resume the conduct of his classes.

The duty of filling the Chair of Classics, which will be vacated by Prof. Foster at the end of the present term, will soon devolve upon the President and senate.

Mr. T. P. Dale, of St. John, one of the alumni of the University, a gentleman of fine classical knowledge, of literary culture and attainments, is we hear among the applicants.

Mr. T. P. Dale, of St. John, one of the alumni of the University, a gentleman of fine classical knowledge, of literary culture and attainments, is we hear among the applicants.

Mr. T. P. Dale, of St. John, one of the alumni of the University, a gentleman of fine classical knowledge, of literary culture and attainments, is we hear among the applicants.

Mr. T. P. Dale, of St. John, one of the alumni of the University, a gentleman of fine classical knowledge, of literary culture and attainments, is we hear among the applicants.

Mr. T. P. Dale, of St. John, one of the alumni of the University, a gentleman of fine classical knowledge, of literary culture and attainments, is we hear among the applicants.

Mr. T. P. Dale, of St. John, one of the alumni of the University, a gentleman of fine classical knowledge, of literary culture and attainments, is we hear among the applicants.

THE SHAH AND HIS BROTHER.—The Times published an article some time ago concerning the flight of Abbas-Mirza, the brother of Nasser-Din, the Shah of Persia.

The article was based on correspondence addressed to a Russian journal, and contained a recital of the causes and circumstances of the prince's flight, as furnished by the Shah. The latter accused his brother of an attempt to put him to death.

The article was based on correspondence addressed to a Russian journal, and contained a recital of the causes and circumstances of the prince's flight, as furnished by the Shah. The latter accused his brother of an attempt to put him to death.

The article was based on correspondence addressed to a Russian journal, and contained a recital of the causes and circumstances of the prince's flight, as furnished by the Shah. The latter accused his brother of an attempt to put him to death.

The article was based on correspondence addressed to a Russian journal, and contained a recital of the causes and circumstances of the prince's flight, as furnished by the Shah. The latter accused his brother of an attempt to put him to death.

The article was based on correspondence addressed to a Russian journal, and contained a recital of the causes and circumstances of the prince's flight, as furnished by the Shah. The latter accused his brother of an attempt to put him to death.

The article was based on correspondence addressed to a Russian journal, and contained a recital of the causes and circumstances of the prince's flight, as furnished by the Shah. The latter accused his brother of an attempt to put him to death.

The article was based on correspondence addressed to a Russian journal, and contained a recital of the causes and circumstances of the prince's flight, as furnished by the Shah. The latter accused his brother of an attempt to put him to death.