Yesterday's Accident.

Two Seamen Knocked Overboard — Their Lives Endangered.

At two o'clock yesterday afternoon Kenneth McDonald and Edward Furlong, two seamen of the S. S. City of Sydney, which was lying at Harvey's wharf, met with an accident which nearly cost them their lives.

Both men had been engaged painting the exterior of the vessel and in doing so were standing on a scaffold which comprised a piece of heavy plank made fast with ropes slung over the ship's side. Suddenly the ropes, not being properly secured, slipped out of the fastenings and the workmen were precipitated into the water. The piece of timber also gave way and in its descent struck McDonald on the head; it was a violent blow and knocked him insensible. He would have sunk immediately and drowned but for Furlong, who proving himself a good swimmer gripped his companion underneath the arms and held his head above the surface of the water until assistance came. Meanwhile the labourers on the wharf had procured ropes and a life buoy with which they rescued the seamen. After being brought to terra firma McDonald was still unconscious from the blow he got, while his shipmate appeared as if nothing had happened. The former showed symptoms of weakness as he lost a considerable amount of blood. He was afterwards removed to the cabin of the steamer and medical attendance given him by Dr. Cowperthwaite, who had to insert three stitches in McDonald's head to close the cut that was inflicted.

Quite a number of round-trippers who were standing on the deck of the ship were eye-witnesses of the accident, and the general impression was that a fatality would have happened but for Furlong's quick assistance, his comrade while in the water.

LIFEBUOYS IN SHEDS. — Lifebuoys have recently been placed in the different sheds on Harvey & Co's premises in case of drowning emergencies. Yesterday afternoon one of them was called into requisition when the two seamen from the City of Sydney fell overboard and the life preserver filled the necessity satisfactory.

City of Sydney Here and Gone

The S. S. City of Sydney, Capt. Fraser, arrived in port from Montreal via Gulf ports at daylight yesterday morning. After leaving here the last trip the ship went aground on a sand bank at the entrance to Sydney Harbor. Two days delay was occasioned but no damage was sustained. She left Montreal on Friday last and made a fine run down. She brought one-half cargo and as passengers: — Mr. and Mrs. F. Burkhardt, Robert Pinkerton, W. Walters, Dr. and Mrs. Darrow, Mrs. W. J. Lewis, Miss Livingstone, T. Craig, Miss Tobin, Mr. and Mrs. McCarty, J. E. Hoarse, R. C. Dale, Webster, Miss B. Wadden, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ormsbee, Miss R. Taylor, Misses Gardener (2), Mr. and Mrs. Stuart, C. Pratt, Miss Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Greacen, Master Greacen, Miss Flanagan, Mrs. W. Bagley, Mrs. and Miss Wall, Master Wall.

Fall is Coming.

The days go by as days have gone since time was first invented, and every breaking of the dawn should find us more contented; for good old Summer's fallings fast and soon will be skedaddling down the river of the Past, where other ghosts are paddling. September's coming to the door, September mild and graceful; of smiles to heal the heart that's sore she always has a face full. She brings us sweet and restful days, and nights that soothe a fellow, as she comes down the woodland ways a-painting red and yellow. She soon will come with siren's pose, our heart-sick souls enmeshing, to hint of frosty and early snows and other things refreshing. September! When the summer's old, and man is roasted silly, he loves your whisperings of cold, your evenings gray and chilly. Old Summer, with its brassy skies, is falling now and dwindling; soon man may cease to sweat the flies, and lay in coal and kindling; soon again we'll dream our dreams before the grate and ember, while frost upon the pumpkin gleams — you promise this, September! Come, fairest month of all, come forth, your visit always please; bring us a message from the North, the home of ice cold breezes!

A cable from London announces the narrow escape of King George from an accident while motoring from Bolton Abbey in Yorkshire, to Abbeystead in Lancashire. An auto belonging to David Thornton, a merchant, turned the corner suddenly, and its chaffeur avoided collision only by running into a ditch, where the car upset. The King alighted, and on receiving assurance that no harm had been done, shook hands with Mr. Thornton, and proceeded on his journey.

Psoriasis Was Cured

Psoriasis is another name for chronic eczema. It is the worst form of this dreadful itching skin disease. Once eczema has reached this stage it is usually considered incurable.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Consecon, Ont. writes:—"I thought it my duty to tell you the great benefit I received from using Dr. Chase's Ointment. For five years I suffered with what three doctors called Psoriasis. I doctored with three different doctors, with no good results, and one of our noted doctors told me if any one offered to guarantee me a cure for $50.00 to keep my money in my pocket, as I could not be cured."

"The disease spread all over me even on my face and head. The itching and burning was hard to bear. At last my brother read in the paper about Dr. Chase's Ointment, as a healer. I used 8 boxes, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen."
