THE ELECTION.

Everything was quiet in the City. The local contest today, so far as the city vas concerned, was quietly conducted There was quite a large number around the polls but everything was orderly. Occasionally, however, the opposition's attempt to rsonate caused some excitement. The followers of Black, Pitts & Co., had abundance of money, and went as high as $10 for votes with a bottle of whiskey thrown in. Sheriff Sterling and C. A. Sampson held the polls at the court house with Havelock Coy and C. A. Miles as clerks; at the city hall Harry B. Atherton and James Hamilton presided There was a lively tussle at the city hall in the morning. The Mayor allowed his office to be opened for the use of the canvassers, and Mr. P. Farrell entrenched the government forces there, while the opposition used the city clerk's office. Mr. Bill Rossborough was very mad because General Farrell had possession of so convenient a private room as the mayor's, and made considerable noise about it, but William was tenderly yet firmly suppressed. The Attorney General visited both polls during the forenoon, and later went down to Waasis to vote for Messrs. Harrison and Mr. Thompson was at front Queensbury; Mr. Whitehead at Millville; Mr. Anderson at Dumfries, and Dr. Coburn at front Mr. Black was at Kingsclear; Mr. Pitts staid in town; Mr. Howe was at Bloomfield and Mr. Pinder at Temperance Vale. A FALSE PROPHET.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S RALLY IT WAS A GREAT SUCCESS. An Excellent Programme Presented At Last Night an Unqualified Success—Bapthe Baptist Social Thursday Night. tist Church Packed to the Doors by a Delighted Audience,

The young people of the Baptist church had reason to expect their rally last evening to be a success, and their expectations were more than realized. In point of numbers, in interest, and in lasting helpfulness, it was probably as strong a meeting as has been held in Fredericton for many a day The idea of a programme, entirely in the hands of the young people and representative of all the churches, had interested the public, and shortly after seven o'clock people began to stream into the Baptist church. Six lads of the Baptist Boys' Brigade acted as ushers and handled the big crowd admirably. down with the Glee Club and their stirring When the hour for opening came they were placing chairs in the aisles and filling the last placed in the pews. Shortly after 7.30 the meeting was opened by Dr. F. W. Barbour, president of the society under whose numbers were as follows:auspices the rally was held. The singing of the double quartette was very fine, while the anthem and hymns were greatly enjoyed. Mr. Spurden as leader, with Miss Perkins as pianist and Mr. Little, cornetist, threw lots of vim into their work, and they made the place ring with the grand old hyms. The address by Rev. J. H. McDonald was fitting close to an interesting and instructive programme. In view of the united effort to be put forth by the churches in evangelistic work under the leadership of Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, it was felt that Mr. McDonald's earnest words last evening were particularly well-timed. It was regretted that Miss Edith Emack of Gibson, was unable to be present, but her paper was efficiently read by Miss Mc-Nally. In view of the success of last night's meeting it is likely that the young people's rally will be annually observed hereafter. and we are confident that it cannot fail of being greatly helpful to all the churches.
