The Premier's Mission.

The Premier, we understand, left by express yesterday for Port aux Basques en route to New York and Washington. At the former place he will doubtless consult with the Newfoundland Trade Commissioner and determine just how matters are shaping themselves with regard to the acceptance by Congress of the Fordney Tariff Bill, which so seriously affects Newfoundland and Newfoundland products going into United States. We merely conjecture this, of course, but the real business of the Prime Minister, doubtless is of the nature named, along with some other insular affairs, which need adjustment. However the protective tariff recommended by the Fordney Committee, which is so palpably unjust to this country, seeing that our relations with the United States in trade commerce and shipping have been so amicable, is one upon which the Premier will have to bring all the power of his position, and the weight of influence carried by Newfoundland in the West Coast herring fishery, so long prosecuted by American vessels from New England ports. Then there is the great lever of our large purchases in United States. A retaliatory export duty on herring shipped from Newfoundland, a curtailment of our buyings in United States marts may have the effect of making U. S. statesmen and politicians see reason, and the Prime Minister would be justified in using every weapon in his possession to bring about a more equitable adjustment of a tariff that is discriminatory and harsh. No person could blame him if he threatened retaliation, or prohibition of the export of Newfoundland herring to United States even in bottoms of that country's registry. It is certain that he would have the support of the consumers in many states, who do not care to be compelled to pay five or six dollars extra for a barrel of herring because of the imposition of the increased duty. United States schooners have for many years been coming to West Coast ports at herring centres, buying from the fishermen, and then certifying on arrival at their ports of consignment that the herring are American caught. This practice probably prevails still, but it is one that could easily be prevented, and we commend it to the notice of the Government. Tariff wars can be fought to a finish as well as any other war, the victory usually being with the one country which has the goods demanded by the other. Newfoundland is not compelled to purchase wares and merchandise in United States markets, because she can buy them, equally as good, elsewhere. But United States fish dealers have to rely on Newfoundland for big supplies of herring at certain seasons of the year. Close that source of supply and it may be that our American neighbors may kick up such a dust with their Government as will force it to act reasonably. Then while at Washington conducting negotiations on this tariff question Sir Richard Squires might take up the matter of the sale of Newfoundland fish stored in Europe to the American Russian Relief Commission, the headquarters of that body being in the capital city of America. There are great possibilities in this, and there should not be any insuperable difficulties in the way of success. From many enquiries made recently we have learned that Russians are amongst the largest consumers of fish in the world, practically their whole requirements having to be imported. The Prime Minister has two very fine opportunities to show his ability as a statesman for the benefit of his country, and should he bring both to a favorable and fortunate issue, the Telegram will not be last in according a well merited tribute.

Police Court.

Mr. J. P. McCarthy, J.P., presided over the Police Court proceedings to-day, as Judge Morris is now on his annual vacation. Beyond the case reported in another column, there was nothing of great interest. A drunk was fined $1.00 or three days. A well-known character in police circles, was charged with being drunk and disorderly. He secured his release upon payment of $5.00. A drunk who had to receive a doctor's attention whilst in custody, had to pay a fee of $5. A notorious woman charged with being a loose and disorderly person, was sent down for 30 days.

Mills Working Full Blast

We learn that the paper mills at Grand Falls are now working full capacity in manufacturing paper, but there is very little or no outside work. Many men are there seeking employment, and it is useless for any one to go there expecting to get work. It is rumored that very few men will be employed in the woods this winter as the company has a two year supply of logs on hand.

The Wisteria in Port.

H.M.S. Wisteria, which arrived in port yesterday hauled to Shea & Co's wharf where she is taking supplies. The ship is commanded by Capt. Chapman, and is of the mine sweeper class. She has three false bows, and is armed with two pom poms 2 1/2 inch guns, and 4-3 pounders aft for saluting. The Wisteria is a sister ship of the Valerian and is in the same class as H.M.S. Lobella. The ship flew the Serbian flag at half-mast to-day as a mark of respect to the late King Peter of Serbia.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, Aug. 22. Some of our customers are high in praise of Kimolds, as an indigestion cure, and say that it gives them relief to which they were strangers before they began to use them. At any rate, if you are bothered with digestive troubles it is well worth while for you to secure a little bottle of these tablets as a trial. Of course, there can be no such thing as a universal medicine for dyspepsia, but we have heard of some very severe cases securing such prompt and effective relief in various forms of stomach troubles that we think it not out of place to recommend a trial of Kimolds in any case where they have not yet been used. Price 30c. a bottle.

Capt. Campbell's Recital

To-morrow night Capt. J. H. Campbell of Strathro, will give a recital at the Casino Theatre in aid of the Child Welfare Association. All those who have previously heard Capt. Campbell will no doubt appreciate the opportunity which is being afforded them to hear him again. It will also be a satisfaction to those who attend to know that they are helping a worthy cause.

Many Excursionists.

A large number of people took advantage of the fine day which was experienced yesterday, and went out by the excursion train to places along the line between St. John's and Kelligrews. At the last named place the number of excursionists was particularly large and the beaches were thronged throughout the day. Many people also went in for a sea bath, but did not find the water quite so warm as they expected.

On the Warpath.

A man was sentenced to 3 months in the penitentiary by Mr. McCarthy, J.P., in the Magistrate's Court this morning for a series of crimes, which included a double assault on two constables. The defendant, McCormack, was drunk at the time and was holding another febrile whom the police were trying to arrest. McCormack and a companion assaulted the two constables and forced them to let their prisoner get away. They managed, however to get their assailant and brought him to the police station. His companion will be taken into custody to-day.

Lord Morris Honored.

The Birmingham Post of July 9th has a lengthy article describing the entronement in St. Chad's Cathedral there of Rt. Rev. John McIntyre, as Archbishop of Birmingham in succession to Archbishop Isley, who had retired through weight of years. The account of the ceremony states that the canopy under the Archbishop as he moved up the nave of the church was borne aloft by Lord Morris, formerly of this city, Sir C. Wolsey, Sir Pierce Lacy, and Brig. General Pedley. We understand that the new Archbishop and Lord Morris are great friends, and that this honor was done the latter in consequence. Afterwards the Grand Hotel, and Lord Morris was one of the speakers on the occasion.

Many Laborers Laid Off.

This morning many of the laborers who work on the different mercantile premises found that they were not taken on. The men are inclined to think that it is a lockout on account of the wage dispute. On enquiry it has been stated that as all the old fish have been shipped, and that no new is in, there was nothing for the men to do, and the employers did not see the reasonableness of making work, considering the wages demanded. It is also said that much of the fish that was formerly handled in the city will now be shipped from the outports, the exporters finding that it can be handled much cheaper. One firm in the West End, which handled a large quantity of fish, has, it is said, taken a store at a port in Conception Bay from which they will ship their purchases to market.

The syndicate proposes to acquire a coal mine in this district and by a special process transform the coal into briquettes. It is expected that a plant will be built shortly and operations commenced.

BARGAIN TIME. One cannot but feel sad to see the summer fall swing and see some bargain hunters' shops of all their manifold variations the shop girls' smiling demagogue. One helps them more than another. It is the fact that the business. At all the firms to-day business through naturally when the frenzied rushes of the market have been provincial visitors. Bargain hunters have been seen perspiring, examining precious boxes into their cabs, while the shop purchasers looked on. There were endless people whose shoppers staggered beneath loads of goods. A number of male bargainers to be observed on every side. The women were in a queue as they moved about the bright sunshine, clad in their best, and they were taking part in the sale rather than in the quest of seeking so much for nothing, at least of the kind.
